Resources and Services for Faculty and Staff

August 2012

A Publication of the James P. Adams Library
Compiled & edited by Ellen Morais, Assistant to the Director in consultation with the Director & Staff of the Library
James P. Adams Library Mission Statement

The mission of the James P. Adams Library is to provide students and faculty with access to the sources of information, knowledge and services necessary to support and improve instruction and learning consistent with the objectives of the educational programs of Rhode Island College.

The library’s programs and services should: provide convenient and comprehensive access to the information and knowledge resources appropriate for the achievement of student scholarship and learning; offer instruction in the effective utilization of the library’s resources; acquire and organize materials according to appropriate local, national and professional standards and practices; and support faculty research by providing information and knowledge resources as well as access to the resources of other libraries.

The library should be committed to upholding the intellectual freedom of its users by building a collection of information and knowledge resources to express a diversity of views, and by ensuring the confidentiality of patron transactions.

The library building should offer a comfortable setting for study, scholarly inquiry, and the pursuit of intellectual curiosity. Facilities should be available to support access to the library and its materials by people with disabilities.

Service to the academic and scholarly communities of the state, the region, the nation, and the world should be maintained through cooperative arrangements that provide reciprocal benefits to the College as well.

August 2005
Dear Colleagues,

The James P. Adams Library staff and I are happy to welcome you to the library and its rich array of resources. We are striving to make the library a comfortable and welcoming place where learning and inspiration are the focus. The library’s resources are here for you and you can access them from everywhere. And our superb staff will continue to collaborate with you and assist you.

We are excited to share our ever-expanding resources with you. Please visit our website. We welcome your ideas to improve our services and our activities. Please stop by or email us! We would be happy to hear from you.

Hedi BenAicha
Director, James P. Adams library

Library Hours

The James P. Adams Library is centrally located on the RIC campus. We are generally open 80 hours per week during the spring and fall semesters but follow varying schedules throughout the academic year (fall semester through summer). Our hours of operation include special schedules during intersession periods (between semesters), spring recess, summer sessions, and during some holidays. We also follow an extended hours period beginning two weeks prior to final exams in the fall and spring semesters.

On the following page is a breakdown of the various schedules we follow. Library hours are posted at the library's main entrances and on our online calendar: www.ric.edu/adamslibrary/calendar. Please check the current hours when planning visits and/or activities.

In the event of emergencies or inclement weather requiring the closing of the building, announcements will be posted on the college and library web pages and voicemail messages on our main extensions 456-8126 and 456-9617. Please note that all public services (checkouts, photocopying, and reserves) cease 15 minutes prior to the closing of the building.

Intersession Periods & Spring Recess

There are three intersession periods throughout the academic year and one week of spring recess:

Intersession I (winter) — beginning after final exams at the end of the fall semester through the start of the spring semester.

Intersession II (spring) — beginning after final exams at the end of the spring semester through the start of summer session I.

Intersession III (summer) — beginning after final exams at the end of summer session II through the start of fall semester

Spring Recess — one week recess after midterms during the spring semester.

Library Web Page

The library web page, http://www.ric.edu/adamslibrary, is your information portal to all we have to offer. Not only is our re-designed site more intuitive and user friendly, it provides access to the latest news about events, new resources, hours, and access to all our databases. You’ll find a wealth of information including the Blackboard portal, Digital Commons, LibAnswers, LibGuides and the library catalog. Using the tabbed search boxes you can search for books, e-books, articles, journals, reserves and more. You can also watch a brief tutorial on navigating the web page here: http://youtu.be/dTAN2XnP84U. The library hosts an array of interesting lectures, seminars, and talks throughout the academic year. Please explore the web page often, check out our newsletter, From the Steps of Adams Library, to find out the latest news and be sure to send us your feedback!

Library Catalog

Rhode Island College is a member of the Higher Education Library Information Network, or HELIN. When you search the library catalog from our home page you are searching HELIN, the shared catalog of eleven academic libraries and twelve hospital libraries (see sidebar). The catalog contains all the holdings of HELIN member libraries, about 9 million books, periodicals, media, and other resources! Search only holdings at RIC or all member libraries. Most of the books and media materials can also be requested through the catalog and a delivery service will then bring the materials to the HELIN library of your choice in 2-3 business days. You will be notified by email when your materials are ready for pick up.

RIC ID Card = Library Card

Your Rhode Island College ID card serves as your library card and is valid for use throughout the HELIN Library Consortium. Pick up your ID Card at the Campus Card office on the main level of the Student Union. Once obtained, you must activate your card for library use which will allow you to use it as your library card and grant you access to all library services and online resources. Activation can be done in person at the Circulation desk, over the phone by calling 401-456-9617, or via our online form (see the Activate Your Library Account link on our home page). Please note that activation via the online form will take 1-3 business days. Once your card has been activated you will receive an email indicating that your card is ready for use. Your library account is updated yearly and must be in good standing to allow you access to most library services including: borrowing materials, accessing online resources, obtaining CRIARL cards, and interlibrary loans. RIC is a public state institution. All citizens of the State of RI are entitled to basic borrowing privileges with a four-week loan period by obtaining a Special Borrower's card from the Circulation desk. Other professionals from the Providence metropolitan area are also entitled.

Academic Library Members
- Brown University
- Bryant University
- Community College of RI
- Dominican House of Studies
- Johnson & Wales University
- Providence College
- Rhode Island College
- Roger Williams University
- Salve Regina University
- University of Rhode Island
- Wheaton College

Hospital Library Members
- Butler Hospital
- Kent Hospital
- Landmark Medical Center
- Miriam Hospital
- Memorial Hospital of RI
- Newport Hospital
- RI Hospital
- Roger Williams Medical Ctr.
- South County Hospital
- St. Joseph Health Services of RI
- Women & Infants Hospital
- VA Medical Center

*The hospital libraries are members of the Association of Rhode Island Health Sciences Libraries (ARIHSL)

Use your RIC ID card for:
- In-person borrowing from any HELIN library
- Checking out laptops in the library
- Requesting materials from most HELIN libraries online
- Accessing most of the Library’s online resources from off campus
- Requesting interlibrary loans
Finding Information

Reference and Research Support

Have a question about our resources or services? Our reference librarians are ready to assist you and your students with your research needs by phone, text, email, our LibAnswers virtual reference portal or in person. They can even help you locate materials not held by Adams Library.

LibAnswers

Use the Ask Us button on our web page to submit a question. We will send you a reply via email or text. You can also search our FAQ database.

Getting Started

The Library subscribes to nearly 70 electronic databases on a wide variety of subjects. These contain articles from magazines and scholarly journals, streaming media, and E-books. A list of frequently used online resources is available (http://ric.libguides.com/getstarted). Complete lists are also available alphabetically (http://ric.libguides.com/a-z) and by subject (http://ric.libguides.com/subjects) from the library’s homepage. Most databases are available from on and off campus with your activated RIC ID card. In addition to electronic databases and journals, the library also subscribes to a variety of print academic journals that are available for in-library use.

Library Instruction

You can collaborate with one of our reference librarians to conduct course-specific library instruction classes focused on basic library skills, using resources and evaluating information. The more notice given, the more courses can be tailored to suit students’ specific needs. Most library instruction sessions are held in the Library Instruction Facility (LIF) which is located on the main level (3). Occasionally, one of our librarians may also come to your classroom and conduct the session there. For more information contact the Reference desk.
LibGuides

LibGuides are online multimedia guides on specific topics designed to share knowledge and information, promote library resources and provide links to additional web sources. Guides are created by librarians, library staff, or RIC faculty and contain links to library materials including books, journals, media, as well as web links, youtube videos and other information sources relevant to the topic. Follow the LibGuides link on our home page to access over 200 guides (and growing) that provide information on our library collections and services, lecture series, exhibits as well as guides that offer advice on topics important to students such as copyright, citing sources, and academic integrity. Libguides can be keyword searched, sorted by author, subject category, or browsed by featured, popular and recently published guides. You are invited to collaborate with librarians to create additional guides for your courses or to suggest new topics. Contact your department’s liaison (see Collection Developments) for more information.

Interlibrary Loan

Need something that’s not available through our catalog? Books, CDs, DVDs, journals and articles from libraries located around the world can be requested through our Interlibrary Loan service. Requests are handled on a first-come first-served basis. Deadlines should be discussed with the Document Delivery Supervisor prior to submitting your request. This aids in determining what accommodations might be possible. To request materials, first check the catalog to determine if the item is already available at Adams Library or through HELIN then use the online request forms located on our web page (http://ric.libguides.com/content.php?pid=175954&sid=1486087) to make the request. Requested materials will typically be available for pick-up within 10 days to 2 weeks. You will be notified by email when your materials are ready for pick up at the Circulation Desk. For more information view the Access Services Libguide (see tabs Requesting Books/DVDs or Requesting Articles).
Course Reserves

Materials required for use in your courses can be placed on hold with limited circulation at the Reserve Desk. You can specify the duration of the loan period, generally 3 hours to 7 days, at the time of making your request. These materials are identified in the HELIN catalog by the location code, “RIC Reserves.”

Materials submitted two weeks in advance of the start of the semester are guaranteed to be available on the 1st day of classes.

Materials may also be submitted during the semester; however, these will be processed on a first-come first-served basis. Materials not owned by the library may be requested for purchase for placement on Reserve, but considerable lead time is required to do so. Overdue fines for items “on reserve” is $0.25 per hour.

Videos/DVDs placed on course reserve are covered by the same loan policies as above, with the exception that they can be checked out of the library for in classroom use. Video/DVD checkouts for classroom use can be made using the Course Reserve Request Form and will then be available for you to pick-up at the Reserve desk on the viewing date(s) specified in your request.

Electronic Reserves (E-Reserves)

With E-reserves students can access your course materials from on or off-campus 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Students will need to use their activated ID Cards to log in.

Our staff are capable of scanning single-sided personal copies of material you provide. These personal copies will be returned to you once made available via E-reserves or if you already have copies of the material, you can drop them off at the Reserve desk, send them via campus mail, or email articles in PDF format to the Reserve Desk Supervisor. Book chapters and journal articles from library books and bound periodicals can be scanned by Reserve staff. In addition, electronic journal articles, e-books, streaming video or music that the library subscribes to can be linked to your course reserve list. Just supply us with a citation and we will do the rest. You may also request digitized film clips from library owned DVDs and videos for inclusion on course reserve lists. Digitized clips for commentary and criticism are permissible under copyright law and must be accessible via closed course sites in Blackboard. Course reserve lists can also be linked to your Blackboard courses by using the “Adding a URL Link” function in Blackboard. More detailed information on these services can be found on our web page or contact us for help.

Curriculum Resources Center (CRC)

The Curriculum Resources Center, located on Level 4, offers a circulating collection of curriculum guides and instructional materials for all K-12 subject areas. The CRC houses a wide variety of resources, such as activity guides, lesson plans, textbooks, and reference sources for teachers, in an equally wide array of formats. In addition to printed materials, the collection includes multimedia kits, computer-based programs, videos, sound recordings, visual aids, and more. These materials are available to students, faculty, and in-service teachers for evaluation, review, and classroom use. Please check our Lib-Guide for more information about the CRC.

DigitalCommons@RIC (DC)

A web-based portal designed to collect, preserve and provide access to scholarship by Rhode Island College students, staff, and faculty. DC was the library’s first venture into digitization and continues to grow. It is a valuable resource that creates access to collections that may not have been easily accessible in the past. Included within DC are digitized versions of College archives; departmental documents, such as the Library Newsletter; the honors projects, master’s theses, advanced certificates and doctoral dissertations created by RIC students; and selected research works by RIC faculty (see Selected Works). DC is also providing a showcase for some of our Special Collections. This is a huge step forward since Special Collections materials are limited to in-library use. We invite and encourage you to submit your scholarly and other documents for long-term preservation and electronic access. For more information, contact the Digital Initiatives librarian.
Selected Works (SW)

A module maintained by Digital Commons, Selected Works builds web pages for faculty in an integrated and easily accessible manner. The web page which houses articles, book reviews, books and other media also includes your photograph and links to your profile information and Curriculum vitae. The main page includes your brief bio statement. The library encourages you to build your own profile page and to spread the spirit of scholarship on campus. Detailed statistics are managed by SW and there is also the opportunity to increase readership of faculty scholarship by creating a mailing list for past and present publications. For more information about selected works, please contact the Digital Initiatives librarian.

Rhode Island College Student Projects, Theses & Dissertations

Adams Library is proud of the honor’s projects, master’s theses, advanced certificate projects, and doctoral dissertations that our students create and is pleased to catalog and include these works in our collections. Advisors should direct students to submit both paper and an electronic version to the library. Paper copies are bound and electronic versions are added to Digital Commons. The library’s intention is to make all students’ academic work accessible and easily discoverable online. More information can be found on our website.

Government Publications

Adams Library is the 3rd largest depository in the state, housing both federal and state documents. We acquire publications from most federal and state agencies, and coordinate with approximately 10-12 other federal depository libraries to ensure that the State of RI has a complete collection. These government documents are available in a variety of formats, including PDF, web-based documents, CDs, DVDs, and printed materials most of which can be checked out from the library. Please visit our website for more information on Government Publications.
Media Collections

The library continues to build a media collection in support of curricular needs. Our collection consists of VHS tapes, DVDs, CDs and some streaming media.* CDs & DVDs are located in the Browsing area on level 3. We urge you to browse our collections. DVDs can also be browsed by title from the DVD Collection LibGuide. CD, DVD, LP and VHS players are located by the Reserve desk for use with media placed on course reserve. See Streaming Media on p. 18 for more information about this collection.

McNaughton Browsing Collection

The library rents a rotating collection of 800 popular fiction and non-fiction titles through a subscription service which allows us to offer a variety of bestsellers that might not otherwise be purchased for our collections. These books are available for your perusal in the McNaughton Browsing Collection which is located on the main level. At the end of the rental period a librarian evaluates the content and usage of the titles and some are added to the main collection at a substantial savings to the College; the rest are returned to the McNaughton subscription service and traded for new titles. Because these books are rented and not purchased they are not available for renewal. Stop by and find something interesting to read!

New Books

The library selects materials for purchase based on the principle of providing support to the academic programs offered at Rhode Island College (see Collection Development). For quick and convenient access, our most recent book acquisitions are featured in the New Books section in the main lobby (level 3) for a limited period of time before being integrated into our permanent collections.
Periodicals

With over 40,000 titles through print and electronic subscriptions, full-text databases, and open access sources. The Library also maintains “Check the library” links in major databases, which enable direct access from citations to articles available in electronic format. Print journals do not circulate. It is possible to generate a list of print and electronic journals in a discipline area by using the Periodical List page and selecting a subject category. This same page will allow you to look up periodicals by title to determine their availability. For more information, please contact the E-Resources and Serials Librarian who can also provide assistance in creating customized lists.

Special Collections

Located on level 4 and home of the College archives, Special Collections also houses rare books and a variety of personal papers, manuscript and subject collections. Holdings include old and rare materials on Rhode Island-related history, ethnic groups in Rhode Island, socio-political publications and education. Faculty, staff and alumni publications are also displayed in the lobby on the main level. Use of the materials in Special Collections is limited to the Martha Bacon-Ronald Ballinger Reading Room; however, you may contact the Special Collections Librarian for more information or visit our LibGuide.

Online Resources (E-Resources)

Adams Library currently subscribes to many electronic information databases on a wide variety of subjects. Access to these databases is through the Library’s home page, where they are listed alphabetically and by subject. Please note: you must have an activated Campus ID Card to access these databases from off campus. To access from off-campus click on the off campus link at the top of the listing and log in using your ID card. Below is a select list of some of our newest and most valuable resources.

Some databases are not accessible from off campus.
ARTstor
A digital library of nearly one million images in the areas of art, architecture, the humanities, and social sciences with a set of tools for viewing, presenting, and managing images for research and pedagogical purposes. For information on accessing and using ARTstor, please see the LibGuide on this topic.

CREDOReference
CREDOReference brings you easy access to trusted content from over 70 of the world's leading academic publishers (including ABCCLIO, Cambridge University Press, Elsevier Science, Routledge, and Wiley) and over 460 reference sources. It offers seamless linking to other valuable and trusted information sources to speed your research, and offers you powerful tools that help answer questions or find the perfect paper topic.

E-book Collections
The Library is pleased to bring you access to our extensive e-books collection with thousands of titles from leading academic and professional publishers. You can browse, view documents and in most cases, print up to 60 pages or a chapter.* They may be accessed individually via links from the HELIN catalog from on and off campus 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Search the e-book databases below by topic to find an e-book on that subject. Concentrations include all the disciplines being taught at Rhode Island College. More information on these collections and other e-books the library has purchased is available in the Electronic Books Lib-Guide.

*Copyright guidelines apply; printing more than 10%-15% of any book, online or print, is a copyright violation.

Digitalia is a database of e-books and e-journals in the Spanish Language. RIC has subscribed to the social sciences and humanities collections in Digitalia.

ebrary is a collection of over 50,000 online full text books and other texts in a variety of subject areas. Ebrary allows for unlimited simultaneous users and therefore is a particularly convenient source for online class assignments.

EBSCO eBook Collection includes over 8,000 e-books purchased by the library under the former name, NetLibrary.
Humanities E-book Project from the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) is a searchable online collection of over 3,300 books in the humanities. The books included have been recommended by scholars as significant contributions to their respective fields.

STAT!Ref (Electronic Nursing Library) is a web-based platform that aggregates health sciences books (textbooks, handbooks, etc.), enabling cross searching of e-books as well as giving access to the full-text of the books through their tables of contents. RIC’s collection includes selected Nursing e-books, MedCalc 3000, and Stedman's Medical Dictionary Online.

UPCC 2012 E-books (Project Muse) The book collection offers thousands of peer-reviewed digital books from over 65 major university presses. The Library has purchased books in Global Cultural Studies and History.

Streaming Media
The Library subscribes to a number of streaming media databases in support of curricular needs. Below is a listing of our streaming media collections.

Counseling and Therapy in Video provides the largest and richest online collection of video available for the study of social work, psychotherapy, psychology, and psychiatric counseling.

Dance in Video contains early 500 hours of dance productions and documentaries by the most influential performers and companies of the 20th century. Selections cover ballet, tap, jazz, contemporary, experimental, and improvisational dance, as well as forerunners of the forms and the pioneers of modern concert dance.

DRAM is a scholarly resource of recordings, including CD quality audio, liner notes and essays from New World, Composers Recordings (formerly Composers Recordings, Inc./CRI) and other important labels.
Films on Demand: Business & Economics collection includes hundreds of videos in business education, business technology, economics, ethics and business law, finance, accounting and taxation, management, and marketing.

Music Online: Listening is a comprehensive resource of streaming music. All databases can be searched at once, or users can access American Song, Classical Musical Library, Contemporary World Music, Jazz Music Library, and Smithsonian Global Sound for Libraries individually.

Opera in Video contains nearly 500 hours of the most important opera performances, captured on video through staged productions, interviews, and documentaries. Selections represent the world’s best performers, conductors, and opera houses and are based on a work’s importance to the operatic canon.

JoVE (Journal of Visualized Experiments) a scientific video journal of peer reviewed, PubMed-indexed journal devoted to the publication of biological, medical, chemical and physical research in a video format. RIC subscribes to the “general” section.
Collection Development

Library Liaisons are assigned to all academic departments, and are responsible for identifying materials to add to our collections. These “selectors” use an array of tools to aid them in making purchase decisions. Faculty members are encouraged to contact their departmental liaison to recommend acquisitions that support their students’ needs. A list of library liaisons is below and on our web page. To ensure curricular relevance and currency, liaisons periodically remove material and place them for your review on the Weeding Review Shelves on the 2nd floor. Departments are notified via email when this happens. A 30 day review period is allowed for these materials before they are permanently removed from the collection. Weeding is an ongoing project which we encourage you to actively participate in. You may contact your department’s liaison for information on this project.

Purchase Requests The library encourages you to contact us with requests for new library materials that support the College’s curriculum and programs. Requests can be submitted online via the Library Order Request Form available from our homepage. Faculty should keep in mind that it is especially important to consult with a library liaison when ordering material in support of a new course or a course for which they are newly responsible to determine the available materials and formats. If the request is for a reference item or online resource, it can be submitted directly to the Collection Development Coordinator.
Donations & Gifts

Adams Library is dedicated to providing students and faculty with the information and services necessary to support instruction and learning at Rhode Island College. Gifts, therefore help to support the Library’s mission and make it possible for us to continue to provide the highest level of excellence in the collections and services we offer to the Rhode Island College community. There are many ways to give to the library:

- Donate new and used books or materials. Donations can be left at the bin in the library’s lobby on the 3rd floor or by contacting the Acquisitions and Gifts office. Donations of this type are gratefully appreciated and will be added to the collection, sold in the library book sale, or donated to other non-profit groups.

- Support the library by buying books at our book sales. Books for sale are located behind the new book shelf on the third floor. This is an ongoing sale that is replenished as necessary. In addition, the library holds a large annual book sale with many bargains to be found!

- Join the Friends of the Library. The Friends’ organization sponsors author lectures, visits significant local libraries and museums, arranges library receptions and book sales, and makes substantial donations for the purchase of books and other items needed by the library.

- Support the purchase of important journals by “adopting” a journal. Adopted journals contain a note in the online catalog honoring the donor.

- In kind donations can be made to the library’s capital fund. You may donate funds in honor or memory of a friend, relative, alumnus, faculty member, or graduating student.

The library welcomes all gifts, large or small. For more information on how you can donate, visit our LibGuide. To donate books and other materials contact the Library Gifts Coordinator; for other gifts, you may contact the Library Director’s office.
General Library Information

Borrowing and Loan Periods (Adams Library)
You must present your Campus ID Card when borrowing materials from the library. Undergraduates and Special Borrowers are guaranteed a 28 day loan period for most items. The loan period for faculty/staff, graduate assistants, and graduate doctoral students is 120 days (4 months). Exceptions are listed in the sidebar. After the first 28 days, materials are subject to recall if requested by a faculty member for placement on Course Reserves or requested by another library user. The loan period for materials on Course Reserve is determined by the faculty member who establishes the course with staff at the Reserve Desk. Borrowed materials may be renewed online through the HELIN catalog, by phone (456-9617 or 456-8126), or in person. Materials will not be renewed if needed for placement on Course Reserves or if they have been requested by other library patrons.

Borrowing from Brown University Libraries (InRhode)
InRhode is the library catalog shared by HELIN Libraries and the Josiah Catalog of Brown University. By using InRhode, you can request books from the Brown Libraries. A delivery service will bring the requested materials to the HELIN library of your choice in 2-3 business days. You will be notified by email, when requested materials have arrived at the Circulation Desk. Your activated library card will also grant you on-site borrowing and walk-in access at Brown University Libraries. CRIARL cards for patrons walking into Brown are no longer necessary; however, they are still available for the other CRIARL member libraries who are not members of HELIN (see next).

Borrowing from CRIARL Libraries
Rhode Island College is also a member of the Consortium of Rhode Island Academic and Research Libraries (CRIARL). A CRIARL card grants walk-in access to all CRIARL member libraries and borrowing privileges at most. All Rhode Island College faculty (including Emeriti) and professional staff on continuing appointment are eligible for a CRIARL card providing that their library accounts are active and in good standing.
CRIARL cards are issued and renewed at the Circulation Desk and are generally renewable on a yearly basis from the date of issue.

CRIARL cards grant access to:
- All college and university libraries in Rhode Island
- Providence Public Library
- Rhode Island Historical Society
- Rhode Island State Library

The following groups may be issued CRIARL cards with restrictions:

- Adjunct faculty members are eligible for a CRIARL card that will be issued for the current semester only.
- Currently-enrolled graduate students may be issued CRIARL cards in cases where the resources available to them in Adams Library are not sufficient for their research needs. A reference interview must first be conducted and issuance of the card will be at the discretion of the Library Director and will be for the current semester only.

All borrowing privileges are subject to the rules of the lending library. This policy is in full accordance with the stipulations of the CRIARL Card Program.

Laptops, Public Computers and Wireless Network

The library is equipped with a wireless network. Bring in your laptop to connect or borrow one of ours! Students with library activated ID cards can check out one of our 40 laptops for in-library use periods of 3-hours. They can be renewed for an additional 3-hours as long as there is not a waiting list and must be returned to the Reserve desk one hour prior to closing. We also have two faculty laptops which can be checked out for outside use (up to two days). All library laptops are equipped with Microsoft Office and may be used to access our electronic databases. You will need to complete a Laptop Agreement form at the time of check out.

We have 37 public computers available throughout the library (including two Macintosh computers). All public computers are configured for easy connection to our databases (no log-in necessary) and all are equipped with Microsoft Office. We also have a Bloomberg station in the Reference Reading area.
Printing and Photocopying

The cost for black and white printing and copying in the library is $0.05 per page. Color copies are $0.50 per page or $1.00 for 11x17. Students can use campus points on their RIC ID cards or purchase a print/copy card for $1 at the card dispenser in the photocopy area. Value can be added to ID cards or to a print/copy card in increments of $1, $5, $10 or $20. Change is available at the Circulation Desk.

Printing

You can print from all our public computers and laptops. Print jobs can be picked up at the printer near the reference desk.

Photocopying

There are four copy machines near the Reference Desk and a new color copy machine in the Reserves Reading area. All machines are loaded with 8½” by 11” and 8½” x 14” paper. The color copier is also capable of printing on 11x17.

Microfiche Scanner

The library has a new microfiche/microfilm scanner and reader. Equipped with a 24” wide-screen monitor, and application presets for ease of use with the following media: 16 and 35mm film, negative fiche, newspaper fiche, and positive fiche. There are zoom and adjustment controls for selecting and snipping portions of the page as well as coloration controls. You can scan to PDF, save on a USB, send via email, or scan-to-print to the library’s print release station.

Meeting and Study Spaces

The library is here for our students, faculty and staff and we delight in your presence whether using our resources and services, conducting research, working in groups or alone, or using our facilities to hold lectures, meetings or conferences. To better meet academic needs we have designated separate spaces for group and silent study.

Meeting Spaces:

Fortes Room is the library’s sole conference room and is available for reservation through the Events Management System (EMS). The Fortes Room is located on the 4th floor, room 409 and is equipped with wireless and Ethernet connections to the internet and the same computer and audio visual equipment available as any campus e-classroom. This conference room also has conference call capability though the conference phone must be requested through AV at the time of making your room request. The room can be set up in various arrangements to suit most needs including lecture, reception and meeting. Consult the libguide for more information on making a reservation.

Reinhardt Room is a lounge area located on the main level (3), room 301. Use of this space is restricted to special events and requires special permission from the Library Director.

Curriculum Resources Center—The open area of the CRC located on the 4th floor is available for classes using materials from the CRC. Contact Carla Weiss x8145 or cweiss@ric.edu for more information.

Library Instruction Facility see Library Instruction, page 10

Study Spaces

Group study spaces are scattered throughout the building but particularly in these areas:

Main Level: the Reinhardt Room (301), Media Listening & Viewing area (Reserves area), the Browsing area and by various windows. Other Levels: the new Student Group Study Room (406), and on levels 1 and 1A.

To accommodate those who prefer to work without distraction, level 2 has been designated as a Silent Study zone. Individual study carrels are scattered throughout this level for your convenience.
Vending Machines and Food in the Library

At the request of students we have added three vending machines which offer a variety of snacks, juices, water, soda, coffee, tea, cappuccino and espresso. The machines are located on the main level in the Reserves Media Listening & Viewing area. For your convenience, we do not currently restrict food and drink in the library except in designated areas. In order to maintain this open food policy we ask that you help keep our building clean by disposing of trash in the appropriate locations; and we thank you for your consideration of others.

Library News and Events

The best way to stay current with what’s happening at Adams Library is through our website which is updated frequently. Another great way to know what’s going on is through our newsletter where we feature new products and services, showcase our collaborative efforts and announce our events, lectures, and exhibits. Generally released once per semester, there is something for everyone—even book reviews! If you are involved in an interesting project and would like to be a part of our fall or spring lecture series, contact the Director’s office. Also contact the Director’s office to submit book reviews for consideration in our newsletter, From the Steps of Adams Library. Please visit our website often, check out our newsletter, and send us your feedback. We are here for you!
