Dear Alumni:

It is with great enthusiasm that we look forward to Alumni Night on Thursday, March 1, 1962, at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre. On that evening, the speaking program will consist of alumni members from various professions. The theme is “Rhode Island College Alumni—Our Contribution to the Community”. Each speaker will talk briefly about his own profession. The coffee hour will be a wonderful time to renew acquaintances with former classmates and with the faculty.

Most sincere thanks to all who helped to make our annual bridge such a wonderful success. I am most grateful to Miss Ethel Murphy and her grand committee for their untiring efforts. To Mr. Everett Maxwell and Mr. Cap ASMery many thanks for their continued efforts in promoting alumni interests in the sports program of the college.

As a new year begins, I would like to take this opportunity to wish you and yours a most happy and prosperous year and one of continued peace.

Most sincerely,
Peggy Bresnahan
Alumni President

The cover picture shows Dr. Renato E. Leonelli, Professor of Science Education, conducting a curriculum workshop, held by the College during 1961 in cooperation with the Department of Education. The teachers worked out a recommended curriculum for elementary grade science instruction.
Higher Horizons, the bootstraps operation by which the City of New York has set out to raise the educational potential of its underprivileged citizens, has special meaning for Rhode Island College because of the involvement of Francis X. Fallon '38 as Music Coordinator for the program. The New York City program grew out of the "Demonstration Guidance Project" which aimed "to discover, identify and stimulate academically able students from less privileged groups", for guidance toward higher education. The more general Higher Horizons program began in 1956 and is now in effect in thirty junior high schools and thirty-one elementary schools, covering approximately 12,500 pupils.

This tremendous effort on the part of the city was begun because the Board of Education believed that "unless a program was developed to overcome the stifling of educational motivation in children from families involved in economic struggles and without educational tradition, the ratio of children from such homes attending college would remain appallingly low." It was believed that because these youngsters had to leave school at an early age to help the financial situation at home they would be "depressed vocationally and academically for the rest of their lives." The machinery was set in motion to salvage all possible students who were capable of, and adaptable to, further education. The problems to be overcome first were eight in number: (1) identifying the college-able students who heretofore were not identified, (2) stimulating the college-able students who were not thinking of college, (3) creating the aspiration of a college education in the minds of students, (4) educating the community and the parents to accept the worthwhileness of a college education, (5) planning a teacher-training program and getting the wholehearted cooperation of the faculty, (6) guiding the pupils and their parents through an extensive and intensive group and individual guidance program, (7) providing remedial work in order to bring the pupils up to and beyond grade level, and (8) raising the cultural level of the pupils and the community.

An elaborate and extensive guidance program was instituted to identify the children to be a part of this "Project 43". Although the regular course of study was followed, greater stress was placed on careers and career planning. An attempt was made to raise the cultural level of the children by following a program that would enable them to "enjoy good music, stimulate wide reading, love good theater, and recognize and know fine art". Special daytime meetings were held to acquaint the parents with the goals of the project and social workers visited the homes of those who could not attend.

As a result of the success of the Demonstration Guidance Project, the new program, operating under the title of "Higher Horizons" went into effect. Unlike the Demonstration Guidance Project, which because of its college admission orientation, began intensive work with the upper 50% of the pupils in junior high schools, the "Higher Horizons" program aims to raise the educational and vocational sights of all students, bright, average and slow, so that each can reach his optimum potential. As in the Demonstration Guidance Project, there is provision for additional services for guidance, teacher training, remedial instruction, and cultural enrichment. The schools involved are generally located in less privileged areas where many children come from culturally deprived homes.

It is in this cultural capacity that Frank Fallon performs his work, operating under the title of Music Coordinator, Higher Horizons Program, District 50. His has been the monumental task of organizing and instructing students, 98% of whom had never had musical training, so that they might, to cite one example, perform with the perfection they displayed when participating in New York's elaborate Saint Patrick's Day parade. The total number of students involved in his program exceeds 265, beginning in the fourth grade and working up to junior high schools. He makes use of a group method of instruction originated at the University of Wisconsin and Teachers' College, Columbia University. The instruments, supplied by the Board of Education are taken home for practice by the pupils. Frank Fallon can play violin, flute, saxophone, clarinet, trumpet, trombone, drums and accordion, and has a working knowledge of other instruments so he can meet the varied needs of his students.

An enthusiastic reception has been accorded this musical portion of the "Higher Horizons" program. Combined band and glee club concerts have been presented to both the public and to other schools. Each May the culmination of the year's efforts is a Spring Music Fest-
I. R.
to make allowances for each tries
MIDDLETOWN, II. MIDDLETOWN PROJECT

Meanwhile, in the belief that a sound curriculum The Middletown project proposed to provide maxi­“Every good school William R. Loughery ’30 is principal of the new mu­mality in depth" for the talented, stressing flexibility mum accommodation for individual needs by using each

Close by the Fallons’ home is the parish and school of St. Gregory's. During his free time, Mr. Fallon, with his inimitable charm and contagious enthusiasm, interested the nuns in his band work. He began by instructing a small group of nuns who used the knowledge gained from his instruction to teach their children, and the re­result now is one school with three bands! One group consists of the starters, a second of the sixth and seventh graders, and the last, which Mr. Fallon terms the “cream”, is a concert band.

There is no end to Frank Fallon’s vitality, his un­sselfishness, or his humility. But “I do nothing,” he says, “compared to the wonderful work Mrs. Fallon is doing.”

Margaret Casserly Fallon, also a member of the class of ’38, serves as coordinator of guidance in the borough of Queens, New York. There are five such coordinators in New York City, all selected on a competitive basis as a result of examinations. Previous to her present professional duties, Mrs. Fallon was assistant principal at the Benjamin Cardoza Junior High School, and subsequently district guidance coordinator and consultant to thirty-six schools. In her present capacity, she is associated with the Bureau of Educational and Vocational Guidance, and her duties include the coordinating of guidance at all school levels, acting as a liaison between school and community agencies, providing professional supervision for guidance counselors and performing any studies in guidance desired by her superintendent. For anyone but Margaret Casserly Fallon this would be a formidable task. She remarks, “There is nothing you can say about me . . . Frank is doing the really wonderful work.”

Both Fallons display tremendous enthusiasm and almost missionary zeal in everything they do and feel. Their constancy and deliberate perseverance have resulted in two types of effective service, both educational, both dealing with more than actual transfer of knowl­edge, and both extremely rewarding in every aesthetic and professional sense. Those who remember Margaret Casserly presiding graciously and efficiently at class meet­ings and Frank Fallon vigorously leading his class to rousing victories in the annual Song Contests would ex­pect as much!

II. MIDDLETOWN PROJECT

MIDDLETOWN, R. I.

William R. Loughery ’30 is principal of the new Middletown Secondary School, administering the first year of the bold new “Middletown Plan” that was drawn up by the School staff participating in a cooperative project of the school department and Rhode Island College.

“Every good school tries to make allowances for each student as an individual,” Principal Loughery explains. “In Middletown a part of our school population is transient because of the naval base nearby, and suiting the curriculum to the individual student becomes a necessity.”

The forward-looking school committee of Middle­town, in planning the building of the first secondary school structure for the town, recognized the need and the opportunity to set up a sound, practical curriculum. Superintendent Joseph H. Gaudet, a prime mover in the dynamic plan, secured the authority of the committee to seek the services of Rhode Island College and the sup­port of the Ford Foundation, and to draw up plans for the school. The Fund for the Advancement of Education made $20,000 available in partial support of the project and Dr. Sidney P. Rollins, Professor of Educa­tion at Rhode Island College, was named director of the Study. The staff of the school was recruited, and in January 1960, the entire group went to work on a six­year curriculum tailored to the specific needs of the Middletown school population. Participants received stipends for their services and could earn graduate credits at Rhode Island College for work done at the College in the course of the study.

Meanwhile, in the belief that a sound curriculum must be based on a clear and accurate statement of pur­pose, the school committee held a series of public meet­ings to gather citizen opinion, and then directed a select committee, headed by Superintendent Gaudet and Dr. Rollins, to draft a succinct statement of purposes. The introduction to the resultant statement reads in part “In the exercise of the duties of the school committee, and in the spirit of the Constitution of the State of Rhode Island “ . . . the diffusion of knowledge and virtue and the adoption of all means necessary and proper to secure to the people the advantages and opportunities of edu­cation . . . ” are the goals toward which the Middletown Public Schools shall strive,” and, later, “ . . . The de­velopment of the individual to the limits of his capacity — for self-realization and contribution to society — is the major purpose of education in a free society, . . . ”

The Middletown project proposed to provide maxi­mum accommodation for individual needs by using each staff member to its greatest advantage, striving for “mastery in depth” for the talented, stressing flexibility in scheduling, and working toward better articulation of subject matter. The project staff met continuously in Middletown and/or at Rhode Island College from January 1960 to September 1961, and conferred with more than twenty consultants from all over the country. With no commitments to deter them, and the full confidence of the school committee, the teachers “had a ball”! Pet theories became proposals, professional daydreams be­came possibilities, deep feelings found expression in sug-
Probably the most important value which participants in The Middletown Project derived, and that which will be most significant in days to come, is this ... the administration and staff of the new Middletown Six-Year Secondary School have learned about change; they have lived with it for almost two years; they have been conditioned to investigate multi-faceted problems with a high degree of objectivity. A climate has been developed by the staff members themselves in which change is considered a potential ally, not a threatening enemy. Only in such a climate can true progress be made. The administration and staff of the Middletown Six-Year Secondary School have already made a unique contribution to public secondary education in America ... their attitudes, their knowledge, and their energy presage additional contributions.

Excerpt from

Middletown Report, 1961

Dr. Sidney P. Rollins

gestions for practice. “You can’t imagine how wonderful”, exclaimed one member of the staff, “after years of talking about what should be done, to be able to do the things you’ve talked about!”

When the study started Bill Loughery was at Rogers High School as head guidance counsellor and assistant principal. Although he was already committed to the Middletown post, he served as acting principal of Rogers in the fall of 1960 until the new year got underway. He then resigned to devote his time to working with the Middletown project. A latecomer to the study, he enthusiastically concurred in its philosophy and proceeded to set up administration procedures to implement the evolving program and to prepare the new school building for use.

“The job of administration”, according to Loughery, “comes down to a willingness to make decisions, to choose the one most likely course of action from several possibilities and to stick to it. A good administrator must act. He must be willing to be wrong, if necessary, but he must be positive.”

The most striking of the several new ideas incorporated into the Plan are the time schedule and the organization of subjects into sequential units, so that students can be grouped according to their achievement in each area.

By using a unique time schedule, Middletown provides a varied pattern of time blocks to allow teachers to provide better student experiences. Except for some difficulty in adjusting to their new-found freedom the teachers find the new schedule a challenge full of possibilities.

The placement of students by sequential units is still too new to measure. The administration is now in the process of explaining it to groups of parents who will soon be receiving a unique report card that is actually a profile of the student’s current achievement. Parents are receptive and enthusiastic, the principal finds.

Rarely has the staff of a school had the opportunity to exercise the professional training and ideas of its members in creating an entirely new approach to educational objectives. Daring and provocative in intent, modified by common sense, experience, and research, the resultant Plan is, in the words of Project Director Rollins “unique in this country”. Dr. Rollins considers the Middletown school to be “one of the most advanced secondary schools in the country”.

Principal Bill Loughery rarely sees his wife and his daughter, a sophomore at U.R.I., these days, but he enjoys every minute of his busy six-day week, from the 7:00 a.m. check with the custodians through the busy schedule of consultations, tours for visitors, interviews, decisions, directives, and in the late afternoon, some quiet paper work. Evenings that are not devoted to parent orientation meetings or student activities are taken up with meetings of fraternal or civic organizations.

Loughery, who holds a master’s degree from Columbia University T. C., has brought a rich background of experience to his new post. He was a teacher in Esek Hopkins Junior High School, a counselor at Mt. Pleasant High School, both in Providence, and in 1943 entered service as a Commander in the U. S. Navy. On his return he worked with the Veterans Information Center in Providence, then with Edgewood Junior College as Dean of Administration and teacher of psychology. In 1950 he joined the staff of Rogers High School as head of the social studies department, carrying a class in group guidance, and later became director of guidance and assistant principal. From time to time he has taught graduate courses for Rhode Island College in the Newport area. This varied background combined with his deceptively mild manner, and his genuine concern for the individual student, make him an ideal choice as the man to administer the Middletown Plan.

Members of Middletown project work with Dr. Rollins (standing, right) during Summer Session.
Mary Tucker Thorp Hall Dedicated

The dedication of the Mary Tucker Thorp Residence Hall on November 12 was a proud day for the College, for Dr. Thorp and for the Alumni. Shown with Dr. Thorp at the reception which followed the ceremony are Dr. Catherine M. Casserly '31, alumni member of the Board of Trustees of State Colleges, Arthur Pontarelli '42, State Certification Officer, Department of Education, who represented Governor Notte, and Peggy Grady Bresnahan '45, alumni president.

Margaret Mead Gives Alumni Lecture

Dr. Margaret Mead, whose Alumni Lecture on November 6, was generally acclaimed as one of the outstanding events in recent college history, proved as vigorous and challenging away from the lecturn as behind it. At the informal reception held in the Alumni Lounge following the lecture the noted anthropologist’s warm, outgoing personality endeared her to faculty, students and alumni as she freely expressed herself on topics that ranged from motherhood to fall-out shelters.

In the picture she is seen autographing one of her books for Prof. Angelo Rosati, Assistant Professor of Art, while Dr. Lawrence Lindquist, Associate Professor of Anthropology, looks on.
FRESHMEN BOAST ALUMNI CONNECTIONS

Twenty members of the Class of 1965 are a part of alumni families. These College freshmen are sons, daughters, sisters, brothers, husbands, or wives of the College Alumni.

Elizabeth Farrell has the distinction of being the daughter of two alumni—Francis X. Farrell '36 and Mary Haynes Farrell '39; And if you count master's degrees, Michaela Delaney has a similar distinction as the daughter of Jane Toye Delaney '40 and Joe Delaney Ed.M. '56.

Robert Bates' wife, Etta (Gill), received her degree in 1961. Peter Babiec's wife, Edwina (Gugel), received hers in 1958.

Martha Shea is surrounded by our College graduates. Her father, Charles E. Shea, Jr., received his Ed.M. in 1950, her mother, Mary Gerhard Shea, her Ed.B. in 1933 and her sister-in-law, Evelyn Mackey Shea, her Ed.B. in 1957.

For Patricia Kaloostian it's a family affair, too. Her mother, Helen Gay Kaloostian, was a member of the class of 1924 and her sister, Mary-Ellen, graduated in 1960.

Starting this year as freshmen are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Monopoli, Dan's sister, Lillian Monopoli Motola, graduated in 1953 and his brother-in-law, Richard Motola, in 1954. His sister-in-law, Eileen Ryan Monopoli, graduated in 1955.

In our mother-daughter group we find Suzanne McKenzie, whose mother, Madeline Neiderer Goucher, graduated in the class of 1942; and Emily Einarrson, whose mother, Barbara Higgins Einarrson, graduated in the class of 1950.

Big sisters have paved the way for more freshmen: Ann Vileno Nolan '52 for her sister, Geraldine; Millie cent Barton Koski '54 for her sister, Joyce Ann; Kathleen Harrison Hornstein '55, for her sister, Arlene; Margaret Brady '56 for her sister, Frances; Marguerite Herrera Burbo '57 for her sister, Maureen; Claire Souza '57 for her sister, Mary Jane; Jane DePari Pietrantonio '58, for her sister, Linda; Ann G. Murphy '59 for her sister, Rosemary; Mary McFarland '60 for her sister, Dianne; and Elizabeth Guay '60 for her brother, Gerald.

Dennis Driscoll is following in the footsteps of his brother, Donald '54 and Robert Keefe in those of his brother, Joseph '52.

In the father-son department, James A. O'Reilly, Sr., who received his Ed.M. in 1953 is the father of James A. O'Reilly, Jr.

ALUMNI NIGHT, MARCH 1st

Rhode Island College Alumni — Our Contribution to the Community is the theme of the Alumni Night program to be sponsored on March 1 by the Continuing Education Committee. The panel presentation by alumni of the College is planned as a change of pace from the annual Back-to-College sessions which in recent years have featured faculty lectures. Anne J. Bourke, Committee chairman, will preside at the program in the Little Theatre, Roberts Hall.

FROM THE PLACEMENT SERVICE

If you have your traveling shoes handy, the Placement Service is just the place for you. Up to date job opportunities are here—unlimited. Come in and see!

The newest brochures regarding the U. S. Air Force Overseas Department School Program have just arrived. Opportunities for Educators, published by the Army's American Dependents School Overseas, list positions open in Korea, Japan, Okinawa and Europe (principally in Germany and France). Here is your big chance to travel during your vacations and summer recess or to attend a foreign university if you are stationed in Europe!

If you “feel so Spanish” then opportunities in Latin America are for you. Current vacancies in Chile, Columbia, Costa Rica, and other points south are listed in the bulletin from Inter-American Schools Service of the American Council on Education.

Here in the U.S.A. announcements are received every week from as far west as San Diego, California and Las Vegas, Nevada.

And if you are contented just staying home, teaching opportunities are many in our own Rhode Island, both in elementary and secondary schools. For those qualified to teach our small fry, there are openings in every grade from one through six. There is one unique position open as of January 15, A Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring a non-profit cooperative kindergarten, to meet for morning sessions only in one of our suburban communities.

For those of you who find it necessary to be home part of the time there are always opportunities for part-time teaching positions.

Why not look into the new and exciting jobs in teaching now offered. Stop in and visit the Placement Office, Roberts Hall, when you come on campus.

ANN L. HOGAN
Placement Director

SURVEY OF ALUMNI
TO BE CONDUCTED

The College will conduct its first alumni survey during January of 1962. Taking its cue from several private colleges that have used this method to measure the effectiveness of the College program and the interests of its graduates, the Alumni Office has prepared a lengthy questionnaire to be distributed to 1,000 alumni of the five-year classes.

A letter will be sent out in advance of the questionnaire to explain the project and solicit cooperation. The survey folder itself will then be distributed.

Questionnaire respondents will be anonymous, and individual replies will be considered completely confidential. However, the profile of the composite Rhode Island College alumnus, which will be drawn from the entire survey, will be available when it is compiled.
AROUND THE COLLEGE...

NEW CURRICULUM . . . .

... NEW DEGREE OFFERING

Students entering Rhode Island College in the fall of 1962 will work toward the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science in Education, and Bachelor of Science in Industrial Arts Education. The changing curriculum of the College will enable teacher education students to prepare for teaching in senior high school and special education classes as well as the established areas of primary, elementary and junior high school.

Students enrolling in the liberal arts preparation will spend all of their college time in general education and in their major and minor subjects. Eight academic subjects will be offered as majors immediately and others will be added if and when the need arises. These subjects and seven more may be pursued as minor concentrations (see box). Liberal arts majors will receive no preparation for teaching at all. They will earn the degree of bachelor of arts.

Students of secondary education will also work toward bachelor of arts degrees. They will divide their time between general education, professional preparation and major fields of academic study which they may select from the academic areas of the College. The major-minor combinations of English and Social Studies and Mathematics and Science will continue, specifically for junior high school preparation.

Professional preparation will be largely concerned with the broad areas of elementary or secondary education, but some parts of the program will be specifically tailored to either junior or senior high school grades.

Students of elementary education may elect to work toward either a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science in Education degree. The student who chooses to combine his concentration and elective hours to make up an academic major will earn a Bachelor of Arts degree. The student who chooses a more varied program, using his electives to increase his professional preparation or to explore academic areas other than his concentration, will earn a Bachelor of Science in Education degree.

There are no changes in the requirements for admission to the College. All students must present evidence of a successful high school program, with college preparatory credits in English (four years), algebra, geometry, U. S. history, a laboratory science, a modern foreign language (two years) and five other subjects. The language requirement does not apply to applicants for the Industrial Arts Education curriculum. All applicants must take the C.E.E.B. Scholastic Aptitude Test, and the C.E.E.B. achievement test in a modern foreign language (for placement purposes). Advanced placement credit is available for those who qualify.

RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE TO COOPERATE IN SIXTH YEAR PROGRAM

The Graduate Department of Rhode Island College has entered into a unique agreement with the University of Connecticut by which graduate students may pursue a Sixth Year Program beyond the Master's degree at both institutions, with the Diploma being awarded by the University of Connecticut.

Under this program a candidate in Education Administration or in other areas of concentration offered by the Graduate Division of the College can complete half of his post-master's work (approximately fifteen hours) at R.I.C. and half at U. Conn., culminating in the advanced diploma.

Candidates for admission to the program will secure the joint approval of Dr. William F. Flanagan, Director of Graduate Studies at the College, and Prof. John O. Goodman, Supervisor of the Sixth Year Program at the University of Connecticut.

A student who completes this program with high scholastic achievement may apply these completed courses toward a doctorate, provided he has, at the beginning of his program, secured admission to the Graduate School of the University of Connecticut for doctoral studies.

At a recent conference in Boston, the American Association of School Administrators, the New England Board of Higher Education, and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education, and the deans of colleges and universities concerned agreed in principle on a cooperative program to be established between accredited institutions that offer the sixth year and those that offer at least a fifth year. Rhode Island College, offering the fifth year, was the only Rhode Island college involved in the program, which is expected to emphasize school administration and related problems. The College would be designated a “sending” institution, as opposed to the “receiving” institution which would grant the degrees.

The agreement between U. Conn. and R.I.C., arrived at separately and in advance of the Boston Conference, is looked upon as a pilot project in cooperation for better preparation for administrators and specialists in education.

Curriculum Choices — September, 1962

Early Childhood Education
Elementary Education
Senior or Junior High School
Industrial Arts Education
Liberal Arts

Academic Major and Minor Offerings

Biology, English, French, history, general science, physical sciences, social sciences.

Additional Minor Offerings

Art, geography, music, psychology, physics, chemistry, speech.
ANCHORMEN SET PACE

With its 90-58 victory over Boston State on December 15 the Rhode Island College basketball team chalked up seven victories in nine starts. Victories were scored on the home floor over Westfield, Fitchburg, Bridgewater, Danbury and Lowell and over Barrington College in Barrington. The Anchormen were defeated by Worcester at Worcester, and by Central Connecticut at New Britain.

Sparking the team this year is Mike VanLeesten, 6'4" freshman, whose high scoring and strong control under the boards has set a fast pace for the team. Other notables on the floor are co-captains Donald Hickey and Claude Gladu, the indefatigable Charlie Wilkes, and Freshmen Jack Wheeler (6'6"), and Don Bissonnette.

The M.A.A. will sponsor a Tournament in Whipple Gymnasium December 29 and 30. Willimantic and Westfield will meet December 29 at 6:00 p.m. and Rhode Island College will play Nichols College at 8:00 p.m. On Saturday the losers will play at 6:00 p.m. and the final playoffs will be at 8:00 p.m.

Two innovations at Whipple Gym are worthy of note: The new loud-speaking system, and the new admission policy — fifty-cents is charged for admission to all regular games. The tournament play-off charge will be $1.00.

THE ANCHOR
DOUBLES PUBLICATION

The Anchor, since 1929 the voice of student opinion at the College, hopes to become a weekly during the second half of the current year. The publication has been appearing every other week for the past year, and has grown to eight pages of news, reviews, reactions and commentary.

In its editorial columns the paper is showing no reluctance at all to engage in controversy, and has tackled with equal vigor the administration, the student senate, food prices, censorship, and the apparent lack of intellectual zeal on the part of the student body.

(Subscription to this "Independent Student Voice" are $1.80 a year! Send check to Steven Grady, Circulation Manager, Anchor Room — Craig-Lee B-18, Rhode Island College.)

DANCE DEMONSTRATION TOUR

The Modern Dance Club of the College carried The Dance to three schools, giving five performances, on its second annual demonstration tour December 5. The College group, which includes fifteen men and sixteen women, danced for students of East Providence High School, Aldrich Junior High School in Warwick and North Providence High School, repeating a forty-five minute program which demonstrated the progression and possibilities of Modern Dance with all its aesthetic values and its pure fun. Dr. Fannie H. Melcer, Chairman of the Department of Physical Education at the College, directed the group.

MEMOS FROM THE ALUMNI OFFICE . . . .

- The decision of the Executive Board that for this year we would send copies of the Alumni News to all graduates of the College has resulted in a flurry of happy acknowledgments from new readers. Perhaps the most startling was a note of congratulations on the "first issue" of the Alumni News! This as we print the second issue of volume ten!

- That handy announcement board that stands in the foyer of Roberts Hall to guide you to your meeting room is the tenth year gift of the class of 1951.

- As our multi-purpose Office seems to confuse many of you, let us once more try to explain. The Alumni Office is part of and almost synonymous with the Public Relations Office of the College, with your Alumni Secretary serving as public relations director for the College. Ann L. Hogan, who is officially assistant to the D.P.R., serves as placement director and admissions counselor. Lucille Bevilaqua is secretary to the Office, and is assisted by the newest member of our staff, Anita Shoenberg.

The Alumni News, by the way, is the responsibility of your Secretary who is ably and generously assisted by the committee acknowledged on the inside of the front cover.

- As anyone with 20-20 vision can plainly see, the name sign at the entrance to the College now carries the lettered acknowledgement, “Gift of the Class of 1945".

MGD

MUSICAL EVENTS

During December the College Auditorium was scheduled for three musical programs. The College Christmas Concert, on December 10, was a joint effort of the various musical ensembles on campus combined with the New London-Groton Community Chorus. The College orchestra presented a group of selections and accompanied the combined choruses in the closing numbers of the program. The Choir, the Chalktones and the School-masters rendered choral groups varying from light madrigals to serious and difficult choral pieces.

On December 18 the Metropolitan Opera Studio presented selections from Cosi Fan Tutte by Verdi for an audience of junior high school students. The presentation was the last to be presented independently by the Opera group, who will tour the country during the coming year under the sponsorship of Life Magazine.

On December 20 the pupils of Henry Barnard School presented their annual musical program for the Christmas season, featuring the School orchestra, Prof. Abraham Schwadron conducting, and several student groups.
1904
Emma Eddy Robbins and husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on September 10th with a family dinner party. They live in Norwell, Massachusetts.

1905
Mary Carpenter Henderson living in Rumford, has traveled extensively throughout Europe and northern Africa. She recently returned home to enjoy her retirement in Middletown, R. I.

1909
Jennie Eldred is living in Phoenix, Arizona, and visited Grand Canyon this year. She is corresponding secretary of the Women’s Group at her church.

Marguerite King is retired from the Hughes B. Bain School in Cranston where she was a critic teacher and Dean of Girls. She lives at 17 Misted Ave, Mystic, Conn.

Ethel Beebe Wilkins lives in Homestead, Florida, with her son, James, and his wife and child. James, whose recent bout with polio has left him with a serious paralysis, built up an orchid nursery near the Redlands orchid jungle into a local showplace.

1910
Natalie Beebe, living in Ormond Beach, Florida, has retired after a career that moved from education to service work in Westinghouse, and back to teaching again. She is sharing her retirement with her sister, Clara, who had worked with the American City Magazine until recently. The Beebe sisters sold their homes in Bloomfield, Conn., and on Cape Cod during the past year, and settled in Florida.

Jennie F. Hart, retired from the East Providence school system, is active in the Greater Providence Women’s Intergroup Conference, the Catholic Interracial Council, and other organizations devoted to civic welfare.

Esther Abrams Parker, living in Old Saybrook, Conn., has recently visited Hawaii (1956), Scandinavian countries (1958) and Mediterranean countries (1966).

1911
Anna L. Dennis has retired as a teacher-librarian and is living in Riverside, R. I.

1912
Hope Adams Succot is presently serving as superintendent of the Cradle Roll Department of her church and is secretary of the Buttonwoods Beach Chapel.

1913
Frances H. Peckham Ramlove is enjoying her retirement in Newport, where her husband has a real estate and insurance business.

Laura Davis Murray is living in Inner Mile Bay, N. Y., where she owns an antique shop.

1915
Esther Spencer is employed in Haskin’s Pharmacy, Norton, Massachusetts, after having taught and substituted for 21 years.

1916
Mary Hade Hickey ’16 received the 1961 Regina Medal at the Salve Regina Guild Tea last spring. A teacher in the public schools of Providence she is a past president of the Guild. The medal is conferred in recognition of leadership in religious, educational and civic fields.

1917
Marie Lamon has been appointed to the Advisory Council on Social Welfare by Governor John A. Pottle, for a term ending in 1966. She is also serving as secretary to the Providence County Chapter of the National Foundation.

1918
Anastasia Roach Bourke retired last June from the North Providence school system, and is now substituting at Blessed Sacrament school Providence. One of her three children is Rev. William D. Bourke, a Columbian Father, who is stationed in the Philippines.

1920
Marian Keith Callahan, whose four children are all married, has twelve grandchildren. Her hobbies are weaving, rug hooking, knitting, reading and visiting historic sites.

1921
Genevieve C. Harrington is enjoying her retirement in Newport after forty years of teaching in that city.

Helen Aldrich Crosshers is a children’s librarian in the Lake City Branch of the Public Library of Washington. She was certified as a librarian after study at the School of Library Science, Western Reserve University. She is the mother of two sons, one of whom is a registered architect with a degree from the University of Washington.

1922
Catherine Campopiano Zambrano is a third grade teacher in a thirty-room school in West Palm Beach, Florida. She and her husband, a retired mechanical engineer, spent last summer in Italy and Switzerland. They had spent the previous summer touring the West.

Angela MacDonough is supervisor of elementary grades in East Providence.

1923
Sylvia Flanagan Stewart of Newport, who received her Ed.M. from RIC in 1957, is supervising principal of Aquidneck School in Middletown, R. I.

1925
Agnes Paliza Zambrano, who is teaching in Connecticut, will be visiting in Fort Pierce, Florida, for the Christmas holidays with her daughter and son-in-law and their four children.

Mary C. Byron, head guidance counselor at Gilbert Stuart Junior High School, was named the sole delegate from the Central Federated Council of Providence to the National Convention of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. in Miami Beach, Florida, December 6-15. She is Financial Secretary-Treasurer of the Providence C.F.C., which consists of ninety locals representing more than 30,000 members. She is the only woman to serve in this capacity and to represent the Council at a national convention.

Alice Carroll Trainor is taking understandable pride in the career of her daughter, who graduated from Pembroke College, Phi Beta Kappa, and earned her master’s degree from Northwestern this year.

Margaret Graham Morris is teaching at Bernon Heights Elementary School in Woonsocket. Her oldest son is a senior at URI, studying under a Navy Project Plan.

Amy H. Russell Pease is a casework supervisor in the Rhode Island Department of Social Welfare, covering four towns.

1926
Lillian Kelley Thorpe is teaching in a Reading Workshop in Warwick for 3rd and 4th grade pupils who are below level in reading. She has 12 grandchildren.

Robert van Son Reed, Jr., lives in North Kingstown, R. I., and is a part-time consultant (on merit pay and teacher evaluation) for Barrington Associates of New York City. He recently retired from the civil service as Superintendent of schools in Summit, New Jersey.

Margaret McPhillips, who teaches a special class at Windmill St. School, Providence, is a proud grandmother for the first time.

Janet Craig is a teacher and critic teacher at Child St. School, Warren.

1928
Lydia Bailey Marshall is living in Tarrytown, N. Y. Her great interest is in intensive Bible study. Her husband, who works for G.M. Fisher Body, is an enthusiastic stamp collector.

Mary Weigand Winans, who holds a B.S. degree from Bryant College, teaches in the Business Department at Hope High School. She lives in Cranston.

Edith R. Triguero is teaching mathematics and serving as a critic teacher at Rogers High School, Newport.

1929
Jessie Garlin Harvey lives in Medria, Pennsylvania, and teaches in the elementary schools. Her son, John, entered Pennsylvania State University this fall.

Ethel Kelley Farrell is teaching a first grade at Pleasant Street School, Seekonk.

1930
Lucy Randa Sullivan lives in Milwaukie and teaches Intermediate grades at Irving Orthopedic School. She travels to R. I. at least once a year to visit her children and grandchildren.

Etta Harold Rommel teaches in the elementary grades in the Long Beach (California) schools. For the last ten years, she has spent her summers touring the United States and Mexico.

Rosalie Falciglia Hill lives in Washington, D. C., and teaches music in Prince Georges County, Maryland. She visited Italy last summer, and has studied at George Washington University and Catholic University.

Edna J. McLoughlin, who received her master of education degree in 1956, is an elementary school principal in Providence.

Edith Johnson Morrow, second grade teacher at Dr. M. Sullivan School in Newport, drove to California last summer with her children. Her daughter Diane graduated from Newport Hospital School of Nursing in September and is now on the staff.

Dr. Catherine M. Casserly, supervisor of junior high schools in Providence and a member of the Board of Trustees of State Colleges, has been named chairman of the Rhode Island Committee on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, a committee of the Rhode Island Education Association.

1932
Anne O'Brien Kelly, who teaches a third grade in Addison, N. Y., has given service as an officer in numerous church and service organizations. Currently she is chaplain of the Phoenix Hose Auxiliary to the local volunteer fire department. Her husband is a supervisor in Ingersoll Rand in Painted Post, N. Y., where her son is also employed. Daughter Anne graduated from high school this year.

Anna Monahan Maxwell lives in Long Beach, California, and teaches the second grade. Last summer she took a five week cross country tour by automobile.

Miriam Lynn Herko is teaching a first grade in Dale County, Florida. Two of her three children are now in college, and her husband has retired from his Union Teachers Club position.

Dorothy Duby Meyer, teaching at Oakland Beach School, Warwick, has two children and three grandchildren.

1933
Vera Whitcomb Teaches, whose husband is a registered nurse in charge of male psychiatric patients at Chapin Hospital, Providence, is a volunteer superintendent of the primary department of her church.

Frances M. T. Lynch, elementary school principal in Providence, has recently toured Europe and Newfoundland. She serves on the executive committee of the R.I.E.A.

Louise Dunn McVarch, whose husband is vice president of Carl Bower and Asst's Inc., has settled in Ardsley-on-Hudson after years of traveling around the country in connection with her husband's work.

Ethel L. Stevenson is teaching at Laurel Hill Avenue School in Providence. She lives in Warwick where she is a member of Warwick Singers, a civic choral group.

1934
Alice Myers Despres is a substitute teacher in Baldwin and Oceanside (Long Island, New York) schools and also tutors home bound youngsters. Her husband is a cost accountant for Owens-Corning Fiberglass in New York City. Both of her sons attended U.R.I.

Dorothy Roberts lives in Hudson, Massachusetts, where she teaches the sixth grade and is treasurer of the Hudson Teachers Club.

Marion Mezel Berg lives in Middletown, Connecticut, and is chairman of a home demonstration group for the Department of Agriculture.

Doris Stanton Wilder, whose husband is an electrical engineer in Cleveland, Ohio, has worked with a school project at her church. She developed visual teaching aids for schools in Africa in the Swahili and Kelluba languages, and is working on aids in Portuguese.

Dorothy Byron Martin, graduate fellow in the field of mental retardation at Rhode Island College, has had several articles published, the most recent being "A Teaching Hunch" published in The Pointer, Fall 1961. The first "home teacher" of physically disabled in Providence, she taught at Academy Avenue School's Special Class until last year, when she was moved to the Intermediate Edcucable Room at Laurel Hill Avenue School.

Anne Shea McGurn, is a sixth grade teacher in Santa Barbara, California, where her husband teaches. She is a busy leader in Educational and PTA organizations, and is deservedly proud of her sons, the older of which is an electronics major in College. Her husband is a purchasing agent. She has just had her certificate reactivated and is teaching.

1935
Harriet Hassell McNeil is living and teaching in Cody, Wyoming, where she is very busy in professional and civic groups. She has two children.

Sister Mary Patrick (Mary Fitzpatrick) is director of the Boarding Home Department, St. Dominic's Convent, Blaustein, New York. She holds a MSSS degree from Fordham University, and has studied at the Catholic University in Ponce, Puerto Rico.

Katherine Lamb Chisholm is a teaching principal in Mohegan, L. I. She has four children, one of whom is at Worcester State Teachers College, and one at Amherst College. Her husband also teaches.

Marion E. Sullivan is principal of Coggeshall School, Newport.

1936
Capt. Catherine M. Cassidy, USAF has been stationed in South Carolina, Japan, and Labrador. She is now reporting to Dow AF Base in Maine.

Phyllis Adams Reed is teaching a third grade class in Charlestown, New Hampshire, where her husband operated a general store from 1952-1960. Her daughter is attending Northampton Commercial College and her son is in high school. Correction: In the last issue of the News it was erroneously reported that Mrs. Reed had opened a kindergarten in Conway. She has never lived or been employed in that town, and we regret the misinformation.

Gertrude Goldberg Hak does substitute teaching in Pawtucket, but most of her time she keeps house for her husband, a lawyer, and one child.

1938
Helen Kelly Oxley lives in Warwick, R. I. Her husband is an F.B.I. Agent and one of her five daughters is in her sophomore year at U.R.I.

Phyllis Swanson Harrison is Director of Religious Education at the Rock Spring Congregational Church, Arlington, Virginia. Her husband serves as a counselor for the Senate Rules Committee. Phyllis is also attending Wesley Theological Seminary on a part time basis, working towards the degree of Master of Religious Education.

Helen Mahon Eagleson's son, John, is attending the University of Maine, while her son, Dennis, attends high school in Kennebunkport, Maine, where they live.

Jack and Dorothy (Ushier, 1940) Roberts live in New Rochelle, N. Y. Jack is Professor of Education at Queens College in New York city, and is editor of the Elementary School Principals Department of the 1961 NEA yearbook. Dorothy is currently president of the Isaac E. Young Jr. High P.T.A.

Regis Ryan Henry lives in Marion, Massachusetts, and does substitute teaching in the local schools. She has six children.

Margaret Drennan Elder is living in High Point, N. Carolina, where her husband is a purchasing agent. She has just had her certificate reactivated and is teaching.

1939
Dorothy Stewart Evans; whose husband is employed by American Airlines, is assistant principal of an elementary school in Oceanside, New York, that has 900 students. Besides taking care of her two children, she is active in civic and educational enterprises in the Island Park, Long Island community where she lives.

Ellen M. Perkins, who holds a master's degree from Columbia University, is teaching a class of mentally retarded children in Warwick.

Irene McKenna is teaching handicapped children in Holden School, Warwick. She was formerly in similar work at Mary C. Greene School in Providence.

Capt. Barbara A. Farrell is in the Finance and Accounting office at Fort Moulton, New Jersey.

Colonel Norman E. Green is doing research and development work for the U. S. Air Force. He lives at Bedford, Mass., while recent travel has taken him to many points in both Europe and Asia.

Marjorie Louise Nuttall lives in Sweetwater, Tennessee, where she has returned to teaching and has been assigned the 4th grade. She and her husband, James, a lace designer, have three children.

Sister St. Rose of Mary, C.N.D. (Rose McDonnell) is director of elementary education at Notre Dame College, Staten Island, N. Y. She holds a master's degree from Fordham University.

Sister Mary Elizabeth, O.P. (Elizabeth M. Kelly) had taught a sixth grade class in East Providence until 1955 when she entered the Cloistered Dominican Nuns. She made her solemn profession in July, 1960.

Dan and Barbara (Marshall) Mooney spent the summer at Hope Valley, R. I., on vacation from North Springfield, Virginia, where Dan is assistant for training and Mobilization in the office of the Assistant Chief of Naval Operations (Naval Reserve). Dan III is playing left halfback on the varsity team of Annandale High School. They have two other children.

Linnea Rockett Spink is now living in Thompsonville, Conn., and is teaching first year algebra at Enfield (Conn.) High School. Her husband, Sydney, is an engineer with Hamilton Standard Division of United Aircraft in Windsor Locks, Conn.

Ruth Pearson Johnston is the new supervisor of music in the Central Falls School System.

Cecilie Lavinia McNamara lives in Somersworth, Mass., and teaches French in the high school there. She has three children.

Judith Halliday Mabey is living in Kittery, Maine, with her husband, an electrical engineer, who will be ten years old on Christmas Day.
Anne Carty Dill is living in Natick, Mass., with her husband, a mechanical engineer with Raytheon, and four children.

1941
Edward Hunt is the new curriculum director in the Warwick School System. He is a former president of the Rhode Island Education Association and had been assistant principal at Gorton Junior High School.

Margaret Briggs Bills lives in LaVerne, California, where she serves as dental hygienist for her dentist husband. She has a B.S. from University of Southern California and has taught dental health education there. She and family (3 children) make frequent trips to desert, mountains, and seashore in their airstream travel trailer.

Emma Anderson Smith teaches elementary school in Colton, California. She and her husband like to hunt with their beagle hounds.

Mary Wheeler Quinn now lives in Perth Amboy, New Jersey, where her husband is a mechanical engineer. They have seven children.

Rita Stancliff Edplan lives in Los Angeles, where her husband is a sales representative. They have two children.

Michael A. Morry has been appointed assistant principal at Veterans Memorial High School in Warwick. He had been acting assistant for the past three years.

1942
Dorothy Foley Kleniewski of Pawtucket is returning to the East Providence School System after a three year absence. She will be in the Physical Education Department.

Virginia Motta Speakman lives in Westfield, N. J. Her husband, Donald, works in New York City as a statistical accountant for Socony Mobil Oil Co.

Joseph E. and Jane Fox Brady have moved to 110 Beeching St., Worcester. Mr. Joe is Sales Manager for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Worcester.

Robert McCambridge, who holds M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Cornell University, has been appointed Associate Director of the Office of Management and Planning for Higher Education in the State Department of Education, Albany, N. Y. This is the agency by which New York hopes to prepare to meet the "bulge" in higher education. Until November he was University Secretary and Director of Registration at the University of Rochester, and was one of the speakers at the meeting of the Middle States Association of Registrars and Admissions Officers, held in Atlantic City last month.

Natalie Hurlock Johnson is living in Van Nuys, California, with her husband, a stock broker, and three children. She teaches kindergarten in San Fernando, and still finds time for water skiing, painting and travel.

1943
Helen E. Major who holds an Ed.M. degree from the University of Washington, is teaching a fifth grade class in Redwood, Washington. She has traveled widely in the western part of the United States and Canada.

Viola Jager McCambridge, living in Rochester, New York, is rejoicing in her husband's new appointment (see '42). Meanwhile she is teaching in Rochester and taking care of the three young McCambrigges.

Ruth A. Morrissey, who spent the first few post-college years in pursuit of a career in dramatics, is with the purchase and sales department of a brokerage house on Wall St., New York City.

Margaret A. Nelson is the mother of five. She and her husband, an advertising consultant for N. E. Telephone Co., have just bought a new home in Newport.

Annette Archambault Carpenter teaches mathematics in Newton, and lives in Belmont, Massachusetts.

1944
Lillian Farris Bristow is living in Dayville, Conn., substituting occasionally but usually busy keeping house for her husband, a teacher of blueprint reading, and her two children.

Frances Farris Winn is guidance director at junior high school in Tampa, Florida. She has two children.

Elizabeth Murphy Kelley is an English teacher and guidance counselor in Attleboro High School, Attleboro, Mass. She is a member of the administrative and executive board member of the Attleboro Teachers Association. Her husband is a teacher and a lawyer as well.

Mary Leffly McBride is the mother of eleven children. Her husband is a research chemist. The family lives in Buffalo, N. Y.

Cecile Aubin Smith is living in Manchester, Conn. Her husband, a district sales manager for Ray-O-Vac Co., won an award trip to Nassau in February. There are five children sharing the home which she has just redecorated herself in "American.

Honorae Burke Venturi is living in Geneva, Switzerland, where her husband is busy with publishing and making motion pictures and from where she and her sons, Marco, twelve and Mike, eight, can trip to all parts of Europe.

Nellie J. Jilson Ext. '44 has retired from the Providence School System after 33 years of teaching. She had taught at Central High School for the past ten years.

Arietta Salisbury Tager, who teaches grade four in Clayville School, Scituate and serves as a school librarian, spent last summer at the Science Institute for Elementary Teachers at Arizona State University.

1945
Marcia Gifford Perry is taking just pride in her husband’s appointment to the position of director of agriculture and conservation for the State of Rhode Island. A graduate of the Rhode Island Conservatory of Music as well as R.I.C., she was formerly supervisor of music in Bristol Senior High School. The Perrys have six children.

Dorothy Horne Manteufel lives in Rochester, N. Y., and is a swimming instructor at the “Y”. She has also taught swimming in her backyard pool, and this past summer was a junior lifesaving group and two mother’s groups.

1946
Viola Cartwright Rogers is living in Westport, Conn., but she is building a new home in East Greenwich and plans to return to R. I. in December. She has been a Girl Scout leader and substitue teacher in Westport as well as holding office in the Junior Women’s Club.

1948
Theresa Leveille Garneau teaches her own daughter, Louise, in her third grade class in St. Stephen’s School, Sillery, P. O. The suburban school district boasts an active P.T.A., a series of Matinee Concerts for children of the Quebec Symphony Orchestra, and modern language lessons in the third grade. The Garneau home is in Quebec and houses three other children, besides Louise, and Dad, a sales representative for Labatt Breweries.

1949
Betty H. Pryce Smith moved to Rehoboth this fall. She had been active in the League of Women Voters of Newport, serving as president last year, but will be busy remodeling the new Rehoboth dwelling for the present. Husband David is principal of Palmer River School in Rehoboth, Rebecca is three years old, Richard, ten months.

Ann Sullivan Weaver is living and teaching in Nashvilee, Tenn., where her husband has accepted a fellowship for doctoral studies at Peabody College. They had completed restoration of historic Remick House before the史料 year and intend to return to it before very long.

Elizabeth E. Arminett is traveling through Europe as a field adviser with the North Atlantic Girl Scouts, serving the American Girl Scouts in whose fathers are in the military service.

William N. McIntyre is supervising principal at the Knotty Oak School in Coventry, R. I. 1950

Barbara Gallogly Barnes manages to find time to serve as a remedial reading consultant at Our Lady of Peace School, Fords, N. J., as well as keep house for her husband and four children and do graduate work at Seton Hall University. She has instructed in connection with the reading clinic at Rudin, where her husband is a special agent for the F.B.I., assigned to the Newark office.

Constance Mills Drew has three children aged seven, five, and two. Hobbies include teaching swimming, refereeing girls’ basketball games and teaching at church classes. Her husband is a salesman.

Ann L. Hogan is on leave from her teaching position in Pawtucket, serving as assistant director of public relations at the College, with duties including placement and admissions counseling. Recently she has served as 1961 chairman of the Women’s Division of the United Fund of Blackstone Valley, chairman of the Pawtucket Junior Women’s Club’s Fifth Annual Book Fair in November, chairman of the-cache of Multnomah Jubilee Celebration in August. She boasts a total of twenty-two nieces and nephews.

Virginia Gailfoyle McGrath has recently moved from Sanford to Fairfield, Conn., with her husband who is with the U. S. Navy and two children.

Jacqueline Scandelli Morgan of Salt Lake City, Utah, visited Rhode Island last summer with her four children.

Lillian N. Migone has been teaching with the Air Force overseas for seven years, in Japan, France, Morocco and Germany. This is her fourth year in Germany, one year in Remstein and three at Weisbaden. Her travels have included the Middle East, French West Africa, North Africa, Central Europe, Hong Kong, Bangkok and Singapore.

Edward J. Medeiros (Ed.M.) has been named chief of the division of vocational education of the Rhode Island Department of Education.

Mary Migone Cameron, who was married in Tokyo four years ago, is now living in California.

Nancy McGuiness Gibson is living in Lafayette, Indiana, and does some substitute teaching. She has four children and last May traveled to Japan with her husband on a lecture tour. He is a Professor of Electrical Engineering at Purdue University and made the trip at the request of the Japanese.

Robert D. Payne Ed.M. of Danielson, Conn., is Superintendent of Schools for Killingly and the borough of Danielson. He is also the current president of the Danielson Rotary Club.

1951

Marion Dailey Miles lives in Eastchester, N. Y., where her husband is a high school biology teacher and heads the science department of the New Rochelle Summer School. The Miles and their two boys make a hobby of camping and have camped from Myrtle Beach, S. C., to Arcadia National Park in Maine.

Capt. Michael J. Grady, Jr., instructor on the faculty of the Air University at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, is looking forward to enrolling in doctoral studies at the University of Alabama next September under a two year graduate fellowship.

Margaret Martin Phillips lives in Topanga, California. She and her husband have been busy rebuilding their home after a fire last fall claimed all of their possessions. They have two children.

Earle Carleton Roberts is living in Arcadia, California, and is starting his second year of teaching in the El Monte Schools.

Jocelyn McKeown O’Neill has four children. Her hobby is rug hooking.

Robert E. Harrigan played the leading role in The Players recent presentation of “Monique” in Providence.

Edward P. Travers was reelected as president of the Rhode Island Education Association at the forty-eighth meeting of the Association on October 27. This is the first time in the 116-year history of the organization that a president has been elected for a second term.

Pat Duncan Campbell who lives in Seattle, Washington, with her husband, an airlines pilot, and son, is leaving for a tour of Holland, France, and Switzerland. In September Pat got together with Emily Fitzpatrick Erickson, Mary Jolico Bellaumba, and Jean Metayer at Jean’s home in Darien, Conn. 1952

Margaret Hagan Davis lives in Opa Locka, Florida with her husband, who works for Eastern Air Lines, and two daughters.

Dolores Abbey Engusian is living in West Hartford, Conn., where her husband is a traffic engineer. She had taught in Cranston and later in West Hartford before her daughter was born in 1957. Twin girls were added in 1959.

Claire Daignault McCoy is the mother of four boys.

Joan Healey Wenz lives in Country Club Hills, a suburb of Chicago, Illinois, where her husband, an American Airlines pilot, is based. She has three daughters, Andrea, Paula and Sheila.

Roslyn Toomey Grady is the editor of Briefing, the publication of Maxwell Field Officers’ Wives Club. She has worked on the staff of the monthly magazine for the past three years. Besides taking care of her five sons, and her editing, Roz finds time to serve as president of St. Mary’s Guild at Maxwell, and to engage in several active hobbies, including golf!

Catherine Panarello Duffy lives in Somerdale, New Jersey, where her husband, Joe, is an accounting supervisor. They have two children and have recently moved into a new home.

Madeline Kalarian Holbrook and her family (five children) live in New Rochelle. Her husband is the Executive Director of the Westchester County Chamber of Commerce.

Catherine Brelsford Burdick is living in Hamilton, Ohio, where she is day camp director at Woodward Camp, a community project for about 200 girls. Her husband, Stan, is YMCA Youth Director. They have two sons. Stan has a book of cartoons due out this fall.

1953

Joan Jache Allen lives in Windsor Locks, Conn., with her husband, an aviation mechanic, and two sons, Peter Timothy and Michael Joseph. She is active in the local Women’s Club and the Catholic Council.

Ann McAloon Ellinger is teaching Spanish and Language Arts to sixth grade and kindergarten classes in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada Mountains in California. Her husband is a field representative for the American Cyanamid Company.

Ruth Martin Johnson lives in Woonsocket, and is a kindergarten teacher in North Smithfield. Her husband is an accountant.

Barbara Peterson Richer is a home teacher for shut-ins in Woonsocket. Her husband operates a Narragansett Electric Company sub-station. Her two children are Jane Beth, two years, and Ann Karin, one year.

Claire Andrews is a consultant for Grades 1 and 2 in the Providence School System.

Emanuela Criscione Iacono lives in Warwick where her husband, Frank, is a dentist. They recently traveled through the New England states.

Doris Greenthal Anderson is living in Palo Alto, California where she is teaching first grade. Her husband is an excavating contractor.

Anna Abbatomarco Di Salvo has just moved to Lebanon, Conn., into a new home that her husband, an auditor, built in his spare time. The DiSalvos have one child.

Millicent Barton Koski whose sister, Joyce Ann, is a freshman at the College, is proud of her engineer husband who received his M.S. degree from Rensselaer Poly Tech. last June. The Koskis live in Manchester, Conn., and have two children.

John Lacouture teaches an 8th grade class in Pascoag. He is a 4H leader, president of the P.T.A., and executive board officer of the Burrillville Civic Theatre. As a hobby he runs a Pekingese kennel!

Maureen Kenny Daly is president of the Officers Wives Club at the naval air station in New Iberia, Louisiana, where her husband, Lt. Paul Daly, is a naval aviator. With two children, Judith Mary, 3, and Paul S., Jr., 5 months, she still finds time for volunteer work at the Parish Hospital and as a case interviewer for the Naval Reserve Society.
Rose Harrison Corp Pierce is living at Westport, Conn., and teaching a sixth grade in New Bedford, after living in California for two years. Her daughter Marjorie Corp is a freshman at Stanford University. Mrs. Pierce was widowed in 1958, has since remarried. Between her husband and herself they have seven children and six grandchildren.

Alison Hoins Rondeau is living in White Plains, N. Y., where her husband teaches chemistry at the High School. Shir is vice-president of the White Plains Faculty Wives Association, editor of the monthly newspaper, The Spokeswoman, advisor to the Teen-aged group and chair of the Junior Group of the White Plains College Club. She has written books and lyrics for a musical "Millie Lou" presented by the College Club in Feley, and is writing a play for the White Plains Faculty Wives for June. She will direct both productions. Son Arthur E. III, 5 years, attends kindergarten while Laurence Neil, four years is at home.

An in-service music program is being conducted at the Capt. Edward (Conn.) classroom teachers by Abraham Schwadorn who is an assistant professor of music at Rhode Island College. The program is designed to provide practical experience in the kinds of music one is likely to find in the elementary school.

1955

Marie Pofi Cerilli is teaching a second grade class in Denver, Colorado, where her husband is in surgical residence. Last year they made a three week visit to Brazil, touring its major cities.

Fileen Taber Coyne is living in Woodmere, Long Island, N. Y., keeping house for her husband, a cocoa importer, and two children, Melissa Ann, two years, and Russell Grae, six months.

Marilyn Hopkins Elgren teaches at Capt. Isaac Paine School, Foster. She and her husband, a grocery store owner, share an interest in ham radio operation. He has a ham call letters, K-1-RSS. She hopes to get her soon.

Ralph A. Paparella (Ed.M.) whose daughter Carolyn Ann is a junior at the College, is supervisor of physical education in the elementary schools of East Providence. He is president of the East Providence Men's Teachers Association and an officer in the state and East Providence departments of the Italian American Veterans.

Virginia Gregory Belanger has moved into a new home in East Greenwich, which she and her husband intend to restore to its historic beauty. Ginny, who served for a while as assistant director of public relations at the College, is volunteer director of public relations for the Rhode Island Girl Scouts reorganization program.

Maureen McVicker Mallory lives in Huntington, Conn., where her husband is a pharmaceutical salesman. They have one child.

Lucia Hammond Wheeler lives in Los Angeles, California, where she is a nursery school teacher. Her four children are all married, and she spends her free time visiting children and grandchildren.

Barbara Murphy Smith is teaching second grade at Mark's Meadow School, the laboratory school of the University of Massachusetts College of Education. Her husband, Bob, is an instructor at the University where he is working towards his doctorate.

Raymond Hart has been recalled to active duty with the U. S. Navy for one year. He is stationed on board the U.S.S. Parke.

1956

Elizabeth Da Silva Goncalves is living in Newton, Conn., where her husband is chief engineer for Bland Burner Company. Her three children are Karen 4 1/4 years, Cindy 3 years, and Philip 6 months.

John E. Heisler has received a National Defense Education grant to attend the Guidance and Counseling Institute at Boston University for the current academic year.

Doris Steitz Locklear is living in Oxford, California, where her husband is with the U. S. Navy at Pt. Magu. In addition to caring for Paul Cannon, 2 years, and Steven Lawrence, 5 months, she finds time to serve as recording secretary for the Miss Betty Bee and the navy wives club, and to substitute occasionally in the local elementary schools.

Marilyn Smith Mason has returned to Rhode Island after five years in California. Her husband, an Episcopal priest, has been called to St. Philip's Episcopal Church, in West Warwick. While on the West Coast she earned a Master of Christian Education degree at St. Margaret's House and taught first grade classes in the Hermosa Beach School system. Daughter Tammis Ann Crommelin was born in August.

Leonard Mooy, Jr. (Ed.M.) is teaching science at Santa Barbara Junior High School, Santa Barbara, California, and serving as Executive Secretary of the Santa Barbara Inter-School Science Fair and on several science fair committees. The Mooy's have five children.

Carmela Virgilio toured Europe for seven weeks this past summer.

Margaret E. Brady of North Providence has been appointed to Roger Williams School in East Providence. She had previously taught in Maryland, and in North Providence.

Betsy Ann Condon is teaching and is science department head at Madison High School in Tampa, Florida. She has studied under the National Science Foundation Advanced Degree Plan at Florida State University, and she is president-elect of the Hillsborough County Science Council.

1957

Edwina Gugel Babice has started all over again, with her husband enrolling as a freshman at the College this year. While her husband was on military duty in Tacoma, Washington, last year, she taught classes for air force personnel. Daughter Dianne Marie was born in August.

Ann Sheehan DiPiro has returned to Providence after living in Maryland for two years. Her husband is a dentist. They have two daughters.

Sylvia Morrone Gulla is now living in Brighten, Mass., where her husband is an accountant executive for an investment firm. She had taught at Bellerica, Mass., and in New York, before their move to Brighton. Son Robert Jude is 3 months old.

Margaret Anderson Mc Kenna is busy with her two children, Nancy 28 months and Steven 10 months, in Wheaton, Illinois, where Ralph, a traffic manager, is employed.

Carmela Scardera received her M.Ed. from Boston University last June.

Ben Winiker, presently working at Grace Church, Providence, is looking forward to marriage in March and ordination to the Episcopal Ministry in June.

Jane F. Dailey has resumed teaching in Cranston after two years with the U. S. Army Dependent Schools in Okinawa.

Attilia Delaunata Dagesse is living in Springfield, Mass., where she is busy with her four children. Her husband is a steel engraver.

Alberta Sepe is making plans for spending the summer of 1962 in Europe:

Raymond Anderson, who was married to the former Paula A. Fortin last July, is living in Rumford and is teaching a fifth grade at Finsburg School, Attleboro, Mass.

Maureen Kenny Lennon is now living in Cranston while her husband, a military pilot, serves in Korea. The Lennon's wedding anniversary, August 1, was marked by the birth of their first child, Michael, at Fort Rucker, Alabama.

Francis L. Mageau is now teaching at the U. S. Air Force Base at Burford, England, and making plans to tour Europe in his spare time. He had taught for the past three years at Franklin, Massachusetts.

Alta Hopkins is teaching with the U. S. Air Force in England this year. Last year she was stationed at Ankara, Turkey.

Science and mathematics will be taught at North Attleboro (Mass.) High School by Ralph Mickelson of Pawtucket. Ralph has previously taught math and science at Anawan Junior High School in Rehoboth.

Georgette Bilodeau Flesente is an assistant instructor at the Wheelock School, Keene Teachers College. She previously taught for two years in Providence.

Marcia McVicker is teaching for one year with the Army in Prinaseno, Germany, which is about fifty miles from the French border.

Gail Brady spent Thanksgiving in London, on vacation from Germany where she is teaching.

1959

Nancy Quinn Pootowski resigned from teaching in Norwood, Mass., last June and is now living in Warwick. Her husband has received his M.D. from Tufts, and is now internning at the U. S. Naval Hospital in Chelsea, Mass.

Beverly A. Crocker is office manager for a chain of retail stores in Connecticut and lives in Thompsonville, Conn. She is treasurer of the evening division at Hillyer College, University of Connecticut, working towards a B.S. in Accounting.

Mary Frances Kielty, Ext. "59," has been appointed Catalog and Reference Librarian at Bryant College in Providence.
She is the author of the biography “O’Donel of Destiny”, and has contributed articles and Book Lists to outstanding publications.

Sabro Gallup Card has one son, Barry, born in April. She is living in West Warwick, but doing substitute teaching in Warwick.

Mary Susan Lombardi Hennigan is living in Warren, where she is a substitute teacher. She taught Social Studies in Minoa, New York in 1959 and an accelerated program for gifted elementary children in Hope Valley, R. I. in 1960. Her husband is employed by an investment firm in North Kingstown, R. I.

Carol Hulcup, who has been teaching a fifth grade at Nathaniel Greene School, Pawtucket, is busy planning for her December 30 wedding.

Patricia Smith, Anne Feeley, Helen Harrington and Mary Gilmartin are all living and teaching in Washington, D. C.

Elizabeth McAleer, June Hafield, and Marilyn Trainor are teaching in Acton, Mass.

1960

French will be taught in the elementary schools of Sharon and Cornwell (Conn.) by Joseph H. Lambert.

Claire Horan, the only Rhode Island female member of President Kennedy’s Peace Corps, is teaching in a small, very rural town in the Philippines for two years. Claire taught in Providence for one year prior to her application and acceptance in the Corps.

Donna Frances Nelson of East Providence has completed stewardess training with Pan American World Airways and will be based in New York City.

Dick Michael, who received his M.S. from Syracuse University last June, is serving as audio-visual consultant to the Board of Cooperation Educational Services, Second Supervisory District of Westchester County, New York. Following his year as graduate assistant at Syracuse he spent last summer as a research assistant for the Commission on Definition and Terminology, a project of the NEA Division of Audio-Visual Instruction. He was chairman of the pre-screening committee on medical sciences films during the 1961 American Film Festival.

Carol Letendre Paine is teaching a fourth-grade class at Captain Isaac Paine School in Foster, Rhode Island.

Franklin E. Peters received his M.S. from Syracuse University in 1961, majoring in Audio-Visual Communication. He is teaching algebra and general mathematics at East Providence High School.

Gerald L. Schooler is teaching sixth grade at Bernon Heights School, Woonsocket, and serving as advisory to the school newspaper, Mark Allen Schoolery was one year old on July 14.

1961

Eugenia Boggia Mona of Pawtucket is on the faculty of Watters School in East Providence.

Virginia Martin Dooley of Rumford is teaching at Lincoln School in East Providence.

Priscilla A. Waterman is teaching the second-grade at Palmer River School in Rehoboth.

Frances A. Pierce is teaching at Arthur E. Pratt School in East Providence.

Theresa A. Paithorne is at the Wadlington School in East Providence. Claire Cook and Virginia Wayland are on the faculty of the same school.

John Bray and Donald Doyle played supporting roles in a recent production of “Monique” by The Players at Barker Playhouse, Providence.

BIRTHS

1960

To Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Morrissey (Marjorie Malley), a daughter, Debra Jeanne, born July 8.

To Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Grant (Geraldine Croce), a daughter, Elaine Melissa, born on September 3.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Hickey (Jacqueline Lussier), a daughter, JoAnn Margaret, born on July 3.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Allan (Nancy Newell), a son, John Thomas, born August 1.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferranti (Jo-Ann Paparelli), a son, David Anthony, on September 3.

To Dr. and Mrs. Richard Pootowski, (Nancy Quinn), a daughter, Lori Ann, on June 25.

To Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lannon (Maureen Kenny), a son, Michael, on August 1 (their anniversary) at Fort Rucker, Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Larson (Jacquelyn Dubois), a son, James M. Larson, Jr., on April 1, in Pine Bluffs, Wyoming.

1957

To Mr. and Mrs. John Dagges (Attila Delesante), their fourth child and first daughter, Cindy Marie, on November 17.

To Mr. and Mrs. Peter Babiec (Edwina Gugel), a daughter, Dianne Marie, August 22.

To Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gulla (Sylvia Morrone), a son, Robert Jude, August 22.

To Mr. and Mrs. James G. Flannery (Louise M. Murray), a daughter, Christine Holmes, August 31.

To Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Ging (Joyce Greene), their third child and first son, David Edward.

To Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heslin (Marsha McMichael), a son, Bruce Edward, on November 4.

To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ritzinger (Carole Theore), a daughter (their third girl) in Framingham, Mass, on July 17.

1956

To The Rev. and Mrs. Rob Roy Mason (Marilyn Smith), a daughter, Tammisan Crommelin, on August 13.

To Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Locklair (Doris Steitz), a second son, Steven Lawrence, on July 27.

To Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Gonsalves (Elizabeth DeSilva), a third child and first son, Philip.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Heslin (Elizabeth Lake ‘57), a fourth child and second daughter, Rebecca Leslie.

To Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vierra (Maureen McHugh ‘59), a son, Roger Francis, Jr. (Rod) on July 7.

To Lt. and Mrs. Raymond J. Hart (Jane Whitehead) their fourth child and first son, Raymond James Jr.

To Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Caswell (Dianne Carletti), a daughter, Lisa Diane, on September 9.

To Lt. and Mrs. Lee R. Hurst (Joan T. Carlson), a son, Clyde Charles Hurst II, on September 11.

To Mr. and Mrs. John R. Jennings (Doris M. Callahan), a daughter, Monica, on September 12.

To Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Holbrook (Madeline Kalarian), a son, on August 29.

1951

To Mr. and Mrs. Abraham (Cap) Assenmley, Glen Anthony, third boy and fourth child.

To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nichols (Evelyn Jones) of Strongville, Ohio, their third child, Mary Catherine, on May 23.

To Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lennon (Elizabeth O’Neil), a daughter, Virginia Rosalind, on August 23, in Suffern, N.Y.

To Mr. and Mrs. William N. McIntyre, a daughter, on September 10.

To Mr. and Mrs. Frank Struzik (Stella Tesavis) a son, John F., on September 15.

To Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Broadmeadow (Irene Majka), a son, John Joseph, on September 19.

1946

To Mr. and Mrs. Kosta E. Tegovich (Ida A. Steve), a son, Steven Kosta, on August 16.

To Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Edward P. Gallogly (Florence Giblin), their eleventh child and eighth son, Brian Patrick, on December 20.

MARRIAGES

1961—Carol Giuliano to Frank Nota on November 11.

1960—Dorothy Jean Heslin to William Eugene Evans, on October 7.

1960—Wanda A. Strycharz ‘62 to Thomas J. Eastham, on November 23.

1952—Patricia A. Keough to James Chat ty on November 11.

1950—Mary A. Geoghegan to J. Donet Gervais on October 12.

WE NOTE WITH REGRET

The Passing Of

Ethel Nicholas Johnson ’14 of Coventry.

The Class Notes Column of the Alumni News is an excellent way for alumni to keep in touch with one another. Please send any items of news you feel should be shared to Mrs. Edward A. McLoughlin, Jr., News Notes Editor, c/o Alumni Office, Rhode Island College, Providence 8, Rhode Island.
CALENDAR
January - February
1962

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>January 3</td>
<td>Undergraduate Psychology Lecture: Dr. Maurice W. Laufer, “How Do You Treat Emotionally Disturbed Children?”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 4</td>
<td>Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Willimantic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 6</td>
<td>*Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Salem</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 8</td>
<td>*Alpha Psi Omega Production</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 10</td>
<td>3:00 p.m. Home — 8:00 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 12</td>
<td>Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Farmington</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 15</td>
<td>Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Boston</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 17</td>
<td>*Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Barrington</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 19</td>
<td>*Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Worcester</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 25</td>
<td>College Lecture: Professor Mark Karp of Boston University “An Economic View of Africa”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 29</td>
<td>Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Bridgewater</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 7</td>
<td>Film: “The Day the Earth Stood Still”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 8</td>
<td>Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Westfield</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 9</td>
<td>Winter Weekend *Faculty Production</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 10</td>
<td>*Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Willimantic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 11</td>
<td>*Jazz Concert</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 13</td>
<td>Basketball: R.I.C. vs. Fitchburg</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 14</td>
<td>Undergraduate Psychology Lecture: Dr. Maurice W. Laufer, “The School and the Emotionally Disturbed Child”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 21</td>
<td>Film: “Citizen Kane”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 1</td>
<td>Alumni Night</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

* Admission Charged
 Away

---

RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE

ALUMNI NEWS

U. S. POSTAGE
BULK RATE
PAID
Providence, R. I.
Permit No. 1492