Dr. James P. Adams has assembled his Memorabilia and presented it to the College Library that is named for him. The materials are on display in Conference Room 1 in the Library.

Mrs. Bertha Andrews “breezed” through town on her way back from her summer home in Maine to her year-round home in West Palm Beach, Florida. In spite of a period of illness during the summer Mrs. Andrews seems to have the same tremendous vitality that marked her days at RICE.

The Brown University Bicentennial observance will be marked at Rhode Island College by an academic convocation on November 12 in Roberts Hall. Details will be forthcoming soon.

The “grant to finance a conference on how to get grants”, which was the subject of an amusing article in the Evening Bulletin this summer, will allow the College to hold a New England Conference on Research on November 27 and 28. Current research in ten major areas will be summarized by leaders from all parts of the country. The conference will be open to anyone interested in the kind of research for which national grants, or other funds, may be available.

The tall man seen striding up the road to the campus every morning is Dr. William Gaige, president of the College. Dr. Gaige, who likes to walk whenever his schedule permits it, is living this year on Cathedral Ave., near the Mt. Pleasant entrance to the College grounds.

---

PRESIDENT’S COLUMN

A Time of Decisions...

The summer has been an active one for your executive board. We have spent a great deal of time planning a program for the year and exchanging ideas concerning activities and policies.

Our greatest project has been reactivating the office of Class Agent in accordance with the provisions of our constitution. These Class Agents, placed under the direction of Rae O’Neill, our second vice president, are alumni selected to form a permanent organization, so that all alumni activities can be better coordinated. Class agents will also serve as the single contact between their class and the College. Their service is a special one and those accepting this responsibility are to be commended. It is our hope that all alumni contacted by agents will give them their complete support.

Our annual bridge has been advanced to November 6, 1964. Since the bridge is our principal source of income, we shall better be able to plan our budget by having this major event early in the year. By eliminating the bridge from the spring events, the Alumni Fund Drive should be even more successful than in past years because Class Agents and alumni can concentrate on this one major fund-raising effort.

As Rhode Island College grows in enrollment and as it progresses in attaining and maintaining its objectives in education, each alumnus should feel an obligation to contribute to this growth. In the coming November election, a bond issue concerning expansion of facilities at RIC will appear as a referendum. Here is an opportunity for each of us to serve Rhode Island College in a special way. Support the referendum by voting for its passage and by convincing others of its importance for the educational needs of the State of Rhode Island.

This, then, is a time of decision for you, too.

Elena A. Leonelli
The Trustees — Citizens Extraordinary

The Rhode Island Board of Trustees of State Colleges is generally acknowledged to be one of the best structures for the administration of public higher education in the country. The seven-man board, fiscally independent and non-partisan in composition, assumes responsibility for one of the major enterprises of the State, comprising 3,600 acres of land, with plants having a collective value of $35,000,000, under an annual operating budget (1964) of over $16,500,000.

In the word of Chairman George W. Kelsey, the Board of Trustees is “basically interested in bringing education to the people of the state broadly, based on the concept that the abilities of our young people are our most important state and national asset. As the private colleges vie for the students with the larger amounts of intellect and money, those with somewhat less financially and who are less brilliant are a national resource we cannot afford to neglect.” To this large group of young Rhode Islanders, the Board of Trustees of State Colleges devotes its great ability and its constant service.

“I want to preserve that uniquely American concept of a lay board as a policy body for higher education in Rhode Island,” says Mr. Kelsey, whose duties are taking up much of the time made available by his recent retirement from the position of vice president of BIF Industries. More than a third of his waking hours, he estimates, are spent at the business of the state colleges.

A man dedicated to public service, he feels he cannot be content until he knows enough about any undertaking to do the job as he envisions it. As chairman of the United Fund a few years ago he made a study so exhaustive he was to put together in book form and is still used as a guide to UF services.

Mr. Kelsey is beginning his third year as board chairman. He was appointed a trustee in 1959, to complete the unexpired term of Walter Farrell, then was appointed in 1960 for his own seven-year term. As chairman he presides at the regular meeting held by the Board on the first Wednesday of every month, and at many of the special meetings which occur almost as often.

The tremendous growth of the state colleges and their ever-increasing importance in the community is a source of satisfaction to the trustees, but it is the new junior college concept that has absorbed their attention for the last few years. A carefully documented study of need and potential, long and arduous meetings to analyze and project, and finally, a workable plan and a beginning — if one aspect of their work can be singled out as more exciting than another, the board chairman admits that this junior college development would be it.

In addition to attending meetings trustees are expected to do “homework” — review minutes, read the agenda, with explanatory notes, in advance of each meeting, keep abreast of new developments and prevailing opinions in related fields, etc. The chairman estimates that a trustee spends at least one full day a week on Board business.

Their duties are taken very seriously by board members. Edward P. Travers, RIC alumni representative, and at thirty-six one of the youngest men to have served on the Board, has missed only one meeting in fourteen months as a trustee. “There are only seven of us,” he says, “so we all have to play an important part.”

Mr. Travers serves as secretary of the Board. This requires that he keep an account of each meeting so he can verify and certify the minutes. This, he feels, has helped him to be a better board member. Through his careful perusal of the meeting notes he becomes very familiar with the action the board has taken, so he is able to draw historical parallels and to raise questions of precedent that could escape him otherwise.

Each board member contributes from his unique experience. The chairman, a graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology, has been an educator (Rutgers University), an engineer, a manufacturing executive, and a leader in community activities, especially in the United Fund.

Vice Chairman Albert Hoban, a graduate of Providence College and Harvard Law School, is a successful lawyer and leading arbitrator of labor disputes who served from 1953-1962 as administrator of charitable trusts in the Department of the Attorney General.

Hugo Mainelli, a URI graduate, is one of the state’s most prominent contractors. He is president of the Aetna Bridge Company and of the General Engineering Company, and secretary-treasurer of Plantations Steel Co.

Mrs. Jose Ramos, wife of a Newport physician, holds her A.B. and A.M. degrees from the University of California at Berkeley and has pursued graduate studies at the Sorbonne, University of Paris. She is an Associate Professor of Modern Languages at Salve Regina College.

Dr. Harold Browning, retired vice president of URI, earned his B.S. at URI and his M.S. and D.Sc. degrees at the University of Wisconsin. He was a science teacher until 1942 when he became Vice President of the University, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and Dean of Men.

Dr. William Robinson, Commissioner of Education, is a graduate of Classical High School and Providence College. He taught in the East Providence Schools until 1948 when he joined the staff of the Department of Education.

Edward Travers, whose experiences in education have ranged over several subject fields from elementary through junior high school, teaching and administering, may well make his major contribution in the field of finance. He is manager and treasurer of the Bristol County Teachers Credit Union which he helped found, and has served as treasurer of the RIC alumni and as chairman of the committee that established the alumni financial development plan under which the Association is still operating.

An outstanding contribution to the development of higher education in Rhode Island was made by Dr. James P. Adams during his term as member and chairman, 1955 - 1960. He inspired the study by the R. I. Commission for Higher Education that presented the projections under which the colleges, and particularly the junior colleges, are developing, and it is generally acknowledged that his strong hand guided the College and the University into a dynamic new era of growth and service.

All of the business of all of the states' institutions of higher education is the concern of the Board, including finances, curriculum, construction, policy, and personnel. The classified employees of the colleges come under civil service regulation, but faculty members do not, and the colleges have been encouraged to seek out and employ the very best people that could be found.

With all their concerns for the most advantageous expenditure of millions of dollars and the provision of adequate services to thousands of students, the Board of Trustees have shown an amazing awareness of the welfare of individual faculty and staff members, and a great sensitivity to their intellectual and material needs.

During the past year, the Board issued a strong statement on academic freedom which guarantees the right of faculty and students to the free pursuit of truth.

As this unique board completes its 25th year of service it seems fitting to offer a brief tribute to the thirty-one citizens who have given of their valuable time and energies to serve Rhode Island and the cause of education in this way.

The trustees and their years of service are:

Dr. James P. Adams ................................ 1955 - 1960
Chairman ............................................. 1955 - 1960
Reuben C. Bates ........................................ 1939 - 1945
Dr. Joseph L. Bellioti ................................ 1947 - 1949
Henry J. Blais ........................................... 1949 - 1955
John Brown ............................................. 1939 - 1949
Chairman ............................................. 1947 - 1948
Dr. Harold Browning ..................................... 1963 -
Romeo A. DeBucci ....................................... 1951 - 1954
John B. Dunn .......................................... 1942 - 1947
Dr. Catherine M. Casserly ................................ 1957 - 1963
Walter Farrell ........................................... 1955 - 1959
Arthur F. Hanley ......................................... 1954 - 1957
Caroline E. Haverly ...................................... 1954 - 1957
Albert J. Hoban ........................................... 1963 -
A. Livingston Kelley ...................................... 1939 - 1955
Chairman ............................................. 1941 - 1947
1951 - 1955
George W. Kelsey ........................................ 1939 - 1942
Chairman ............................................. 1939 - 1941
Francis I. McCanna ...................................... 1946 - 1955
Chairman ............................................. 1948 - 1950
Daniel J. Murray ........................................ 1960 - 1963
Clark F. Murdough ....................................... 1945 - 1951
Mrs. Jose Ramos .......................................... 1955 -
Louis M. Ream ............................................ 1939 - 1946
Dr. William Robinson .................................... 1962 -
Dr. James F. Rockett .................................... 1939 - 1947
Robert S. Sherman ....................................... 1957 - 1960
Daniel J. Stoddard ....................................... 1960 - 1962
Frederick C. Tanner ..................................... 1955 - 1959
Edward P. Travers ....................................... 1963 -
Dr. Michael F. Walsh ..................................... 1947 - 1962

Twenty-five years ago last June the General Assembly of the State of Rhode Island passed the legislation that established the Board of Trustees of State Colleges with the stated purpose: "that the government of the Rhode Island State College and the Rhode Island College of Education shall be removed from partisan political influence and entrusted to non-political trustees who, with the exception of the director of education, have no other official responsibilities, and protected from sudden changes in membership and reversals of policy which might result from recurring biennial elections."

This revolutionary experiment in independent administration was not passed completely as recommended by the five man commission that wrote it, but it was, and is, nevertheless, an enlightened piece of legislation that continues to give the state good administration for its institutions of higher education.

In 1939 Rhode Island College had been known as Rhode Island College of Education for nineteen years. URI was then Rhode Island State College, having been known from 1888 - 1892 as the Rhode Island Agricultural School and until 1909 as the Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts. "State" became the University of Rhode Island in 1951.

The members of the State Board of Education had served as the trustees of the R. I. Normal School, later RICE, from 1871 - 1935. The State College had been controlled by a Board of Managers made up of seven, later nine, members appointed by the governor for five year terms, including the state commissioner of education and the commissioner of agriculture.

In 1935 both institutions were placed under the nine man board of regents that included the governor, lieutenant governor, chief justice of the supreme court, director of the department of education, state budget director, two alumni of R. I. State and one alumna of RICE (Dr. Mary M. Lee represented the College).

Governor William H. Vanderbilt in his inaugural address in January, 1939, recommended a change in the administration of the colleges to limit any possibility of political influence. A month later the legislature passed a reorganization act, wiping out the Board of Regents and setting up a five man executive committee to administer the affairs of the colleges and make recommendations for a permanent organization. The five man committee included: Dr. Henry N. Wriston, president of Brown University as chairman, Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., President of Providence College, Dr. Reuben C. Bates, John F. Brown, and Ruth B. Franklin.

Thirty days of intensive work followed, and the legislation authorizing the organization recommended by the committee was introduced into the General Assembly. It drew strong opposition in the senate finance committee because of three of its provisions.

The recommendation that the Board be given complete financial independence, with a guarantee of 4½¢ of every $100 of taxable property in the state, was scrapped, and the budget of the state colleges made a part of the annual state budget, although the Trustees were left free to administer their allocated funds independently.

In an attempt to insure absolute freedom from any kind of political pressure, the Committee recommended that the administration of the colleges be completely separated from the Board of Education, with the Board of Trustees consisting of seven members, five appointed by the Governor and one elected by each of the colleges. This proposition caused considerable concern in the legislature and was finally changed so that the Board would include the Commissioner of Education as an ex-officio member, four members appointed by the Governor and the two alumni.

The third area of concern was the elimination of the need to have all faculty members certified by the Board of Education. This recommendation was accepted.

The new administrative pattern became law and on June 3, 1939, Governor Vanderbilt named the members of the new board: Dr. James F. Rockett, Commissioner of Education, ex-officio, George T. Marsh, who was elected chairman, Louis M. Ream, later elected secretary, Mrs. C. Gordon MacLeod, and A. Livingston Kelley. John Brown was named to represent the alumni of RICE and Dr. Reuben C. Bates, RISC. Mrs. MacLeod was the only woman on the Board from 1939 until 1948 when Sara Kerr was elected. Again since 1963 when Dr. Catherine M. Casserly completed her term there has been only one woman member, Mrs. Jose Ramos.

The idea of a single board to supervise all state supported higher education was not new in 1939. Montana did this as early as 1893, and ten other states had some similar form of control by 1939. But as recently as 1960 there were no less than 209 different state boards in the United States, responsible for 748 institutional units!

The Trustees operated for years with a part time secretary their only employee, but the need for gathering, recording, and analyzing the tremendous volume of information needed by the trustees for their routine work finally necessitated their employing a full time research assistant and a secretary. Last year the Trustees opened an office and conference room in the old Henry Barnard School building on Promenade St.

The unusual foresight of the 1939 legislature is demonstrated in the success of the Trustees' administration during these twenty-five years. Fiscally independent, yet operated by funds allocated by the General Assembly as part of each year's budget, the Board has had the freedom to encourage the intellectual and the physical growth of the institutions of higher learning and to plan and inaugurate new services as they are needed. They have guided the dramatic expansion of the University of Rhode Island from a small state college with an agricultural orientation into a university with a physical plant that boasts an atomic reactor, an oceanographic laboratory, and excellent engineering facilities. They have helped Rhode Island College to grow, as Dr. Donovan says it, “like Phoenix rising out of her own ashes,” from a small and physically limited school of education into a thriving state college on a beautiful campus, fully accredited, without qualification, by both the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

The journey has not always been smooth. The trustees have been embroiled directly or indirectly in some controversies. There was a court battle over the seating of the RICE trustee in 1948. The very existence of RICE was the subject of great concern in 1950-51. In 1955 legislation was introduced into the Assembly that would have curbed the independence of the Board. Recently there was public controversy over the administration of URI. There have been matters of censorship, academic freedom, and the Board’s closed meetings. The Board has survived all cries with dignity and integrity.
The citizens of Rhode Island will be asked to give their approval on November 3 to state colleges bond issues totalling $6,100,000. The Board of Trustees of State Colleges approved and recommended this action and the General Assembly passed the necessary legislation and referred it to the electorate. Its approval will finance the current phase of the colleges' development.

The program would provide funds to construct the first of the Rhode Island Junior Colleges ($1,400,000) and to finance at the University of Rhode Island the building of two classroom buildings, renovations and new facilities for four buildings, construction of a faculty center, purchase of land and sorority houses, final payment on the mathematics building, and extension of utilities and sewers ($3,420,000).

At Rhode Island College bond issues totalling $1,280,000 will be used as follows:
- Addition to Classroom building $800,000
- Equipment for the new Student Center 75,000
- Equipment for the new dormitory 80,000
- Music Rooms in Roberts Hall 200,000
- Equipment for men's dormitory 40,000
- Utilities Extension 85,000

Total $1,280,000

1600 students applied for admission to RIC this year. Almost 700 have registered as freshmen. More than half of the others could qualify for admission to college. This continuing rise in the number of qualified students seeking admission to college and the sheer physical limitations to their being admitted dramatizes the need for constant and rapid expansion of the College.

CLASS AGENTS

Rae K. O'Neill, second vice president, has set about organizing the class agent system as established by the alumni constitution:

Article X: CLASS AGENTS,
Section 1 One member of each graduating class should be selected as a class agent. Unless the class chooses to make this selection, an appointment may be made by the Alumni Secretary.
Section 2 The Class Agent shall maintain contact with his classmates. He shall stimulate an interest in and attempt to extend a knowledge of all Association activities.

One representative of each class, carefully chosen on the basis of active participation in College connected activities, was invited to assume this responsibility. If a class was known to have designated an agent, this person was the person contacted. Those who accepted the assignment will be the liaison between the class and the alumni organization until such time as he finds it impossible to fulfill his duties.

Agents met at the College September 29 to discuss support of the bond issues on the November 3rd ballot, and to set up preliminary plans for the 1965 Alumni Fund drive and the reunions and Alumni Awards dinner next spring.

ANNUAL BRIDGE and FASHION SHOW
Fashions by Cherry & Webb Co.
Friday, November 6 at 7:30 p.m.
Student Center
Admission $1.50
COMMITTEE
Eileen Barry Duffy
General Chairman
Claire King .................................................. Fashions
Ann McSherry McLaughlin ......................... Hospitality
Deana Robinson Liwian ............................. Prizes
Lila Robinson Winograd ............................. Program
Mildred Brennan Nugent ............................. Refreshments
Claire Ducharme Crohan ............................. Special Feature
Geraldine Carley ......................................... Special Raffle
Gladys Manchester Hallverson ................. Tables and Tallies
Betty Ann Goselin Parillo ........................ Tickets

Tickets and special feature books are available through committee members all over Rhode Island, and may be obtained by calling or writing the Alumni Office.
HOMECOMING WEEKEND

Thursday, October 15

6:00 P.M. — MOTORCADE
Judging of floats
Bon fire
An evening of informal fun
Friday, October 16
12:00 NOON — PARADE OF QUEEN CANDIDATES
8:00 P.M. — DANCE
King Philip Ballroom, Wrentham, Mass.
Admission $6.00 a couple
Come help your class president choose the Homecoming Queen

Saturday, October 17
1:00 P.M. — PARADE OF FLOATS
2:00 P.M. — SOCCER
R.I.C. vs. Alumni
Obediah Brown Field
No charge
Come cheer the alumni to its third consecutive victory!
8:00 P.M. — JUG AND JAZZ
Auditorium, Roberts Hall
Admission $3.00 each
A concert that brings together two contemporary musical wonders:
Jim K. Weskin and The Jug Band,
and The Paul Winters Jazzters

Diane Pace  David Capaldi
Chairman  Alumni Coordinator

Harrison Salisbury

ALUMNI LECTURE

Harrison Salisbury, national affairs editor of The New York Times, will give the annual Alumni Lecture at RIC on Monday evening, November 9.

A series of articles on conditions inside Russia, based on his five years as Times Moscow correspondent, won Salisbury a Pulitzer Prize, but resulted in his being barred from the Soviet Union. He later returned to the new Russia of 1959, to travel 30,000 miles, including trips through Outer Mongolia and Siberia. Two subsequent trips took him as far as Central Asia and Eastern Siberia. The Russian-speaking journalist has had many conversations with all the Russian leaders since World War II, and at one point debated Azubei, Khrushchev’s son-in-law, on television. He has written books on his observations in the East.

Salisbury divides his time between reporting trips abroad, and coverage of domestic politics and campaigns, and of foreign affairs and political events in Washington and New York. On special assignments he has made investigations in depth of adolescent delinquency and of the modern South.

He accompanied Richard M. Nixon through Russia, and former President Eisenhower to the fringes of Russia. He has ridden the presidential campaign trails with Nixon, Kennedy, and Stevenson.

The topic for his RIC talk will be Russia vs. China: Global Conflict?

The lecture will begin at 8:00 p.m. in Roberts Hall and will be open to the public.
1919

Mary Lonergan Cantwell toured Europe this summer and Frances Horton of Bristol retired in June and left August 20th for an indefinite stay in Europe. She had been in charge of special classes, kindergartens

and first grades. She and her husband
now plan to spend some time traveling.

1920

Fannie Young Dudley (Mrs. Raymond) retired in June from Dutemple
School, Cranston.

1929

Twenty-four members attended the 1964 reunion at Muriel Place's home in Greenville, June 7 — a steak dinner with Sam himself as chef. The Places left almost immediately for a trip to Alaska via Canada.

1931

Helen McCarthy Monaghan (Mrs. John J.) has recently retired after Teaching at Lincoln School, South Attleboro, Mass., for 40 years.

1933

Rose Fasano Ayres (Mrs. Arthur) is assistant guidance director and dean at Portsmouth High School.

1939

The 30th Reunion of the class was held at the Wayland Manor on June 13th with 57 members in attendance. Miss Dorothy T. Reed was chairman. Mary Brennan Bogart was elected to head the committee planning the next reunion to be held in the fall of 1969.

1943

Louise Jones McGuiness (Mrs. Arthur E.) this past June attended commencement exercises in two mid-western universities at which her sons received advanced degrees. Arthur, Jr. was awarded a Ph.D. in English from the University of Wisconsin and has accepted a teaching position at the University of California in Los Angeles. During the same week, her son William received an M.B.A. from the University of Chicago. He is now working for the American Oil Company in that city.

1915

An reunion group met August 25 at the home of Miss Mollie O'Connell in Castle
Hill, Newport. Refreshments were service. There were twelve members present.

Mae Smith Carr of Sarasota, Florida and Jamestown, R. I., president of the January
1915 class was in attendance.

Edna Smith McKeon, who retired in June from her teaching position in Warwick, spent four cool weeks this summer at Falmouth, Mass.

1918

Claire Hart Lennon (Mrs. William J.)
retired in June as an assistant elementary supervisor of the Cranston Schools. Her special interest for the past few years has been the mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed children. She was in charge of special classes, kindergartens
and first grades. She and her husband
now plan to spend some time traveling.

1919

Gertrude Dunn Hannigan, teaching in South Kingstown, is a delegate to Rhode Island Education Association and serves on several state and local committees.
Daughter Elin, in her senior year, completing her master's degree. Son Brian, is at Prep School, and grandson John Michael, "excels" at nursery school.

Genevieve Harrington, recently retired after more than 20 years at the Newport
School, says she leads a peaceful and uneventful life, and adds, "Come to see me but let me know lest I not be at home!"

Irene McMurray LaMonde writes, "R. I. Supreme, I suppose, but the town still needs me!" So do all of us, including her Bill and her grandnephew and niece!

Catherine Lennon says her Cape vacation became instead a change of residence. Her new address is 50 Dartmouth Street, Pawtucket.

1992

Margaret Murray Coleman (Mrs. R. L.) is teaching a Primary Educable class in Special Education in the city of East Providence. As a member of the R. I. Association for Mental Health, she is a Volunteer Worker at the R. I.
Medical Center. During her leisure time she enjoys visiting the New England States. She also went to the World's Fair this summer.

1937

William A. Downies, Head of the Navy
Underwater Sound Laboratory's Anti­ Submarine Warfare Sonar Division at
New London, has been awarded the Laboratory's 1964 Commanding Officer and Director's Award for Scientific Achievement. In presenting the citation and plaque, Captain Richard L. Conlan, Jr., commended Mr. Downies for "his outstanding contributions to the U. S.
Navy's research and development program leading to advanced surface ship sonar systems and particularly for his outstanding leadership in the program to introduce new echo-ranging techniques and capabilities into the Fleet."

1939

Emily Borjes Camara (Mrs. Fred) of Bristol, R. I., has a son, Kenneth, entering the freshman class at RIC. Her daughter, Elizabeth, is enrolled as a sophomore.

Teddie L. Liard is a regional geographer with the U. S. Department of the Interior in Washington, D. C.

1941

Joseph A. Murray, a P.C. "special" with this class, has been named Assistant Superintendent of Cranston Schools. He was previously principal of Hugh B. Bain
Jr. High School in Cranston.

1942

Wallace Mason has recently been appointed to the Cumberland Library Board to assist in improving existing libraries.

Muriel Vaughn Mackie (Mrs. Terrence) acquired her M. A. Degree from Rhode Island College this past June.

1943

Carl M. Steinwechs received his 8

master of science in teaching degree from Union College this summer. He is a teacher at Mahopac High School, Mahopac, Conn.

Elizabeth Murphy Kelley (Mrs. Charles) is attending the Summer Institute in Guidance and Counseling at URI under an N.S.F. grant.

1944

Louis Ruggiero Hunter (Mrs. George) received her Master of Education degree in Special Education from Rhode Island College in June. At present, she is serving on the Bristol Art Museum Committee for 1944 season.

1946

Mary O'Malley has moved to 65 Rowe Street, Pawtucket. Mary has been promoted to principal of the Hunt Street School in Central Falls. Look forward to exciting news about Mary in the Spring issue.

Rose Donatelli Lamborghini lives on Brooklyn Road, in Massachusetts, with her husband, Jack, and three daughters and a son. Jack is president of the Lamont Corporation, consulting engineer.

Ruth Beaven Harrison is living in Pawtucket and teaching in Seekonk. Ruth has a son and two daughters—Bryan, 15; Dale, 12; and Carol, 9.

1949

Anthony D'Antuono has been elected assistant superintendent of schools in Brockton, Mass. Principal of Cohasset High School since 1954, he holds a master's degree from Boston University and is currently studying for a doctorate.

1950

George Galiépau, who teaches at Barrington High School, received his Master of Science in Teaching degree from Union College in August.

1951

Congratulations to Joseph P. Devine, Jr., on being appointed superintendent in the Newport school system. Joe has just successfully competed two years as superintendent in Jamestown, R. I.

Helen Agronick Smith (Mrs. Alfred) and her family have moved from Cranston to 7 Meridian Way, Jonesville, New York. Helen is a homemaker and mother of five children.

1952

L.C.D.R. Arthur DeTonnancourt and his wife, Christine (Emidy) will be in Washington, D.C. for about nine months. Arthur will be working in Post Graduate Intelligence Training at the Defense Intelligency School. Until recently, they have been stationed in Bristol, Maine.

Phyllis Cambre, who visited in Ashaway this summer, teaches fifth grade in Ossining, N. Y., and is audio-visual coordinator for her school. Phyllis received a certificate in remedial reading from Boston University and her M.A. in special education from Columbia University. This summer, she was given a New York State grant to attend a workshop in programmed instruction at Plattsburg. She has been in Ossining since 1955 and has done experimental work with 8mm. films and has written scripts for ten film cartoons.

Two of our master of education recipients have been honored recently.

Charles A. O'Connor, Jr., superintendent of Newport schools and, previous to that, a teacher and principal in Pawtucket, was named superintendent in Warren, was named superintendent of Providence schools to replace Dr. James Hanley who retired.

Michael Sevoret, Ed.M., vice-principal at Bristol Senior High School since 1958, has been named principal of that school. He had taught in the junior and senior high schools of Bristol since 1935.

Vincent F. Triggler of Cumberland, who is an assistant professor at RIC, has been awarded a doctor of philosophy degree in education by the University of Connecticut. Vin, an Army veteran, received his master’s from RIC in 1953.

John A. Watters (Ed.M.), principal of the George J. Penney Junior-Senior High School, East Hartford, Conn., received his Ph.D. from the University of Connecticut in June.

Herbert W. Waugh received his master of education degree this summer from Framingham State College.

Barbara Murphy Smith, has joined her husband, Robert, on the faculty of American International College. She will be an instructor in the department of education. Barbara is now a resident of Amhurst, Mass.

Roland Blais has been appointed to teach at the new Lincoln Junior-Senior High School.

Matthew O. Grzyd, M.Ed., has been appointed an instructor of instrumental music in the Medford, Mass. schools.

Robert G. V. Knight has been appointed an elementary principal in the Warwick schools.

Nicholas P. Cariglia (Ed.M.) has been appointed principal of Warren High School.

1956

D. Elaine Steitz Locklear teaches 28 first and second grade pupils in Kodiak, Alaska. She has taught Paul (4 years) and Steven (2 years) and is also vice president of the navy wives club.

1957

Peg Anderson McKenna (Mrs. Leo) recently moved to 84 N. 27th Woodvale, Winfield, Illinois 61096. The McKennas have a son Steven and a daughter Nancy who has started kindergarten this month.

Elena Crecente Dolan (Mrs. James III) and her husband toured Puerto Rico on their honeymoon. They are now living at 12 Spencer St., West Warwick.

Lucy D. Medeiros (Ext.) was the commencement speaker at the graduation exercises of Husson College in June. She has been a frequent panelist in connection with the National Association of Business Teacher Education. She was on the faculty at the University of Michigan Hospital School and has conducted many workshops throughout the country.

Elaine and Eleanor Demarjian, Woonsocket sixth grade teachers who are twins, received their Master of Arts degrees from the University of Connecticut last June.

Frances Makowski will teach in the fourth grade at Millis, Conn., this year. She has taught in Burrillville and in Bristol, R. I.

Robert Quigley received the degree of doctor of chiropractic from the Chiropractic Institute of New York in August. He plans to continue studying in New York for another year before returning to practice in Newport!

Peter Kahanian was appointed to teach English and Social Studies at West Barrington Junior High School. He formerly taught school in Pawtucket.

John Staknis has been appointed to teach English at Stamford (Connecticut) High School. He taught for five years in Fineallas Park, Florida, before moving to Stafford.

Herbert L. McLintec (Ext.) a teacher of drafting and mathematics at East Providence Senior High School, announced his candidacy for town assessor of Berkley, Mass.

Nancy H. Paine has been transferred from Tokyo, Japan, to Paris, France, where she will teach in the dependents' schools of the U. S. Armed Forces. Nancy has taught for two years in the East, where she travelled widely and had such interesting experiences as presenting her own television series.

1960

Mary M. Malley Morrissey (Mrs. Raymond) is now living at 16 Lakewood Drive, North Attleboro, with her husband and two daughters.

Susan M. Hines has been appointed to teach first grade at Stephen Palmer School in Needham, Massachusetts. Last year she taught in Cranston.

Paulette Petranti of charleston, R. I., a foreign language teacher at Stonington (Connecticut) High School, was awarded a National Defense Education Scholarship for study in foreign languages. He participated in a graduate seminar in Modern French for six weeks at Hamilton College, New York, last summer.

David Duftan of Coventry has received a federal grant for professional training in the education of handicapped children.

Frances E. Bullock attended the NDEA Institute for Secondary School Teachers of French at Goucher College in Baltimore last summer. The program consisted of seven weeks of language instruction, with emphasis on the structural and conversational aspects of the French language and its function in the classroom. Frances teaches English and French at the E. S. Brown School in Swampscott, Mass.

1963

Bernard Singleton of Central Falls has been appointed to teach social studies at the Dighton-Rehoboth Regional High School.

Michael P. Brennan of Cranston was one of twelve Rhode Islanders who were enrolled in summer courses for counselor aides and advisors to unemployed youth. The program was sponsored by the U. S. Labor Department.

Robert Schmidt of Pawtucket was appointed to the Social Studies Department of Scituate Junior-Senior High School.

John H. Hines, Jr., has been granted an academic award of half tuition by the Boston College Law School, having achieved a rank of second in a class of 160. He has been invited to become a member of the staff of the Boston College Industrial and Commercial Law Review.

Sheila Oglin, who received a master of arts degree from Brown University, will teach English in Lincoln Junior High School this year. Arlene P. Schreiner is serving this year as a Papal Volunteer (PAULA) in British Honduras, where she will teach in a state-owned, Catholic high school. A resident of Seekonk, Mass., she has taught during the past year at St. Margaret’s school in Rumford.

1964

Mary M. Dubois has been elected master of the Anthony Grange. Claire M. Giannamore has been enrolled at Boston University in a course for counselor aids and advisors to un-employment youth. The course was sponsored by the U.S. Labor Department. Gordon Rowley will study art this year at the University of Leeds in England.

Samuel Viker has entered the Officer’s Training program of the U.S. Air Force.

WEDDINGS

1957

Carmel Lucy Scardera to David Stephen McMahon, on August 22.

1959

Nora I. Kontarski to Guy P. Marchetti, on August 22, 1964. At home: 75 Cypress Road Seekonk, Mass.

1962

Ann C. Schattle to Lt. (j.g.) William D. Dolan, on August 8, 1964.

Diana J. Paine of Providence to Douglas S. Gregory, on June 28.

Dorene A. Noisoux of Pawtucket to Thone J. Coelho of Rumford, on June 20, 1964.

Ann Marie Degnan of Providence to Terry P. Byron on April 25.

1963

Carol A. Lanoureaux of Cranston to Arthur P. Plante of Woonsocket. At home: 37 Woodland Road, Cranston.

Sheila F. Ogni of Pawtucket to Richard Veronica A. Murphy and Robert J. and J. Petrucci.

Powers, on August 8, 1964. At home: High Service Ave., North Providence.

Suzanne E. Meharg and Robert J. Rouleau, on August 8, 1964. At home: University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.

Mary-Jane Lepley and Eugene A. Brickach, on August 8, 1964. At home: University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.

Denise M. Garneau of Woonsocket to Edoard C. Auger (1963) of Woonsocket, on June 20, 1964. At home: 112 Earle Street, Woonsocket.

Theresa M. Bisbon of Bristol to Albert R. Marcello of Barrington, on June 27, 1964. At home: #3 Hamilton Drive, Barrington.

Patricia H. Compton of Slaterville to Robert F. Rolger, on June 21, 1964. At home: Cleveland, Ohio.

Dorothy G. Hannon of Providence to Glen R. Williston of Tiverton, on July 4, 1964. At home: Bristol, Conn.

Bette M. Kling of Warwick to Clinton D. Kornegay, on August 9, 1964. At home: Cranston, R.I.

Marie A. Chirico to Edmond J. Lenoi of Chambers Street. At home: 322 Louise A. Leonasseur of East Providence to Terrence C. Fitzgerald on August 9, 1964. At home: East Hartford, Conn.

Joan Manchester to John DiBiase of Providence, on June 27, 1964.

Janet M. Tedesco of Cranston to Lyle E. Perra of Cranston, on August 29, 1964.

Joyce H. Raleigh of Johnston to Stanley Walsh, on July 11, 1964. At home: Davis Ave., Cranston.

Ruth A. Sheidow of Cranston David Thompson, on June 13, 1964.

Marilyn R. Shahbaz to Robert E. Winsor, on June 13, 1964. At home: 49 Marden St., Cranston.

BIRTHS

1952

To Mr. and Mrs. John R. Jennings (Doris Callahan) a son, Gregory Callahan, on August 1, 1964.

1951

To Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. O'Neill, Jr. (Jocelyn McNanna) their fifth child and third daughter, Jocelyn Ann, on March 12, 1964.

1952

To Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Neill Lewers (Jon France Shae) a daughter, Patricia Ann, on May 23rd at Dallas, Texas.

1956

To Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haskell (Bette J. Herrick) on June 10, 1964, a daughter Elizabeth Jean. One other child — a son, Robbie.

To Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Tetreault, their fifth child and third son, Edward Richard, born June 12, 1964 in Farmington, Conn.

1957

To Mr. and Mrs. Peter McKnight (Joan Sandra Hynson) their first child, Andrew Kirk, on June 6, 1964.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Migneault (Natalie DiPonte) their fourth child, Patricia Lynn, on June 18, 1964.

To Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bellemore (Marlyn Matrumano) their second daughter, Marilyn Isabel, on March 13, 1964.

To Mr. and Mrs. John G. Cramshaw (Lois Dehnelman) their second daughter, Nancy Hadfield, on April 4, 1964.

1963

To Mr. and Mrs. Fran Spicola (Carla A. Tucea) their first child, a daughter, Maria Giovina, on April 10, 1964.

1968

To Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Boucher (Marilyn Grady), a daughter, Karen Ann, on July 16 in Bel Air, Maryland.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Y. Chaika (Elaine Hill), a son, Jeremy David, on August 17.

To Lt. and Mrs. Stanley N. Bastien USAF (Linda Spacagna), a son, Steven Paul, on June 19.

To Mr. and Mrs. William E. Evans (Dorothea Heslin), a daughter, Susan Maureen, on August 14.

To Mr. and Mrs. Timothy B. Sullivan (Louise Ryan), their second child and first daughter, Mary Louise, on July 4.

To Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Evans (Patricia Coughlin), a son, Patrick Joseph, on July 18.

To Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Grant, (Geraldine Croce), a son, David Gerald, on June 27.

To Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reynolds (Rose Ellen Smith), a daughter, Christine Marie, on August 23.

To Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson (Virginia Nicholson), twin boys, Stephen and Paul, in August.

1964

To Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nicholas (Ellen Ledoux) a daughter, Amy Jean, on July 14, 1964.

WE NOTE WITH REGRET THE PASSING OF...

1906

Alice V. Cronan, retired principal of the former Central Street School, Woonsocket, unexpectedly on July 29.

1912

Bertha K. O’Neill O’Donnell (Mrs. Frank), on February 17. A retired teacher, she had been an active member of the executive board of the Alumni for many years, but was confined to a rest home for the past several years.

1913

Anna Flynn Doherty of Green Hill, died on July 17, 1964.

Frances M. Nye, retired New Bedford teacher, died September 4. She had the distinction of having taught the late President John F. Kennedy in the third grade in Dexter School in Brookline. She had also taught in Providence and in Arlington, Mass.

1957

Captain Charles E. Shea III was killed in an automobile accident. He was the husband of the former Evelyn Mackey.

1915

Anna McCull Shea died in Marietta, Georgia. Her husband, Eugene, died last March, and Mrs. Shea died in April.

1919

Marqueterie Hughes, principal of Cranston-Calvet School in Newport, died June 22 after a long illness.

1950

Harold F. Scott (Ed.M.) assistant superintendent of schools in Warwick, died September 4 after a long illness.

1983

Clare G. Risk Dooley (Mrs. Joseph A.) of Providence, a teacher at the Kendall Street School, Central Falls, died June 26, 1964.

1948

Dr. Jacob Hohenemser, Cantor of Temple Emanuel-El, died unexpectedly on August 6 while vacationing in California. His wife, Frieda Bax Hohenemser, is Scheduling Officer at Rhode Island College.
ALUMNI NEWS NOTES SECRETARIES

The restrictions of space will not allow us to list this information in every issue, so we suggest you make careful note of your class news notes secretary and her address. All information received in the Alumni Office will be relayed to the secretary.

1905
Mrs. Emma Blake (Emma Ford)
78 Grove Avenue
East Providence, R. I.
GE 4-1188

1906—1912
Mrs. Leander Emlyn (Betha Andrews)
35 Farnam Pike
Smithfield, R. I.
GE 1-7381

1913
Mrs. Carl Johnson (Ethel Gardner)
42 Denver Avenue
Cranston, R. I.
HO 1-2618

1915
Mrs. John McKeon (Edna Smith)
3 Lambet Street
Cranston, R. I.
HO 1-7979

1916
Stella M. McCann
44 Wyndham Avenue
Providence 8, R. I.
PL 1-9216

1917
Addie M. Gage
23 Peace Street
Warwick, R. I.
HO 7-9110

1918
Mrs. Kieran Farrelly (Catherine Dee)
16 Windham Avenue
Providence, R. I.
DE 1-3852

1919
Mrs. Stephen C. Malley (Elizabeth Walsh)
28 Dayton Avenue
Warwick, R. I.
737-3742

1921
Dr. Mary T. Thorp
521 Rochambeau Ave
Providence, R. I.
PL 1-971

1922
Mrs. James McKivergan (Margaret Barry)
165 Grove Avenue
East Providence, R. I.
GE 4-1977

1924
Mrs. Jeremiah Martin
94 Ruggles Street
Providence, R. I.
PL 1-2341

1925
Mary Beagan
9 Lyndhurst Avenue
Providence 8, R. I.
DE 1-2760

1926
Mrs. James S. Kennedy (Kathryn Keenan)
16 Elmhurst Avenue
Providence 8, R. I.
DE 1-1305

1928
Mary K. Joyce
81 Lenox Avenue
Providence, R. I.
461-5239

1929
Mrs. Harold Murphy
32 Sheffield Avenue
North Providence, R. I.
353-1919

1930
Alice M. Miner
88 Jastram Street
Providence 8, R. I.
UN 1-3489

1931
Mary A. Lynch
719 Smith Street
Providence 8, R. I.
UN 1-3713

1932
Ethel Gardner
Field Hill Road
Scituate, R. I.
647-3160

1933
Mrs. Cornelius Sullivan (Dorothy Meiler)
98 Pleasant Street
Lincoln, R. I.
PA 3-0635

1934
Dorothea King
25 Belvedere Blvd.
North Providence, R. I.
553-2229

1935
Mary T. Higgins
388 Mt. Pleasant Ave
Providence, R. I.
TE 1-3259

1936
Mrs. Elda Coppa (Elda Petrucci)
701 Smith Street
Providence 8, R. I.
JA 1-4471

1937
Mrs. Frances McCabe (Marion Sword)
74 Don Avenue
Rumford, R. I.
GE 4-1525

1938
Mrs. James Gilligan (Helen Page)
18 French Street
Pawtucket, R. I.
PA 5-4136

1939
Mrs. William McDevitt (Huberta Maher)
102 Carrington Avenue
Providence, R. I.
JA 1-2472

1940
Mrs. Henry F. Cauchon
(Mary E. Farrelly)
22 Wyndham Avenue
Providence 8, R. I.
EL 1-3932

1941
Mrs. Raymond T. O'Neill (Jocelyn McNanna)
4 Baron Court
Warwick, R. I.
ST 1-6529

1942
Mrs. Ernest Murby (Virginia Hill)
279 West Avenue
Seekonk, Mass.
ED 6-9286

1943
Mrs. Benton Feinstein (Beatrice Vengerow)
23 Sarah Street
Providence, R. I.
GA 1-8014

1944
Mrs. Ernest Murby (Virginia Hill)
279 West Avenue
Seekonk, Mass.
ED 6-9286

1945
Mrs. George B. Higgins (Doris McGinty)
24 Callan Street
Providence, R. I.
EL 1-5633

1946
Mrs. Jeremiah Martin
94 Ruggles Street
Providence, R. I.
PL 1-2341

1947
Mrs. James Gilligan (Helen Page)
18 French Street
Pawtucket, R. I.
PA 5-4136

1948
Mrs. Mary A. Lynch
719 Smith Street
Providence 8, R. I.
UN 1-3713

1949
Mrs. William McDevitt (Huberta Maher)
102 Carrington Avenue
Providence, R. I.
JA 1-2472

1950
Mrs. Henry F. Cauchon
(Mary E. Farrelly)
22 Wyndham Avenue
Providence 8, R. I.
EL 1-3932

1951
Mrs. Raymond T. O'Neill (Jocelyn McNanna)
4 Baron Court
Warwick, R. I.
ST 1-6529

1952
Mrs. Raymond Durigan (Joanne Hurl)
179 Woodbine Street
Cranston, R. I.
WI 1-6421

1953
Mrs. Albert Kraus
(Marilyn Lace)
Wheaton Street
South Douglas, Mass.

1954
Mrs. Stephen J. O'Neil
278 Golley Avenue
Warwick, R. I.
739-1341

1955
Mrs. Robert Belanger
(Virginia Gregory)
17 Revolution Street
Providence, R. I.
TU 4-8283

1956
Mrs. John A. Di Piro
(Ann Sheehan)
50 West Drive
Providence 8, R. I.
JA 1-7914

1957
Mrs. Roger Lacourte
Sheila Laffan
15 Halfax Street
Latham, N. Y.
1958
Mrs. Everett Maxwell
(Diane McDonald)
12 South Lane
Providence, R. I.
867-3729

1959
Mrs. Albert Chequette
(Suzanne Roberge)
493 South Main Street
Woonsocket, R. I.
1960
Kathleen Sharpe
41 Taft Avenue
Edgewood, R. I.
451-9503

Dr. Norman E. Green, Associate Professor of Sociology and Director of Institutional Research at R.I.C. since February, 1963, was killed in an automobile crash July 16 when he was returning to his summer home in Segwick, Maine. A retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, he had served in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Japan, Korea, Europe, and the Virgin Islands. He held the Legion of Merit for research and development of specialized aerial photography for beach intelligence in amphibious operations. In 1946, Dr. Green was buried in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D.C., with full military honors. Friends were invited to send memorial contributions to the Alumni Fund of Rhode Island College.

John Gormley, president of the Junior Class, points out to interested freshmen that the space in the base of the new entrance marker will hold a plaque noting that the structure was built as the Commencement gift of the Class of 1964, with additional funds from Memorial gifts to the College by the classes of 1912 and 1937, and from the Alumni Fund. The class of 1945, whose gift sign this marker replaces, will also be listed as a donor.

Another memorial gift, money given by the class of 1947 in memory of Rosalie Lavalle, has been used to purchase a shelf of French books for the James P. Adams Library.
October 16 — 9 p.m., King Philip Ballroom*
HOMECOMING BALL
October 17 — 2 p.m., Obediah Brown Field
Soccer: RIC vs. ALUMNI
8 p.m., Roberts Hall*
JUG AND JAZZ
November 2 — 8 p.m., Roberts Hall*
F.A.S.: GRANT JOHANESSON, pianist
November 6 — 7:30 p.m., Student Center*
ALUMNI BRIDGE & FASHION SHOW
November 9 — 8 p.m., Roberts Hall
Alumni Lecture: HARRISON SALISBURY
November 12 — 1 p.m., Roberts Hall
Academic Convocation honoring Brown U.
November 20, 21, 22 — RIC Theatre*
November 27-28 — U.S. Dept. of Education Conference
December 8 — 8 p.m., Roberts Hall*
F.A.S.: MODERN DANCE QUARTET
December 16 — 8 p.m., Roberts Hall
Music Concert
JAMES P. ADAMS LECTURES
Makers and Doers
November 16 — 8 p.m., Amos A.R.
VICTOR CANDELL, painter
November 23 — 8 p.m., Amos A.R.
DR. RICHARD B. KERSHNER, scientist
December 1 — 8 p.m., Roberts Hall
RUTH CURRIER AND DANCERS
December 3 — 8 p.m., Amos A.R.
NELSON ALGREN, novelist
December 9 — 8 p.m., Amos A.R.
GALLWAY KINNELL, poet
November 9 — 8 p.m., Roberts Hall
Chamber Music Concerts — 1 p.m. — Little Theatre
Distinguished Films — 7 p.m. — Amos Assembly Room
Soccer — 3:30 p.m. — Obediah Brown Field
September 17, 23, 29, October 1, 13, 17, 31.
Basketball — 8 p.m. — Whipple Gym*
December 1, 5, 9, 19, 28-29, January 9, 15, 30.
* admission charged
admission limited to College Community

OUR STATE IS AS STRONG AS OUR COLLEGES

Approve the State Colleges’ Referendum on November 3rd