Yearlings Elect Edward Sullivan Class President

Climaxing the vigorous campaign for the election of the president of the Class of '44, the Freshmen re­ceived word into Sullivan as their head. This choice brought a

Dr. Lucius Whipple Is Next Chairman of R. I. Institute

Dr. Lucius A. Whipple was recently honored by Rhode Island electors by being elected President of the R. I. Institute of Instruction. As president, he will have charge of arrangements for next year's Institute. The election of Dr. Whipple was the climax of the battle between the supporters of the woman candidate, and those supporting the man candidate.

Although the league has not yet been formally organized and a program has not been made, the following coleges have expressed their interest in membership: Gorham Normal School in Maine, and State Teachers College in Keene, New Hampshire; Salem, Massachusetts; Framingham, Massachusetts; New Haven and Williams, Connecticut.

Debating League To Be Sponsored By College

Demonstrating their feeling of fraternity with other teacher-training institutions of New England, students of Rhode Island College of Education visited other colleges represent­ed at the recent New England Teachers' College-Preparation Conference to form a debating league. The suggestion for this league, the formation of which is to be sponsored by the College, was instigated by President Lucius A. Whipple.

Due to the fact that the league has not yet been formally organized and a program has not been made, the following colleges have expressed their interest in membership: Gorham Normal School in Maine, and State Teachers College in Keene, New Hampshire; Salem, Massachusetts; Framingham, Massachusetts; New Haven and Williams, Connecticut.

This year's Debating League program is the most ambitious one undertaken in recent years. It is as follows:

November 22. James Russo and Fred King meet the Columbia University Debating Team and uphold the staff side on the subject: Resolved: That municipal or local reform can best be accomplished through the medium of the local machine.

December 3. The Portia Club of Rhode Island State College is engaged in a panel discussion of the Far Eastern Policy of the U. S. Continued on Page 2.
Forum

Dear Editor,

Concerning the column "Times Up?"

After reading your feature which dealt with the so-called YOUTH PROBLEM, I must express my opinion on this subject so often discussed by people in recent years. I do not wish to criticize the writer of this article. I realize that she was voicing an opinion, if she is a sincere, perhaps, but misguided.

I believe that I am quite correct in assuming myself to be classified as a youth, and I am proud of that classification. But, I do resent very deeply being considered part of a so-called "youth problem". I am ashamed that even a small portion of my contemporaries should consider themselves, perhaps, but misguided.

That even a small portion of youth as reflected in the Youth Congress and the Boy Scouts, in the United Nations, in the hearing of the annual New England Teacher-Preparation Conference, or by listening to talks held in connection with Education Week sponsored by the N.E.A., in addition to newspapers and these various events, is still another potent means by which students of the College can keep posted on current happenings. This is the periodical section in the Main Library, discovered and utilized by few. This collection of professional magazines affords students an opportunity to read a variety and number of such periodicals as they will find in no other of the state's libraries.

Many students consider themselves fortunate if their libraries subscribe to The Science News, or The Nation, The English Journal, or The Mathematics Teacher.

The College's collection contains such varied types that there is a magazine for every phase of interest in education. For those interested in special subjects, there are The Library Journal, The Mathematics Teacher, The School Review, and The Instructor. The first and last of these three are equally rich in material that can actually be used in the classroom—poetry, plays, stories, and units of activity in social studies and art. For reading to answer the interest of both teacher and administrator, there is The Journal of the National Education Association and School Life, the official journal of the United States Office of Education. In the November issue of these magazines are found articles dealing with popular topics of discussion; education's part in safeguarding democracy; the relation of education to such great governmental agencies as A.A. and W.W.I; the Curriculum Revision Program; the schools and War; and school and social relations. If you have notmade any acquaintances, and if you want to read something vital, then drop in at the Main Library and browse among the periodicals for a while.

Alma Mater

There has been a noteworthy resemblance of college spirit this year among both students and faculty. The disappearance of negatives once rampant and the growth of staunch loyalty have been due to the fulfilment of improvements long promised to a discontented student body and a new action taken to study and revise the curriculum, until recently a source of internal ferment, but the college building has had its face lifted and has lost its time-worn appearance.

During the past summer vacation, fireproof stairways and modern shower rooms were completed. Since then, floors in the corridors and auditorium have been refinished. Interior decorators have hung attractive blue curtains in the Dean's office, the office of the Director of Training, and in Room 102, soon to be a college reception room. More hangings are being placed in Room 102, soon to be a college reception room. More hangings are

---

DEBATING

Continued from Page 1

Olivia Weeden and Amelia Wargiok of the debate team at Rhode Island College at this Assembly Program.

December 5. Fitchburg at Fitchburg College. Resolved: That a defense measure, wealth in the U.S. should be conscripted. Those taking part are Metro Kwasnicki, Robert Brum, and Frances Milligan.

December 13. (Pending) Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Rhode Island College of Education.

January 17—University of Maine at Maine.

February 14. C.C.N.Y. at C.C.N.Y.

February 15. New York University at New York University.

Other debates pending with Tufts and Salem.
OPEN HOUSE

The Italian Club of other colleges will be held on Tuesday, November 26, at 8:00 p.m., in the college reception room. This annual reception given by Il Circolo Manzoni will have as guests students from Brown University, Pembroke College, Providence College, and Rhode Island State College.

The hostsess at the reception will be Josephine Calabro, club president, Elena Calabro, and Anne McDonnell.

RECEPTION HEAD

The club president will welcome the students and will introduce the speaker of the evening, Professor Fred J. Donovan. The theme of Professor Donovan's address will be "Are President of Our Day?"

JOSEPHINE CALABRO

Doris Bettez, Kazmira Bielawski, Belinda Callender, Josephine Calabro, Mary Stafford, Lucille D'Amato, Barbara Bevan, William McKenna, Barbara Geoghegan, Frances Grabin, and Margaret Wahle.

ALL-COLLEGE

Continued from Page 1

Andrew J. Buxton, John F. Lahey, and William H. Gregory.

Continued from Page 1

The importance of several students in affairs of this college has been recognized by the 1941 edition of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. This honor signifies excellence not only in scholarship but also in extra-curricular activities. Twelve students in addition to three of last year have been asked to submit material about their college life to the editors of the book.

The information desired is divided into two parts. The first is a biographical data of the student. Following this the student's speech from high school to the present and the second, is a survey sheet asking reactions to current affairs and a number of miscellaneous questions.

The invited guests include Dr. Edward J. Connolly, the President of the college, and the Vice-President of the college, who will introduce the speaker. The reception will be held in the college auditorium and will be attended by all the students and faculty of the college. The reception will be open to the public and all are welcome to attend.

RECEPTION HEAD

The guests at the reception will be the following: Josephine Calabro, club president, Elena Calabro, and Anne McDonnell.

OFF THE RECORD

The most interesting news this month is the announcement of the distribution of the "World's Greatest Music in Providence." This project has been a highly successful one in New York, Boston, and other cities, and is the idea of a National Committee for Music Appreciation, headed by the noted writer and musician, John E. Botsford. Its idea is to bring music to the largest number of people at the lowest cost. The famous orchestras and conductors have offered their services, foregoing the usual royalties. In this way, the records can be sold at cost price.

The project has succeeded admirably in its aim. There is only one fault with the records. Unfortunately, it is one of the most important. When we criticize a record, we do not rate so well. The reproductions (1), the performance (2), the reproduction (3), the performance (4), the reproduction (5), the record surface (6). These sets score balls-on-the first four points, but the fifth is the weak spot. The surfaces are quite poor, becoming scratchy after six or seven playings, even with a thorn needle.

The first of the symphonies is Schubert's, the Unfinished. As I said before, the interpretation and performances are excellent. Of course, it may not be said that the music will appeal to all listeners. Nearly everyone is familiar with the main theme of the first movement, which was tucked up and turned out as "You Are My Song of Love." The next set, Beethoven's Immortal, Fifth, is also excellent. But these are the records which offered the first of which is Cornish, do not rate so well.

The singers range from good to very good, but not all of them bring something new to each of the sets. These sets also suffer from something the symphonies did not: very poor recording, and the records are very scratchy. The difference is that the records are being sold, not given away.

The operas offered, the first of which is Cornish, do not rate so well. The singers range from good to very good, but not all of them bring something new to each of the sets. These sets also suffer from something the symphonies did not: very poor recording, and the records are very scratchy. The difference is that the records are being sold, not given away.

The opera offered, the first of which is Cornish, do not rate so well. The singers range from good to very good, but not all of them bring something new to each of the sets. These sets also suffer from something the symphonies did not: very poor recording, and the records are very scratchy. The difference is that the records are being sold, not given away.

6:00 - 8:00 p.m. - The reception will be held in the college auditorium and will be attended by all the students and faculty of the college. The reception will be open to the public and all are welcome to attend.

7:30 - Will someone page Emily Tompkins? She is called for her store. We should have her here by 8:00. She is a good student and we need her here.

8:00 - We will listen to the reception. The theme of the reception will be "Are President of Our Day?"

10:00 p.m. - The flowers from the banquet table provided suitable souvenirs; we bid you good night.

In conclusion, this was a most enjoyable evening. We hope that you will attend future receptions and help us to make them a success.

DIARY

Continued from Page 1

The Red Cross is calling upon students to take up the challenge of the "Red Cross Challenge." The goal is to increase the number of student members to 200. The challenge includes::

1. Wit, humor, action, and dialogue—25%
2. Continuity—15%
3. Commercialization—10%
4. Costuming—10%
5. Appropriateness—10%
6. Plot—10%
7. All scripts for Stunt Night must be submitted by Frank Milligan or James Russo before November 15.

RED CROSS

Continued from Page 1

Continued from Page 1

Continued from Page 1

The program will be held in the college auditorium and will be attended by all the students and faculty of the college. The program will be open to the public and all are welcome to attend.

ATTENTION CAMERA FANS

The Anchor will take photographs of students performing in the college connected with the College. So don't miss your chance to be photographed!

Sportsquets of Rhode Island

New York Lace Store

280-10 BROAD STREET

PASSEY, R. I.

Have you seen these new

GLEN MILLER

Bluebird Records

35c each - for $1

Moby Dick House

Bluespin Top for

J. O'Connell & Handel of Stars

The Corker Stand

Tenterden

35c each - for $1

Moby Dick House

Bluespin Top for

J. O'Connell & Handel of Stars

The Corker Stand

Tenterden

The OUTLET
Dr. Daniel L. Marsh
Address Educators

In observance of American Education Week a program was held in the college auditorium on Wednesday, November 13. The highlights of the program included the presentations delivered by Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University.

Dr. Marsh based his talk on his recent address at the Providence Convention. He interpreted Americanism in terms of canon rather than canon. Defining a canon as an authoritative rule, he showed how seven documents of this country compared with similar books of the Bible and composed a truly American canon which all elements could uphold. Among those mentioned were the Mayflower Compact, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and Lincoln’s Inaugural Address.

Prior to the address, greetings were extended by Dr. James F. Rootert, Dr. Ukraina A. Whibley, Consultant Edward H. Zeigler, and Mrs. William R. Howard, representatives of the American Legion; the Director of Education, the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction, the American Legion, Department of Rhode Island and the Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Music was provided by Miss Nellie Foulke and Miss Esther Greenberg from the Concert Bureau of the Monday Morning Music Club, and by Miss Mary F. Walsh.

Barnard Notes

Over one hundred parents took advantage of open house at Henry Barnard School, Thursday, November 14, and visited classrooms in which actual classes were in progress.

Miss McArele, of the English Department, spoke at the New England Conference of Teachers of English, held in the Rhode Island Hot, where the topic she chose was “Grammar—Oblivion or Rejuvenation.”

The Mothers’ Club is holding a Bridge and Safe this afternoon. Candy and cakes are among the articles that will be sold and one member of our faculty to come to the store, buy some gum, and then offer it to some of her students.

Hot Tip

Stop now—unless you’re interested in the realm of higher mathematics—stay away. The conference which went to Boston was floored when the time came to decide what to take the waiter when the bill was $30.

Mary Munion, holding etiquette dear (via Emily Post), said the tip should have been 10-1 of the bill—Joe Brady held something else dearer the purse strings—but finally consented.

After a deep huddle, the great decision was made. All 10-1 of 20 would be $1—or so they thought. The plate was removed—then flash! A bright-eyed member of the group had just concluded at a different answer—could it be? Another huddle. Yes, bright college was correct. One-tenth of $20 is $2. Garoon, the plate please. Terror was written over Garon’s face, but it soon disappeared with the additional green.

All This—"

REVIEW

The plays are over but their memory lingers on. This incident at rehearsal paces Wallace Mason on the record (pun). Having introduced the protocol at the press conference after Bob Taylor McCombidge’s molar attacked it, Mason said offered to exchange it for the life of the casanova?

Although Miss Cuzer insisted her wedding band was part of her costume, Metoe Kgwansi did his best to help her out of the dress by offering to kiss the bride—

tHERE’S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

—but for most college it seems to be later. Witches and ghosts at Eve Couple’s Hall are seen many familiar faces with that Rican look.

Purist of sleepwalking took second place to the jigsaw puzzle made for Hannah Finsen (Brown game) and Margaret Briggs (State Waccies game). Note: A wet was had by all.

To swing or not to swing was not an issue discussed at a P.C. dance by Dot Foley, Terry Enson, Peggy Sullivan, and Kathryn Reardon. P.S. They swing.

Rolling around and around doesn’t sound like much fun, does it? But it is fun on skates—ask Ruth Fox and Margaret Holden who attended a roller skating party recently.

RED LIGHT

Under classroom having difficulty understanding the integrated personality (Psychology) are advised to consult Beth Crook, who was the greatest. Proof? Ask the Garcon’s face, but it soon disappeared—of the number of contributions.

1. The following was handed in to an anonymous and traditional for theme, we hear from the Pater-

2. Next comes the person who answers. He apparently answers in hopes of getting a high grade only by the best of the number of contributions.

3. We have, next, the sly type who answers only when he is absolutely sure of being right.

Last comes the person who answers. He apparently answers in hopes of getting a high grade only by the best of the number of contributions.

The Mothers’ Club is holding a Bridge and Safe this afternoon. Candy and cake are among the articles that will be sold and one member of our faculty to come to the store, buy some gum, and then offer it to some of her students.

The French Club will hold a supper on December 4. The committee planning the arrangements includes Ann Willard, chairman; Helen Lafferty, Anna McDonald, and Cherie Oliver, ex-officio.

For All Your Apparel Needs
The Fashion Shops
Second Floor

The Anchors Support Fall Programs

Members of the W.A.W. will donate their services to the American Red Cross on December 5, to sew labels on garments.

A program of Christmas music will be presented by A Cappella Choir just before the Christmas vacation. Regular rehearsals of the Choir are held Tuesday evenings at 8:00 p.m.

Later in the season the Choir will take part in two dramatic productions, Trial by Jury and Cox and Box.

Officers recently elected are Ann Emond, president; Wallace Mason, vice president; Louise Aud, secretary; and Edith Rybak, treasurer.

The proceeds from the Charles Carroll Dance Club will be used to refurbish the club room. At present Lund will be painted, floor covering, new furniture, and new types. A color scheme of scarlet and blue will be carried out.

A faculty hobby, library, in which much nature hobbies will participate, will be an unusual feature of the Nature Club held to be held November 25. The committee organizing the event includes Thelma Khemsky, chairman; Virginia Crowell, Lois Murray, Alice Knott, Jean Hallahan, and Katherine Leech, ex-officio.

"All This—"

For the Holiday Season! get into unblemished wood with the aromatic OIL PERMANENT WAVE Compound with Shinpaku and Sensing. They have no equal! with our Service Wall-in Strayer BEAUTY MART 47 Washington Street Ma. 3362 This Week in the Garden Restaurant...

Two Shows Nightly No Cover Charge - Dinner from $1.43 PROVIDENCE-BILMORTE