Seven Senior Speakers to Address
Class and Ivy Day Gathering June 16

Dr. Bagley, Speaker

The Epson Rho Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society in the field of education, was instituted at the College Thursday evening, May 25, when Dr. William C. Bagley, President Emeritus Teachers College, Columbia University, formally installed forty students as charter members.

Dr. Lucius A. Whipple, who was instrumental in securing the College's acceptance into the society, presented Dr. Bagley to the group. During the course of the business meeting Dr. Frederick J. Donovan was unanimously chosen chairman of the Chapter. Elected to the charter slate of officers, who will retain their positions for one year, were Matilda Liberti, President; Gabrielle Beausoleil, Vice-President; Marie Gawrada, Historian-Reporter; Florence Genua, Secretary, and Shirley Carr, Treasurer.

Following the installation of officers, at a banquet in the College Cafeteria for the newly initiated members and their faculty friends, Dr. Bagley briefly reviewed the history of the society and stated its ideals. The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi is to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education. Persons exhibiting commendable personal qualities, worthy educational ideals, and sound scholarship are invited to membership.

Epson Rho members consist of twenty-four Seniors and sixteen Juniors, namely: Seniors, Grace Almeida, Cecilia A. Donovan, Betty Hope Carey, Shirley Carr, Claire Ducharme, Gertrude Duffy, Mary DuPont, Bessie Fahdala, Frances Farrin, Lillian Farrin, Marie Gawrada, Florence Genua, Alicia Harrington, Estelle Hunt, Mary Kelly, Mary Lafeby, Matilda Liberti, Julia Lynch, Lucille Riley, Barbara Shevlin, Jean Wheelor, Marion Wright, and Mrs. Zampini; Juniors, Gabrielle Beausoleil, Charles Brickley, Geraldine Carley, and Faustine Conner.

Seniors to Gather
For Last Banquet

Gathering in the College Cafeteria, the Seniors will eat, drink, and be merry, at the Senior Banquet to be held June 16, at 7:30 p.m. The caterer for the occasion is Lem. President, Dr. Lucius A. Whipple, Miss Catherine M. Connor, Miss Hellen A. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Donovan, Miss Adelaie M. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Underhill and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Waite will be guests of the Class.

In charge of the event is Muriel Benson, chairman, and members of the class social committee.

With all the pomp and splendor characteristic of one of the College's oldest traditional ceremonies, the Class and Ivy Day Exercises will be held at the College Campus, Friday, June 16. Commencing at two o'clock, the procession of Faculty and Seniors, escorted by thirty-two Sophomores bearing the daisy chain, will march to the Campus where President Lucius A. Whipple will greet the graduating class and visitors.

Speeches by the following outstanding Seniors will constitute the highlights of the program, Marie Z. Gawrada, Class History; Marjorie J. Latham, Class Ode; Grace M. Almeida, Class Day Oration; Marion J. Wright, Address to Graduates; Kathryn M. Beards, Address to Undergraduates; Muriel M. Benson, Tribute to Senior Men in Service; Martha C. Madigan, Ivy Oration.

During the course of the program, the Seniors will sing their winning Class Alma Mater and Class Choral Song. Bringing the program to a close will be the last Class Sing under the direction of Senior song leader, Katharyn M. Beards.

Arrangements for Class and Ivy Day ceremonies were completed by a committee consisting of Marion Foster, chairman, Grace Almeida, Norma Crabtree, Lillian Castrovil, Lillian Farrin, Lucille Riley, and Marion Wright, ex-officio.

Marchals for the procession are Elizabeth Lennon, 45, Kathleen Emin, 45, Mildred Brennan, 46, and Kathleen Emin, 45.

Three Clergymen
To Participate in Vesper Service

In accordance with the customs of the College, the Senior Class will hold its annual Vesper Service in the College Auditorium on Sunday, June 11, at four o'clock. Participating in the exercises will be three clergymen. Rabbi Israel M. Goldman of Temple Emanuel, New York City, and Reverend Arthur E. Wilson of the Beneficent Congregational Church will read a passage from the Scripture, and Reverend Thomas F. Conlon will pronounce the benediction. President Lucius A. Whipple will deliver a message to the graduates as the ceremonies come to a close with the singing of the two selections by the Choir under the direction of Miss Gertrude E. McGurrle.

Following the service, the graduating class will hold an informal reception.

Workshop to Reopen;
Dr. Weston Heads Program Committee

The Conservation Workshop, so successful in its pioneer summer of 1945, will further its program of investigating water and soil conditions at Goddard Park from June 25 to July 8. Attempting to make this season as pleasant as well as worthwhile is the committee headed by Dr. Marion D. Weston, and composed of Miss W. Christina Carlson, Mr. Brayton Eddy, Dr. Basil E. Gilbert, Miss Ruth M. Gilmore, Miss Helen P. Luther, Mr. Harold L. Madison, and Mr. John G. Read.

Sole object of the Workshop this year is to equip teachers and well-farmed citizens with a firsthand knowledge of natural resources together with an understanding of their significance in the lives of people of the present and future. Accordingly, a course of instruction has been carefully planned, and competent instructors have been selected. Included in the program are the following courses: Natural Resources, Human Resources, Forests, and Forest...
THE QUESTION OF ELECTIVES

In every type of college, but especially in a teacher-training institution such as ours, where one whole semester is devoted to training, the question of electives is an important one.

The time, in his four years, during which a student takes an elective is of utmost importance. Training emplies all classes at the College for one semester. Many students, upon their return, have found that there is no opportunity to take a subject which had been offered while he was training. Perhaps, if he had seen an elective which was based on the courses for four years, the most desired electives could have been taken the year before, and another subject omitted.

With the present system, elective decisions are often made within a short time during the opening day of the semester. Too often, the subjects are not wisely chosen, thus hindering many who are interested in particular subjects.

A pre-arranged rotating system of electives constructed on a four-year scale and permanently placed on the bulletin boards would be of great benefit to the student body.

The Author

Published monthly by the students of Rhode Island College of Education

Vol. XVI

June 9, 1944

No. 7

In Retrospect

A week from tomorrow another class will have graduated from the Rhode Island College of Education; another group of prepared to have the continuation of the fulfillment of our privileges and opportunities. We know freedom to hear carefree questions of electives is an important one. We have seen the wake of a persiscope on a few occasions, but I ever saw was water.

North Africa was as I had imagined. Casablanca, Oran, Algiers, and Tunis are places not to visit, if you travel abroad. The poverty, filth, and disease lend a somber aspect to the surrounding countryside. The white buildings rising against the sky, the quaintly narrow winding streets, the picturesque costumes of the natives, the beauty of flowers and leaves, both enhance their appeal against these qualities.

Italy, on the other hand, seems to present a different picture. Here is a country in which construction after the war on damaged man-made objects might not be as difficult as changing the teachings of the Fascists. In talking to young students, it is interesting to find a good idea of power of state over individual. The people seem connected with the party and are very patriotic. School attendance here is required for five years with possibilities of continuing after that limited by financial conditions. It was especially towards those who went on that the philosophy, the drill, the understanding of the period being.

The average "G.I." sums up the situation by saying, "These people think differently than we do." There is some intangible quality lacking which the invading "Yank" can sense. It might be in the laughter, to ride a roller coaster in the park; to have the thrill of a good loaded; and to know the glee of a holiday crowd on a busy street without the "thud" of soldiers marching.

Of personal experiences there is little to relate. In North Africa we rode in an archaic system of communication which is "family" termed the "forty-and-eight." It's really a box car which bears the misleading inscription, "forty men or eight horses." We got a "break" with only thirteen men and a "Lister" bag which splashed all at intervals.

My first experience with an air raid was disconcerting since when the alarm sounded I threw my helmet on the head completely forgetting it was filled with water. This didn't stop me from heading towards a trench, however.

The student body and faculty made an impression on me, especially Miss Catherine L. Cusser, College Librarian, upon the death of her mother, Mrs. William Cusser, Cusser, of Worchester, Mass. I, at Groton, New Hampshire.

Once again thanks for the papers and best wishes,

Ed Raleigh

Servicemen

Italy

Dear Editor,

This letter is belated but I have found it impossible to write as much as I would. The Anchor is most thoroughly read, with the "Service Letter-Box" of particular interest, because of the information on the various subjects take up most of our time with the balance filled with drill and P. T. I have not yet received my barracks bags so I am a bit short on socks and such. I even drew a additional "Yank" on every day, everything was very, very surprising. Today I was discussing the shortage of fellows at the college with someone down here, and it seems it will take a long time to build it up to its former number. When I was a freshmen there was the shortage of fellows and though I don't claim they were a benefit to the college, they certainly added to the requirements added by any number of women.

See you soon I hope,

Jim Sullivan

North Carolina

June 1, 1944

We have a full day down here starting at six of the morning and finishing with church at seven a.m. Checking in the morning, we had seen various subjects take up most of our time with the balance filled with drill and P.T. We have not yet received my barracks bags, so I am a bit short on socks and such. I even drew for additional "Yank" on every day, everything was very, very surprising. Today I was discussing the shortage of fellows at the college with someone down here, and it seems it will take a long time to build it up to its former number. When I was a freshmen there was the shortage of fellows and though I don't claim they were a benefit to the college, they certainly added to the requirements added by any number of women.

See you soon I hope,

Jim Sullivan

LETTER-BOX

Servicemen...

Ed Raleigh

North Carolina...

June 1, 1944

We have a full day down here starting at six of the morning and finishing with church at seven a.m. Checking in the morning, we had seen various subjects take up most of our time with the balance filled with drill and P.T. We have not yet received my barracks bags, so I am a bit short on socks and such. I even drew for additional "Yank" on every day, everything was very, very surprising. Today I was discussing the shortage of fellows at the college with someone down here, and it seems it will take a long time to build it up to its former number. When I was a freshmen there was the shortage of fellows and though I don't claim they were a benefit to the college, they certainly added to the requirements added by any number of women.

See you soon I hope,

Jim Sullivan

Facility Notes

Miss Gertrude E. McEnigue will be on the faculty of the American Institute of Music at Lasell Junior College at Auburndale, Massachusetts, this summer.

Dr. Helen A. Murphy is planning to teach at the summer session of Boston University from July 5 to August 16.

Dr. Whipple participated in the discussions on Developing Better Public Relations while Dean Connell and Miss Isabella Swans served as members of the decoration committee for the Conference.

To Whom It May Concern:

Late in March we were delegated to attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Association conference as representatives of the newspaper and the yearbook. We wish to express our gratitude to the Student Council and the faculty for their help which made it possible for us to attend.

What we observed and learned there has been invaluable in our work as editors. The display of representative yearbooks in University Hall and the excellent sectional meetings covering all phases of yearbook subjects, each idea, photograph, engraving, printing, mud, etc., contributed most to the credit of a yearbook editor. Of immense aid in the publication of a newspaper were the ideas gleaned from the exhibits of various college papers and from the meetings devoted to typography, art, advertising, and organization.

Much of what we learned we were able to put in effect in our following publications, and as the year closes, we hope that future editors will derive as much inspiration from the yearbook as we, the editors, did from the essays obtained from the C.S. P. A. in New York.

Marie Z. Gawrada, Editor, Anchor.

Joan Wheeler, Senior.
RICE FLAKES

Council President Offers Suggestion to Student Body

After being with a person or a thing for four years, an individual is more apt to know of that person’s whims and fancies, her or his disposition, of qualities—good or bad.

That is the way I feel toward our College. As I leave, I feel as though I have missed something. Last Saturday, but I also feel that I am leaving a part of me somewhere along one of the halls. My reaction is such because of one fact that I have learned here—that we at the College are surrounded with “emptiness,” spirit, and common sense than anyone will find in many a college. For in spite of our many handicaps, we have been able to grow and to carry on a social program, in addition to a scholastic program that would equal and surpass many institutions. True, we have made mistakes along these lines, but the glory comes in making mistakes and trying again. Evidence of our college spirit is the establishment of a “cut system” for which we had been striving for years. Some still say that we “sealed our doom” when we accepted it. Perhaps we were too truthless, but if it didn’t succeed, I believe that there will be a very conscientious effort to improve it.

If I were given but one thing to say to next year’s leaders, I would advise them to use that spirit and guard it. Foster its growth within and without the College walls.

In addition, I would advise a few minor changes such as a more systematic procedure of scheduling the each hour would be designated on a social function. A system whereby huge “Club Schedule” would be ideal and would make for a more uniform working among members of each club.

Secondly, I would advise a more thorough education for Freshmen. I believe that they should “know the ropes,” if for no other reason than for the sake of appreciating the effort and ability required to conduct a social or a business function. “Know your own college” should be their motto, not “Wait until I’m called upon.”

Finally, I would suggest a rather radical change, that of Spring elections. It would probably mean amending the College Constitution, but let us look at the advantages, taking Student Council elections in our example. On the second day of the school year a handful of Student Council representatives meet to nominate official candidates. If these elections were held in the Spring, the Spring, the new president would have opportunities to formulate her programs and become acquainted with plans made for the following year. She would also receive many helpful suggestions from advisors and out-going officers. This system would need modification, no doubt, but for the betterment of college planning, I believe it would be the step in the right direction.

In planning and suggesting for our future, I think true—that constant truth that outgoing students have in their successors. I realize that the activities of the College rest in able hands and I know that we will all forever Cherish thy beloved name and pledge thy loyalty.”

Kathryn Reardon.

Social Activities in Full Swing As End of College Year Nears

With the termination of the college year fast approaching, various groups of students gathered during the past few weeks to renew friendships and to assemble for the last time at a definite working unit.

Freshmen Make Merry At Lincoln Woods

With “Lincoln Woods or Bust” as their slogan and in spite of threatening rain, fifty-four freshmen and three faculty members set out on a hayride Monday afternoon, May 27.

Cheered on by curious onlookers and wide-eyed youngsters, and singing gayly, the group reached its destination after one and one-half hours of humpy riding. In route, one of the wagons almost experienced a calamity: while going up steep hill, the horses suddenly lost their footing, turning the wagon halfway around, but under the guidance of the skillful driver, they regained confidence, and the ride was resumed.

Considering Miss Loughnany’s apostles hairdo, Miss Murphy’s stylish hat, Mr. Donovan’s and his aromatic cigar, happy freshmen in their durganless, nineteen pounds of frankfurters and tasty marshmallows, a good time was inevitable.

Retiring President of Alumni Association Feted by Group

In honor of Mrs. Joseph Hurley, the retiring president of the Alumni Association, a dinner was held on June 1 at the Menden in a small group of officers and executive board members.

Elected recently as officers of the Association were Mrs. Edward J. Burrell, President; Mr. Milton Blackwell, Vice-President; Miss Caroline Haverly, Recording Secretary; Miss Sara L. Kerr, Corresponding Secretary, and Miss Jane Fox, Treasurer.

The spring, the new president would have opportunities to formulate her programs and become acquainted with plans made for the following year. She would also receive many helpful suggestions from advisors and out-going officers. This system would need modification, no doubt, but for the betterment of college planning, I believe it would be the step in the right direction.

In planning and suggesting for our future, I think true—that constant truth that outgoing students have in their successors. I realize that the activities of the College rest in able hands and I know that we will all forever Cherish thy beloved name and pledge thy loyalty.”

Kathryn Reardon.

Juniors Dine at Lincoln Woods

The patrons of Howard Johnson’s were surprised to see a group of approximately sixty girls enter the banquet room Wednesday evening. This group was the annual Junior Class Banquet.

In an atmosphere filled with mellow candlelight and the contented conversation of training and practicing Juniors, games, exasperating speeches and poetry, which were under the direction of Kathleen Eamin, added to the enjoyment of a delicious chicken dinner.

Special guests of the Juniors were Mrs. Reed and Miss Amy Thompson. Miss Thompson and Mr. Reed gave short semi-serious speeches followed by a hearty stant, a criticism of Frank ‘The Voice’ Sinatras, was appreciated by all. The banquet ended with the singing of the Class of ’44, Cheer Song and the College Alma Mater.

CCEE. Hears Speaker at Luncheon

The annual Spring Dinner of the Rhode Island College was held in the faculty dining room Wednesday evening, May 17. The tables were decorated with spring flowers and lighted tapers, which favored miniature flags. At the head table were Mrs. James Ludwig, Mrs. Edward J. Andrews, Miss Amy Thompson and Miss Cecile Andrews.

The following dinner, Miss Cecile Aubin, President of the Club, welcomed the gathering and introduced Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Buckley, a native of Denmark, is hostess at the Officers’ Club at the Biltmore Hotel.

Enjoy Party

Jake Members enjoying the pleasant atmosphere of the Club were Lucia O’Brien, Barbara Shevlin and Joan Wheeler.

Anchor Members Enjoy Party

Hard-working members of the Anchor gathered for a party in the rear of the Club at four o’clock this afternoon, May 24. Special guest of the group was Miss Amy Thompson, Anchor advisor. Under the direction Continued on Page 4.
An End and a Beginning
By Marjorie Latham

A Cappella Choir

On Monday morning, June 5, at eight-forty o'clock, the A Cappella Choir entertained at a Henry Barnard Assembly Program. The Choir presented selections from their very .successful concert given at the College.

W. A. A.

Athletic awards were given on Thursday, June 8, to those girls who had devoted much of their le-sure time to sports of various kinds.

Elizabeth Murphy, who had already acquired three blue chevrons, received a shield.

The following people, who have forty minor hours and thirty major hours to their credit, were awarded blue chevrons: Cecile Aubin, Barbara Shevlin, Elizabeth Murphy, and Nancy Robinson.

Receiving gold stars were the following officers: Barbara Shevlin, preident, Nancy Ferri, Vice-President, Beth Cashman, Secretary-

Treasurer, Margaret McCarthy, Social

Committee Chairman, and Nancy

Robinson, Publicity Agent.

Gold chevrons were given to the managers of various sports: Barbara

Shevlin, softball; Gladys Gannon, horseback riding; Nancy Ferri, tennis, Mary Terrien, ping pong, Lu-gia Gianarani, basketball, and Nancy Robinson, badminton.

The captains of sports received gold bars: Claire Auger, Nancy Ferri, and Albina Hult, all captains of softball.

Although the weather was a trifle unpleasant on the morning of May 23, seventy-three crowded a立案

Majors, A. A. A. May Breakfast. Great quantities of oranges, celery, eggs, sausage, coffee, and waffles were served in the College cafeteria. All people who attended thoroughly enjoyed themselves and did not regret their early rising.

Victorious couple of the double ping pong tournament proved to be Wilma Sampson and Joan Wheelier.

On the weekend of June 3 and 4

ten girls, accompanied by Miss

Langworthy, went on a hotel trip to

Wyoming, R. I. The girls traveled by train to Kingston and proceeded to their destination by cycles. Swimming, good food, fresh air, and good fellowship were enjoyed by all.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Continued from Page 1

guerre Gianfiant, Barbara Dill,

Barbara Golden, Carrol Harlow,

Dorothy Horne, Agnes Keenan,

Josephine Kerr, Eleanor Labrie,

Hilda Lenczynski, Major, Petrina Man-

nerelli, Marion Pendleton, and Mary

Townsend.

Ahead of them lay the small square
ground separating the quiet grace of East

Side gardens from the isolated Negro tenements of Benefit street below. Standing halfway down the hill in the shadow of a brick wall dripping

vines, they watched the sun gently glide away and the lights —looking for all the world like a Turkish mosque.

Slowly it drooped, and the heavy skies were joined tightly with redness where the sun had been, and the lights of the city lay stretched below, blurred and blazed in the blue haze of twilight.

She heard her name spoken and felt a gentle pressure at her sleeve, urging her forward. The rolled parchment was thrust into her left hand

and the President had enclosed her other in a warm grasp. There was a murmur of polite applause from the assembly and she had crossed the stage

and was back at her seat clutching tight the degree—the culmination of the end-point—realized after four years, all of them were years, each a little happier and a little more than the one before.

And then it came, the day and they were marching out—meeting parents in the corridors—receiving congratulations.

"Something was so nice— . . . " We're so proud! .. . You looked so lovely— . . . so sorry they were saying? It was all confused. She tried to focus on the words. You must be so sorry . . .

so happy to remember. Oh, yes, she was leaving. What would she remember? Not classes certainly, or the personalities of instructors. Well, for a white, perhaps, but time would dull them except those who were real like the President's wife—so charming and gracious, always remembering to say, "Hello, how do you look tonight,

my dear," and tend to every hand a treasuring hug, and the Dean who never forgot to tell you "How's

your time?"

What did one remember?

Entrance Examinations

To Be Given Again

Although one hundred-eighteen takc5 entrance examinations

in April, it is believed that many more high school Seniors are interested in becoming students of the College of Education. For these people immediate and exclusive examination will be given at the College sometime during the last of June.

GOOD ADVICE FOR EVERY AMERICAN

"The eyes of Christendom are upon us, and our honor as a people

is a matter of the utmost consequence to be taken care of. If we give up our rights in this county, then we will not restore to us

the opinion of the World; we shall be gagged and clapped to cages or cellars, and charged with crimes or peccadillos—Present inconsistencies are, therefore, to be borne with courage, and better times expected."

Benjamin Franklin

THE EXCHANGE

Dear Readers, We have received your Ye olde Exchange Column. You know how it is now-a-days with conservation and all that. If you have any ideas, you share it or we told you. Among college newspapers, the procedure is to appropriate the choicest hits from other newspapers, put them in a column and call it Exchange. So wonder how easily this modern plagiarism

works; don't you think?

This month we start off with this farcical nore from the Genesee State

College: Loyomons:

'Select a young, strong and pleetrifying personality; trim off all mannerisms of voice, dress, or deportment;

pout over it a mixture of equal parts of the wisdom of Solomon, the courage of the Colossus, the strength of Samson, and the patience of Job;

season with the salt of experience,

the pepper of animation, the oil of sympathy, and a dash of humor:

treat for about four years in a high classroom, testing occasionally with the fork of criticism thrust in by the principal or superintendent.

When done to a turn, garnish with a small salary and serve hot to the community."

(Journal of Chemical Education)

Riencans aren't the only ones who worry about the mail (yes, that's spelled correctly!) situation. We have companions in misery down at

R. I. State.

"He said that he'd write . . .

Tuesday—And I'm waiting still.

He said that he'd write just as soon as he could.

I guessed in his eyes

And I knew that he would.

And so I believed—

Yes, all that he said

guys are suckers .

Mistreated, misled.

For here it is—Tuesday—

I've waited in vain. No letters have come: I've received only pain.

There's a moral to this,

As all may have guessed.

Beware of the "wolf," girls.

Is What I suggest

He'll whisper sweet nothings

in each dainty ear.

Then, when he has won you,

He'll soon disappear.

Don't trust The Beacon.

Students Needed—

Ready-to-Wear Shop, 345 Westminster Street, wants students to work Saturdays at $2.50 to $3.50 per day.

Rhode Island Hospital Trust

Company needs girls for elevator

operators for the summer months.

Attractive salary. Apply to Miss

Dunne, Gaspay 8500.

(May have previously worked there during vacations).

Imperial Knife Company, 14

Blount Street, Providence. Summer

jobs are open for full-time workers.

May start working part-time now while learning, if preferred. Plant is on full-time war production. Attractive pay according to merit.

App to Mr. Del Nero

Students wishing to do domestic work this summer, consult Miss

Almirah

WORKSHOP

Continued from Page 1

Management, Water and Water Control, Wildlife and Wildlife Management, Conservation Teaching, (Miss

W. Christina Carlson), and Soil and

Soil Use, (Mr. J. Granville Jensen).

Aiding strength to the program of instruction will be well known Australian authorities among whom is Louisa

Benham, famous author and conservationist.

PARTY

(Continued from Page 3)

of Julia Malatt, a lively program

of games was carried out, as everyone

on the third floor was likely to hear anything from a rooster crowing to the Seniors Steps—decorating for dances—walking home across the campus after a late rehearsal—would have the years later perhaps remembered that night—running to the roof to see the city glinting under freshly fallen snow and would she say again how dark the trees in shadow seemed against the fluffly whiteness?

Just before noon there would be simply stifling heat; here, how can you stand that wooden gown? Why not go down and change.

Glad to escape the milling crowd

she began to start down the stairs.

Surfaced at the landing and ran down

the last flight with clitching the rolled parchment tightly—holding in her hand an end and a beginning.

She really eyes then she was standing again halfway down the brick sidewalk of Meeting street

watching the leader skids only facing,

tied with redness where the sun

had been—watching the end of one day—knowing at that moment another had begun.

All Out for Victory

If copies of an average American woman's newspaper were sent to residents of enemy occupied countries,

she would rate a rather cynical laugh.

For in much magazine and news print we find no such value from nail polish and perfume, to hair ribbons and toothpaste, named "winged victory," "courage," "P-40," or "little soldier" in honor of the sweet girl who devotes her time to a bit of bandage rolling or entertaining at the E. D. O.

Brave girl!

In spite of the fashion magazines, most women would rate a no such exaggerated idea of their work. War work should not and cannot be defined.

With the terrific help shortages, all women have no such exaggerated idea of their work. War work this summer, consult Miss

W. Christina Carlson, and Soil and

Soil Use, (Mr. J. Granville Jensen).