

3-25-1997

Nothing

Smith Smith

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.ric.edu/rits>

---

Recommended Citation

Smith, Smith, "Nothing" (1997). Rhode Island Training School. 100.
<https://digitalcommons.ric.edu/rits/100>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Youth Program at Digital Commons @ RIC. It has been accepted for inclusion in Rhode Island Training School by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ RIC. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@ric.edu.

Dr. SMITH      Nothing

Nothing is something that's not there. It doesn't exist. Nothing is nothing. We do nothing all the time. Nothing is like just sitting in a zone. You're doing nothing. It's like you're bored oh no cause being bored is something. Nothing has to be something but it's not there. Like you're just sitting there looking around no cause that's something and nothing is nothing it's just not <sup>there</sup>. It's unexplainable. Nothing is the pure point of nothing (something's are nothing but they can't be nothing if there's something). Some things people do are nothing like nothing at all. Perhaps by doing nothing you will know what it is. The only way to find out what nothing is by doing it. Or should I say by doing nothing. Nothing is good when that's what you feel like doing. Some people think sleep is nothing but ~~it~~ it's <sup>something</sup> because you're sleeping. In order to do nothing you have to be completely "bla". The matter of doing nothing is "nada" (Spanish for nothing). The past tense of nothing is nothing at all. Even the past participle of nothing is nothing. Nothing is some type of nothing that happens every hour <sup>and then</sup>.