5-3-1982

What's News @ Rhode Island College

Rhode Island College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.ric.edu/whats_news

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.ric.edu/whats_news/197

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newspapers at Digital Commons @ RIC. It has been accepted for inclusion in What's News? by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ RIC. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@ric.edu.
And, Orff's most famous work, "Carmina Burana" will also be presented. Soloists are Blythe Walker, soprano, and William Jones, baritone. The fourth annual Rita V. Bicho Memorial Scholarship Concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Roberts Auditorium. The program for the spring evening will include providing instruction in writing and mathematics in addition to reading, establishment of four "primary satellites" within a seven mile radius of Providence; establishment of "secondary satellites" at which volunteers and staff would be trained and encouraged to train others; and establishment of prevocational basic skills training and supportive counseling for unemployed and low income youths and adults to enable them to overcome deficiencies in reading, math or other basic skills which prevent them from learning a specific trade at the Opportunities Industrialization Center of Rhode Island. The academy — in its third year of operation — has served more than 600 Rhode Islanders. Prior to last year, the academy was known as the Adult Reading Academy. Last year they expanded their services to include instruction in other areas besides reading and changed their name to the Adult Academy of Basic Skills. Current funding will run out as of this July 31. Thus far, Eanet has written a proposal for funding of $5,000 to the Old Stone Bank which has granted the funding, according to Goldstein. "At this moment we are awaiting word on one proposal written to the Rhode Island Department of Education which involves being part of a literacy consortium," reported Goldstein. In addition, she and Eanet are writing a proposal for cooperation with the Dorcas Adult Academy to Lose Funding: Plan Fund Raising Dinner

By George LaTour

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

The program for the spring evening will include providing instruction in writing and mathematics in addition to reading, establishment of four "primary satellites" within a seven mile radius of Providence; establishment of "secondary satellites" at which volunteers and staff would be trained and encouraged to train others; and establishment of prevocational basic skills training and supportive counseling for unemployed and low income youths and adults to enable them to overcome deficiencies in reading, math or other basic skills which prevent them from learning a specific trade at the Opportunities Industrialization Center of Rhode Island. The academy — in its third year of operation — has served more than 600 Rhode Islanders. Prior to last year, the academy was known as the Adult Reading Academy. Last year they expanded their services to include instruction in other areas besides reading and changed their name to the Adult Academy of Basic Skills. Current funding will run out as of this July 31. Thus far, Eanet has written a proposal for funding of $5,000 to the Old Stone Bank which has granted the funding, according to Goldstein. "At this moment we are awaiting word on one proposal written to the Rhode Island Department of Education which involves being part of a literacy consortium," reported Goldstein. In addition, she and Eanet are writing a proposal for cooperation with the Dorcas Academy to Lose Funding: Plan Fund Raising Dinner

By George LaTour

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Time to Plan Summer Courses

Courses ranging from literature and film to computer science to passive solar home design will be offered at Rhode Island College in the 1982 summer sessions. Registration is now being taken for the more than 260 credit and non-credit programs. Included among the offerings will be a music festival, a summer theatre for children, an elderlyhostel and a summer preparatory program in the fine and performing arts for high school students. The RIC Cabaret will again be onstage through the summer for the tenth consecutive year and a day camp for children, an elderhostel and a summer festival of basketball for out-of-state students. The registration fee is $12.

Adult Academy to Lose Funding: Plan Fund Raising Dinner

By George LaTour

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.

Rhode Island College's Adult Academy of Basic Skills, facing termination of its federal funding, is planning a fund raising dinner and tutor recognition night on May 16 at the Marriott Inn in Providence. The federal funding is being cut as a result of federal budget cuts, reports Barbara S. Goldstein, academy co-director. She said the dinner would not likely generate sufficient funds to carry on the program at its current level, but could help in raising money to cover some of the costs. The funds raised will be used to pay for tutors and other operating expenses.
American Energy Week
May 18

A broad-based, national education project from the U.S. Department of Energy, American Energy Week will be held May 13 to 18 this year. This second American Energy Week will follow last year’s successful event, highlighting local and regional events and being scheduled to dramatize the serious nature of our nation’s energy problems and the need for change.

The theme of this year’s American Energy Week is “America’s Energy Test.” This program will provide an opportunity for young people to learn more about energy and the ways it affects our daily lives.

American Energy Week is a national education program that aims to educate young people about energy issues and their role in solving energy problems. The program is designed to engage students in meaningful and relevant ways to learn about energy and its impact on their lives.

Deadline for Grants and Sponsored Projects Announced

The deadline for grants and sponsored projects is May 18, 2018, for the fall term. All proposals must be submitted by this date to be considered for funding.

Applications are invited for both grants and sponsored projects in a variety of fields, including humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. Awards are available for both new and continuing projects.

The deadline for submission of proposals is May 18, 2018. Proposals must be submitted by email to Grants and Sponsored Projects, Office of Research and Sponsored Programs, 240 Williams Hall, 110805.

For the Faculty and Staff

The American Energy Week is a national education program that aims to educate young people about energy issues and their role in solving energy problems. The program is designed to engage students in meaningful and relevant ways to learn about energy and its impact on their lives.

American Energy Week is a broad-based, national education project from the U.S. Department of Energy. The program is designed to educate young people about energy issues and their role in solving energy problems. The program is designed to engage students in meaningful and relevant ways to learn about energy and its impact on their lives.

Deadline for Grants and Sponsored Projects Announced

The deadline for grants and sponsored projects is May 18, 2018, for the fall term. All proposals must be submitted by this date to be considered for funding.

Applications are invited for both grants and sponsored projects in a variety of fields, including humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. Awards are available for both new and continuing projects.

The deadline for submission of proposals is May 18, 2018. Proposals must be submitted by email to Grants and Sponsored Projects, Office of Research and Sponsored Programs, 240 Williams Hall, 110805.

For the Faculty and Staff

The American Energy Week is a national education program that aims to educate young people about energy issues and their role in solving energy problems. The program is designed to engage students in meaningful and relevant ways to learn about energy and its impact on their lives.

American Energy Week is a broad-based, national education project from the U.S. Department of Energy. The program is designed to educate young people about energy issues and their role in solving energy problems. The program is designed to engage students in meaningful and relevant ways to learn about energy and its impact on their lives.
RIC'S INNOVATIVE SECRETARIES celebrate National Secretaries Week with a most "Unfashionable Fashion Show" presented last Thursday. Fashions for the perfect secretary, the one that has to take a parttime job to "eke out a living," the secretary who is a mother, as well as the one who is a successful club woman included everything from sneakers to shower caps. Formal men's wear, as well as a typical representative from the college administration, were all seen in the line-up. Joe Ingegneri (at right) of Physical Plant, wears designs by "Sam's of Olneyville." According to the fashionable dialogue introducing the clothing, Ingegneri represents the kind of administrator who calls his secretary at home to "find out how to plug in the coffee machine." The current fashions and the models sporting them were hits with the audience as these secretaries can attest: (1 to r) Cecilia Pinto, records office; Helen Corry, personnel office; Rita Guertin, purchasing office; Debbie Smith, Physical Plant; and Elaine Papa, purchasing office.

What's New(s) Photos by Peter P. Tobia

SENATE INTERNS Joan Greenwell (left) and Linda M. Moran, both juniors at RIC, recently completed an internship at the office of the U.S. Sen. Claiborne Pell in Washington, D.C. They were among the 12 interns from RIC this year.

Senate Interns Find Washington: A Very Friendly Town By George LaTour

At least two of the 12 Rhode Island College senate interns this year were impressed with our senators in general and Washington, D.C., in particular. Linda M. Moran, a junior from Pawtucket, and Joan Greenwell, a junior from Providence, found the U.S. senators "really interested in the people" and Washington a "very friendly town." Linda and Joan spent the week of April 12 as interns in the office of Sen. Claiborne Pell.

Last week, Ann Gancz, a senior from Bristol; Paul J. Lamarre, a senior from Pawtucket; and Donna Durand, a junior from Woonsocket, completed their internships at Senator Pell's office in Washington.

Previously, these students had their opportunity to see our nation's leaders in action: Richard Finnegan, a senior from Hope; Fredrick R. Ferri, a senior from Cranston; James K. O'Donnell, a senior from Providence; and Philip J. Sisson, a junior from Providence.

Also, Valerie J. Integlia, a senior from Johnston; Elizabeth Cote, a senior from West Warwick; and Robert Brooks, a senior from Providence.

Most are political science or public administration majors at RIC. All did one-week internships at the office of Senator Pell.

Each day they reported to Pell's office and from there—usually—to various senate committee hearings. Following the hearings they would—in some cases—report back to the senator on what they had heard and seen.

Joan said she was "surprised" at how small the hearings were. "Sometimes just the chairman of the committee or chairman of the subcommittee would attend," she said. She pointed out, however, that the senators who had questions to ask of those appearing on the hearings many times would come in just to ask the questions and then leave.

"Either that, or they'd submit their questions in writing.

"The senators have big staffs," noted Joan, "and they always have aides present continued on page 6.

Softball—
Tough Team

STAR SLUGGER Carol Lynch (above) waits for the pitch while Coach Cindy Neal (below) offers some suggestions to team members. Kristy Swiech (at right) works hard to make it to third base.
By Arline Aisis Fleming

Though the aroma of hot dogs and peanuts is noticeably absent from RIC's baseball fields, still, the spring air and the thump of the ball hitting the bat are invigorating enough.

Just three weeks ago, the baseball fields were white with April snow. And eight of RIC's Women's Softball games had to be rescheduled. Luckily, it melted quickly and green grass is blooming all over. But it's been a tough couple of weeks due to that intrusion on spring. The women have had to play ball almost every day, says Coach Cindy Neal. Though the hectic pace has taken its toll on their win-loss record (4-11), they did defeat Providence College recently, (8-4), quite a major victory according to Coach Neal. It was the first time RIC has had a win over PC in any of the women's sports.

Just last week, the team surpassed Barrington, (5-1) in a double-header. They also lost one, (6-4), probably due to the formidable pitcher leading the way for Barrington.

The dust was blowing on Monday, but the women seemed unfurled as they fell face down into it or slid into a base. Rain clouds looked threatening — and so did a few of Barrington's players. Still, the blue and gold appeared comfortable on the field.

"Most of the team members are athletes," remarked the coach in regards to the unfurled spirit. And many of them played ball throughout high school, but that slow-pitch style is different from the fast-pitch style employed at RIC.

RIC's Women's Softball Team, in Division 3, very often find themselves up against opponents in Divisions I and 2, teams with scholarship money. They play everyone from Brown to Bryant, Bridgeport to West Point. "Some days, everything comes together. Other days, nothing comes together," laughed the coach. The good days often find star hitters Gail Henderson and Carol Lynch in good form. Pitchers Paula Pistacchio and Lisa Cenaunio play important roles as well.

The women will end the season with the state tournament before most of them go on to slow-pitch summer softball leagues. Spring is breaking through on campus, but RIC's Women's Softball team has been in practice long before the crocuses ever started to bloom.
Among the more innovative courses being offered at RIC this fall are “Microcomputers in Education,” a hands-on application for the school classroom. Participants work with a computer and examine some of the currently available software. This is not a course in programming.

Two courses in community access television are scheduled. The first one serves as a primer to understanding how cable television works and how to increase viewership for community and individual needs. The second course will deal more with managing community access television.

Under secondary education, a new topic will be explored, “Southeast Asian, Laotian and Southeast Asian Chinese Refugees in the Classroom and the Communities in the New England region.” Drama and theater will be explored and theory involving handicapped children and youth.

One other rather innovative course being offered among the listings is “Peer Counseling with the Handicapped.” Here, students practice peer counseling and explore the knowledge of disability as it relates to counseling. All of this takes place outside of the academic setting.

Other courses will be offered in: administration, anthropology, art, art education, biology, chemistry, communications, counselor education, curriculum, economics, elementary education, English, foundation of education, French, general studies, geography, gerontology, health education, history, industrial arts, industrial education, instructional technology, management, mathematics, music, music education, nursing, philosophy, physical education, physical science, physics, political science, psychology, secondary education, social science, social work, sociology, psychology, special education and theatre.

For a complete listing, or for more information, contact the Summer Session Office, Roberts Hall, Room 114, or call 456-8117. The following schedule indicates the time of the installation will be 12:30 to 1 p.m.

The next step for the new chapter will be to implement the provisions of the national constitution and by laws and appoint officers.

“Membership in Phi Sigma Iota is the highest honor that students and faculty can receive in the field of foreign languages, including classics, linguistics, comparative literature, bilingual education, and programs with interdisciplinary major and minor which include foreign languages as an essential component,” wrote Moraud.

RIC’s own Rose S. Abraham is president of the Rhode Island Chapter of Professional Secretaries International and as such recently addressed a group of would-be secretaries at Lincoln Senior High School. The occasion was Secretary’s Day of Professional Secretaries Week, and Mrs. Abraham served as administrative secretary to Dr. Garrahy, president of RIC. Mrs. Abraham took the opportunity to tell the secretarial hopefuls that being a secretary isn’t all that bad a profession.

In fact, it is a very desirable profession. “You are an extension of the supervisor; you are the one the people doing the talking were also talking to the people who do the talking!” she emphasized.

You are an extension of the supervisor; you are the one the people doing the talking were also talking to the people who do the talking!” she emphasized. The important role. “We’re the eyes and ears behind the importance of the work they perform,” she added. The important role. “We’re the eyes and ears behind the importance of the work they perform,” she added. She continued to assure the students that being a secretary is not often regarded as such.

Many places are listening; they’re listening to make sure that has a good resource here,” she emphasized.

She pointed out that the amount of input a secretary is permitted depends on the quality of her work relationship with superiors.

Salaries are a key indicator of how far attitudes about secretaries are lagging behind what they perform, she told the students.

In Rhode Island, she said, an executive-level secretary may earn as much as $25,000 yearly — less than most men earn for equal work.

In the west, she said, Abraham can earn as much as $40,000 per year.

The following schedule indicates the times when Rhode Island College’s Image Campaign ad will appear on Channel 13 TV:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5/3</td>
<td>6:30 p.m. (news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/4</td>
<td>8:50 a.m. (Good Morning America)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/4</td>
<td>7:40 p.m. (Family Feud)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/5</td>
<td>6:20 p.m. (news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/5</td>
<td>7:20 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/5</td>
<td>11 p.m. (late news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/7</td>
<td>7:10 a.m. (Good Morning America)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/7</td>
<td>11:24 p.m. (late news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/11</td>
<td>12:28 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/11</td>
<td>7:55 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/13</td>
<td>6:05 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/14</td>
<td>7 a.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/14</td>
<td>7:20 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/17</td>
<td>8:58 a.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/17</td>
<td>11:24 p.m. (late news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/18</td>
<td>6:05 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/19</td>
<td>7:20 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/21</td>
<td>6:09 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/22</td>
<td>6:09 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/26</td>
<td>7:45 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/27</td>
<td>7:15 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/28</td>
<td>1:28 p.m. (All My Children)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

From April 20 through April 29.

The following schedule indicates the times when Washington Island’s Image Campaign ad will appear on Channel 12 TV:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5/24</td>
<td>6:28 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/25</td>
<td>12:28 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/26</td>
<td>6:28 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/27</td>
<td>6:28 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/28</td>
<td>7:45 p.m.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The course is taught on Prudence Island to have “a more intense experience. We invite others in years to come? You definitely. If, for nothing else, the trip to Washington provided the young ladies with the opportunity “just to learn how to get along by yourself.”

Other courses being offered include “Pediatrics,” an experimental training group in which students practice peer counseling and explore the knowledge of disability as it relates to counseling. The following schedule indicates the times when Rhode Island College’s Image Campaign ad will appear on Channel 13 TV:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5/3</td>
<td>6:30 p.m. (news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/4</td>
<td>8:50 a.m. (Good Morning America)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/4</td>
<td>7:40 p.m. (Family Feud)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/5</td>
<td>6:20 p.m. (news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/5</td>
<td>7:20 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/5</td>
<td>11 p.m. (late news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/7</td>
<td>7:10 a.m. (Good Morning America)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/7</td>
<td>11:24 p.m. (late news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/11</td>
<td>12:28 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/11</td>
<td>7:55 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/13</td>
<td>6:05 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/14</td>
<td>7 a.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/14</td>
<td>7:20 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/17</td>
<td>8:58 a.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/17</td>
<td>11:24 p.m. (late news)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/18</td>
<td>6:05 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/19</td>
<td>7:20 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/21</td>
<td>6:09 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/22</td>
<td>6:09 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/26</td>
<td>7:45 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/27</td>
<td>7:15 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5/28</td>
<td>1:28 p.m. (All My Children)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The course is taught on Prudence Island to have “a more intense experience. We invite others in years to come? You definitely. If, for nothing else, the trip to Washington provided the young ladies with the opportunity “just to learn how to get along by yourself.”

The course is taught on Prudence Island to have “a more intense experience. We invite others in years to come? You definitely. If, for nothing else, the trip to Washington provided the young ladies with the opportunity “just to learn how to get along by yourself.”
Vincent Price at RIC:

By George LaTour

Master of the Macabre

Vincent Price

received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.

From 1979-80, he was president and professor of speech at State University; vice chancellor and professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh; provost and vice president for academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin - Madison; and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. He received his Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1964 with a major in speech communication and minors in intellectual history and political science. He received his M.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1959 with a major in speech and a minor in history/political science. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 with a major in social sciences, a minor in speech and several courses in agriculture.
Yoga, Tennis, Sailing
Among Summer Activities at RIC
By Arline Aissis Fleming

Summer brings out the athlete in many of us. But the word athlete doesn’t necessarily mean an Olympic decathlon star or a pro football player. Summer athletics means relaxed, unpressured recreation. And at Rhode Island College, there will be a variety of recreational activities from which to choose this summer.

For example, yoga. Marjorie Lynch has been teaching yoga at RIC for the past ten years. During this time, she’s taught students how to relax during exam time, and elderly citizens how to wind down for retirement.

“People have very little understanding of the benefits of yoga. They think it’s a swami thing or something,” she laughed. But Mrs. Lynch contends that yoga is not just a trendy form of exercise, but rather, “a method available for reducing stress—and it’s available to all ages,” she said.

Yoga, which is a series of mental, physical and breathing exercises, doesn’t appear to be as strenuous as the classical white-face mime. The non-verbal show isn’t necessarily more difficult than the physical movement of the group, which has to tour world-wide since the early 1970s.

The event is being sponsored by the RIC Performing Arts Series.

Student Work On Exhibit in Gallery

An exhibition of student work will be on display in Rhode Island College’s Bannister Gallery, May 3 to May 22. Seniors and graduate students will exhibit their work in painting, sculpture, fiber, ceramics, printmaking and photography.

An opening will be held Wednesday, May 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the gallery. Refreshments will be served and the event is open to all.

Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m. The gallery is closed on Saturdays.

Calendar of Events
May 3 - May 10

MONDAY, MAY 3
7-8 p.m.  Arts and Crafts Exhibition. Sponsored by Student Council for Exceptional Children, Student Union Gamesroom.
8:15 p.m.  Rita F. Bich Memorial Scholarship Concert. RIC College Chorus and Symphony Orchestra. Edward Markward, conductor. Free and open to all. Roberts Auditorium.

TUESDAY, MAY 4
Noon-2 p.m.  Finance Commission Meeting. Student Union Chambers.
Noon-2 p.m.  Career Service Workshop “Interview.” Craig Lee, Room 054.
1-2 p.m.  Women’s Center Meeting. Student Union Ballroom.
1-2 p.m.  Jewish Students, Faculty and Staff Meeting. Student Union, Room 304.
3 p.m.  Women’s Softball. RIC vs. Western Connecticut, Home.
7-9 p.m.  Performance Based Admissions Program. Free Information Session. Roberts Hall, Alumni Lounge.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5
3 p.m.  Men’s Baseball. RIC vs. Massachusetts Maritime. Will be counted towards Leadership, Participation and Service Award. Home.
7-9 p.m.  Senior and Graduate Art Exhibition. Free and open to the public. Continues through May 22. Art Center, Bannister Gallery.
7-10 p.m.  Women in The Arts Celebration. Sponsored by Women’s Center. Student Union Ballroom.
7-11 p.m.  Student Parliament Meeting. Student Union Chambers.

THURSDAY, MAY 6
3 p.m.  Women’s Softball. RIC vs. Brown University, Away.
3:30 p.m.  Men’s Tennis. RIC vs. Stonehill College, Home.
6:30-11 p.m.  Sigma Delta Delta Meeting. Student Union, Room 304.

FRIDAY, MAY 7
10-11 a.m.  Career Service Workshop. “Job Search.” Craig Lee, Room 054.
Noon  Great Decisions Meeting. Informal program of discussion of significant foreign issues. Contact David Wolman at 456-8091. Gaige Hall, Room 207.

Women’s Track and Field, EIAW Championships. For times and location call the Athletic Department at 456-8007.

SATURDAY, MAY 8
Women’s Softball. EIAW Division III Championships. For times and location call the Athletic Department at 456-8007.

Women’s Track and Field. Division III Championships. Away at Westfield State.
1 p.m.  Men’s Tennis. RIC vs. Bridgewater State, Home.
1 p.m.  Men’s Baseball. RIC vs. Quinnipiac, Home.

SUNDAY, MAY 9
10 a.m.  Women’s Softball. EIAW Division III Championships. Free and open to the public. Continues through May 22. Art Center, Bannister Gallery.
7 p.m.  Women’s Softball. EIAW Division III Championships. Free and open to the public. Continues through May 22. Art Center, Bannister Gallery.