SIGHI was good; SIGHI PLUS is better

SIGHI was a good fit for both girls, but also
He/She's done his/her thing and now stands surpassed.
The office of Career Services informs us that as of two weeks ago SIGHI PLUS is here.
And doing everything that SIGHI did, but without peer.
SIGHI—yes you may know—is a computer.
So, by the way, is SIGHI PLUS which has been described by Judy L. Gaines, acting director of Career Services, as "a significa cant step beyond" just plain old SIGHI.
While SIGHI could come up with a list of occupations that students particularly freshmen and sophomores could check out to see if it fit their values/needs, and then get further information about these possi ble careers, SIGHI PLUS does this plus
"looks at more than values."
SIGHI PLUS reportedly can examine the student's interests, values and skills, give a personalized list of occupations based upon the student's needs, answer questions about those occupations, and then describe the skills and education required for them.
In addition, says Gaines, it has the ability to "localize" information about specific jobs, telling the student at RIC what's available in the Rhode Island market and throws in such things as the mean or average salary being paid.
But that's not all.

They have your number!
by George LaTour

These women have your number. And thousands more. They're the telephone operators, management and student staff at Rhode Island College's Telephone Services, located in a compact room on the first floor in Craig Lee Hall.
Bertha M. Barron of Providence and Jane M. O'Neill of North Scituate have served 18 and 13 years, respectively, as the "voices of RIC," handling an average of 250 in-coming calls a day or about 47,000 calls a year, according to Janice Ward, the assistant business management officer who supervises the service.

The reader will note that that's "in-coming" calls ONLY. One could just double that about double that on figuring the out-going calls placed by members of the RIC community in a constant beehive of activity.
The "switchboard" is ready for business each business day at 8 a.m. and closes at 4:30 p.m. After that time, student operators handle the calls from the campus Security and Safety office until 9:30 p.m. After that time, student operators handle the calls from the

RIC support group:
Will offer day-long look at sexual harassment in workplace and education

"While there are various estimates of the magnitude of the problem of harassment in the workplace and in educational settings, there is consensus sexual harassment is a significant and widespread reality," according to a Rhode Island College support group for members of the college com-

Gaines says SIGHI PLUS is available for any RIC student's use as well as any RIC alumni. There's no charge, but an ap-

The total program takes about five hours, divided into two or three sessions.
Selecting a career was never so easy!

As adjunct prof:
Lila Sapinsley joins faculty

Lila M. Sapinsley, chair of the Rhode Island Housing and Mortgage Financial Corporation (RIHMFC), has been named an-

Job offers disappointing............4

LILA SAPINSLEY
McVay on committee for MDA dinner

Rhode McVay of 45 Sea Breeze Lane, Barrington, an administrative assistant in Academic Services, is serving on the committee of Barrington "Friends for a Day." The group is sponsoring a dinner and fashion show at the Ramada Inn in Seekonk on Tuesday, Oct. 24. The proceeds will benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Rhode Island.

The Greater Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Rhode Island is serving on the committee of Barrington "Friends for a Day." The group is sponsoring a dinner and fashion show at the Ramada Inn in Seekonk on Tuesday, Oct. 24. The proceeds will benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Rhode Island.

A Preparation for Marriage course, for those intending to marry within the Roman Catholic Church, will be held at Rhode Island College on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 7 and 8. Sessions will be held from 1-5 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Both partners must attend at both sessions to complete the requirements.

Registration takes place through the Diocesan Office in Providence. Registration forms can be obtained from the Chaplains' Office, Room 300 in the Student Union. While preference will be given to RIC students, it is possible for people outside the college community to register if the course is filled. Therefore, RIC students are urged to register as soon as possible to ensure a place. There is already a great demand for this session, reports the Rev. Robert A. Marcaiasco, Catholic chaplain.

The Catholic Church urges people to complete these requirements six months before the wedding. The next session at Rhode Island College will be held in March.

This course includes both lectures and discussions. A text is also provided to help the future spouses discuss specific issues between themselves. Topics to be covered will include marriage, communication, sexuality, finances, conflicts, and marriage counseling. The course will cover such topics as some details for planning a wedding. Discussions will be led by Father Marcaiasco, who will cooperate with the community.

The following conditions can consume much time on details of the wedding. This weekend is open to all who would like to spend some time away from those demands. The weekend can serve as an opportunity for married couples to discuss concerns that pertain to marriage today, says the chaplain.

What's News

Rhode Island College

What's News at Rhode Island College (USPS 681-650) is published weekly throughout the academic year except during semester breaks by Rhode Island College, News Service, 600 Mt. Pleasant Ave., Providence, R.I. 02908. Second class postage paid Providence, R.I.

Postmaster: Send address changes to What's News at Rhode Island College, News Service, 600 Mt. Pleasant Ave., Providence, R.I. 02908.

Deadline

Deadline for submission of copy and photos is TUESDAY at 4:30 p.m.

Tel. 456-8132 Production by BEACON PRESS

What's News

Rhode Island College

What's News at Rhode Island College (USPS 681-650) is published weekly throughout the academic year except during semester breaks by Rhode Island College, News Service, 600 Mt. Pleasant Ave., Providence, R.I. 02908. Second class postage paid Providence, R.I.

Postmaster: Send address changes to What's News at Rhode Island College, News Service, 600 Mt. Pleasant Ave., Providence, R.I. 02908.

Deadline

Deadline for submission of copy and photos is TUESDAY at 4:30 p.m.

Tel. 456-8132 Production by BEACON PRESS

Bureau of Grants and Sponsored Projects:

Request for proposals

The Bureau of Grants and Sponsored Projects will be providing information about requests for proposals (RFPs) on a regular basis in this column. Anyone interested in obtaining further information or applications and guidelines should circle the number of the RFP on the coupon below and send it to the Bureau in Rooms 122.

Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation: Women's Studies Research Grants: These grants support research in women's studies topics, such as the evolution of women's role in society, women in history, the psychology of women, and women as portrayed in literature. Eligible candidates should have completed all pre­ dissertation requirements in any field of study. Grants average $1,000. DEADLINE: Nov. 12.

U.S. Department of Education Undergraduate International Studies Program: This program provides funds to public and private agencies, organizations, and institutions of higher education as well as individuals to conduct research designed to improve instruction in modern foreign languages, area studies, and other related fields needed to provide full understanding of the places in which those languages are commonly used. Although the administration's base for FY 87 does not request an appropriation for this program, applications are invited to allow for sufficient time to evaluate them and complete the grants process prior to the end of the fiscal year should the funds be provided. Requests for funds for the following funding priorities have been established for new awards for research under this program: the use of computers for improving foreign language instruction; foreign language acquisition; improved teaching strategies for accelerating foreign language proficiency testing; and instructional materials development for uncommonly taught languages. DEADLINE: Nov. 4.

Department of Education: Fulbright-Hays Training Grant Program: New awards for FY 86 are available in the following categories: a) Faculty Research Abroad—opportunities for faculty members of institutions of higher education to conduct research and study abroad in modern foreign languages and area studies; b) Foreign Curriculum Consultants—specialists from other countries are brought to the U.S. as resources for students to support academic year to visit selected institutions in planning and developing curricula in modern foreign languages and area studies; c) Group Project Abroad—provides grants to educational organizations, teaching training, and study abroad in modern languages and area studies; d) Doctoral Dissertation Research Abroad—provides opportunity for graduate students to engage in dissertation research abroad in modern languages and area studies. Grants average $6,000. DEADLINE: Nov. 30.

4. Folger Shakespeare Library: 1986-87 Fellowship Program: Available to senior scholars who have made major contributions in their fields of research and who are pursuing research projects appro­ priate to the collections of Folger. Fellowships are for a period of 6-9 months to be used between September 1986 - August 1987; awards carry a stipend of $13,750 and $20,625 respectively DEADLINE: Nov. 15.

5. NEA: Art's Challenge Grant Program: Provides a special opportunity for arts institutions to establish artistic quality and diversity by broadening the base of contributed support, increasing contribution levels, and developing new artistic ven­tures. DEADLINE: Changed from January to Dec. 12. Notice of intent by Nov. 15.

American Scandinavian Foundation: Study Awards in Scandinavia 1986-87: ASF encourages advanced research and study in the Scandinavian countries. Awards are open to U.S. citizens and permanent residents who have completed their undergraduate education at the time the overseas program begins.

Award selection is based on the significance and feasibility of the proposal, the qualifications of the applicant to pursue the program, and the special merit of the program in Scandinavia for a few weeks or months. Fellowships typically are designed to meet the overseas research or study costs of a graduate student for an academic year.

7. U.S. Department of Education: Research in Educational Handicap­ped: Provides support for research and related activities aimed at improving educa­tion services for handicapped children, including research relating to physical educa­tion or recreation for such children. DEADLINES: Dec. 13 (Extant Data Base Projects), Jan. 13 (Teaching/Learning-E­ ­Fficiency Projects). March 4 (Postsecondary Student-Initiated Research Projects).

8. National Institutes of Health: Academic Research Enhancement Awards: Program awards grants of $50,000 to four­year colleges that, while not major research institutions, nonetheless train a significant number of future scientists. Grants support ongoing research activities of faculty in areas related to health sciences. Awards can be used for feasibility studies and other small-scale research projects that may lead to major NIH support. DEADLINE: Jan. 16.

Please send me information on the following programs: Circle programs of interest to you.

1. ____________________________ 2. ____________________________ 3. ____________________________ 4. ____________________________

Name ____________________________

Extension ____________________________

Address ____________________________

Date 9/18/85
RIC alumna named ‘Outstanding Teacher’

A Woonsocket Junior High School teacher who holds two master’s degrees from Rhode Island College has been named an Outstanding Secondary Social Studies Teacher for 1985, one of two so honored by the National Council for Social Studies (NCSS).

As such, she will receive a $2,500 cash award from the Time Education Program. The other winner is a teacher in Tennessee.

The winner, Rose Marie Cipriano of Smithfield, is a graduate of Castleton State College in Vermont where she received a bachelor’s degree in education. She also has an associate’s degree from the Community College of Rhode Island. Her two master’s degrees from RIC are in social studies in secondary education and administration.

Cipriano, who has served as chair of the social studies department at Woonsocket Junior High, was named in 1984 as the Rhode Island Federation of Business and Administration’s “Woman of Achievement.” She was a Fullbright Scholar in 1982, traveling throughout China where she studied history and culture at Beijing Normal College.

Mrs. Cipriano is the wife of Heinty M. Cipriano and the mother of two children. She is a member of the Woonsocket Teachers Guild, the Rhode Island Federation of Teachers and the American Federation of Teachers.

This marks only the second time this award has been made.

Professional Women’s “Woman of Achievement”

A team of five master social study teachers is working with the Rhode Island College School of Education and Human Development to redesign the social studies practicum, Education Experimenta.

Titled a “special experimental project,” the teachers, all from different schools in the state, are working with Dr. Patricia A. Glasheen, associate dean, and Dr. James J. Bettez, associate professor of elementary education to “develop and design a unique field experience” in social studies, says Glasheen.

In addition, Dr. Robert F. Carey, a specialist in the Center for Evaluation and Research (CERRIC), is working with them to build a research component into the practice.

Glasheen says the teachers have already begun their secondary education practicum “to help them develop and practice effective teaching strategies for social studies.”

The teachers involved are Rose Marie Cipriano of Woonsocket Junior High, William Fanano of Bristol High, Paul Pizoczi of Toll Gate High in Warwick, Stephanie Zadzam of Pilgrim in Warwick, and Albert Balasch of Smithfield High.

Nominated for nat’l award

Cited for distinguished leadership

John S. Foley, Rhode Island College’s vice president for advancement and support, has been nominated for the National Association of Community Leadership Organizations’ (NACLO) Distinguished Leadership Award.

Foley, 41, of 15 Monmouth Drive, Riverside, was nominated by the alumni board of Leadership Rhode Island (LRI) in conjunction with the LRI Alumni Association. The winner will be named in November, Foley reports.

Like the national award for which Foley has been nominated, the Sweet Award recognizes an alumnus or alumna of the organization who has made a significant contribution to the organization’s programs.

Seven members of the Alumni Association board voted, therefore, to include nomination for the national award as part of the recognition by the association for each year’s recipient of the Sweet Award.

One of this year’s nominees from across the United States was acknowledged at an awards breakfast held at NACLO’s annual conference in Memphis, Tennessee, Sept. 10.

Foley, a member of LRI’s first class, served for three years on the program committee, two as chairman. He is currently serving a three-year term on the board of directors and heads LRI’s public relations efforts.

Vice president for college advancement and support at RIC since 1982, Foley had previously been executive director for college advancement and support since 1978. Prior to that he was RIC’s director of admissions from 1971-78. Foley was first employed at RIC in 1967 when he joined the admissions office staff as an admissions officer.

Foley is active in a wide variety of community affairs including CYO, diocesan and neighborhood committees, coaching, and service on the board of trustees of the Rhode Island chapter of the national Multiple Sclerosis Society.

He also has been an active member of the Woonasquatucket Valley Rotary Club since 1971, chairing a number of special projects, benefits, and the organization’s education, scholarship and public relations committees.

They loved it:

RIC students are ‘guinea pigs’ in Portugal

by Laurence J. Sasso, Jr.

Author Paul Medeiros, a Rhode Island College sophomore majoring in history and Ester Benros, a junior at the college majoring in English and secondary education, characterize themselves as guinea pigs. They loved the experience which caused them to acquire that tag.

The pair along with some 18 others from the Rhode Island and Southeastern Massachusetts area spent the month of August studying and traveling in Portugal.

The opportunity to make the trip and receive instruction in such areas as Portuguese literature, history and political, economic and cultural thought was provided by the Portuguese Cultural Foundation. The foundation with offices at 3 Armstrong Ave., Providence, arranged the cross cultural experience for the group.

Medeiros and Benros along with their classmates were the first such group to take part in such a program under the foundation’s auspices.

They seem to have thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to visit in a culture they both find fascinating and to which they feel attracted.

To qualify for the trip student applicants were expected to have a 2.5 cumulative grade point index (out of a possible 4.0) and they were required to write an essay explaining their interest in the program and why they hoped to be selected. They also among other things.

Fifty people applied and 20 were chosen to make the trip. Four of the 20 were from Rhode Island, the remaining 16 from the Southeastern Massachusetts area.

Among those who went there were high school teachers and administrators, as well as college students and graduate students.

“arvelous, great. After awhile it was like a family,” says Medeiros.

The group took up residence in early August in Lisbon, Portugal on an off-campus dormitory. They took classes at the Catholic University which has no on-campus housing.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day they went to lectures, took field trips and absorbed Portuguese culture.

Among the places they visited were museums, factories, folklore centers and a bullfight. A historian was their guide.

“We thought it was too intense for so short a period, but it had to be universality level for them to accept us,” Ester observes without irritation.

“Usually students in the summer just take off and go to a country and travel abroad. This was more than that. I got to learn about another country in depth,” she adds.

All of the classes which did not carry (continued on page 4)
The women's tennis squad is off to an encouraging start with two wins in five matches during the first week of play.

Senior Sue Landry and the senior doubles team of Kara Fay and Lia Caprin led the charge, but a host of newcomers also did very well. Three freshmen, Diane Hebert, Anne Luther and Beth Ralli, all won in singles matches, and juniors Jane Murano and Denise Moio teamed up for a doubles win. Sophomore Sharon Wishnevsky, improving every day and now the number 2 player on the squad, also defeated her opponent.

In their next meet the Anchormen defeated Division II Quinnipiac 6-1. The same squad appeared for RIC with the only loss of the day going to the doubles team of Murano-Moio. All five singles players, led by Landry and Wishnevsky, had fine performances.

The women's cross country squad was also victorious in their first action of the season. The squad defeated Division II Stonehill 31-24. The entire team that scores the lowest wins in cross country! Captain senior Sharon Hall finished second to Stonehill's Chris Aucoin, just five points off of first. A handful of others included Karen Ceresa placed third. Rich Nancy Gillooly was fourth, senior Irene Larivee was fifth, senior Rosemary Gately was seventh and freshman Leslie Cabral was ninth.

Coach Matt Hird was pleased with the performances of Hall and Ceresa and surprised by the fine running of Gillooly and Larivee.

The men runners travelled to Smithfield where they placed third in the Bryant College Invitational. Freshman Jim Bowden ran a super race, finishing in fifth place.

The women's volleyball squad was slated to begin action Sept. 17. The squad will be Queen's, Wagner and Gannon and will be followed by the annual Ray Dwyer Invitational at Roger Williams Park in Providence on Saturday, Sept. 22 beginning at noon in English as well as Portuguese. He refers to the instructors he met as "high calibers.

Both Medeiros and Benros of 50 Cowden St., a few key players to injuries and had to play understudied in the second half. Eusebio Lopes scored two of the three goals. On one of Lopes' goals, Realejo made 13 saves before giving away to Royal Jones who came up with two saves.

The squad is now 3-5 for the season and 0-3 in the conference. They will host the fourth annual Ray Dwyer Invitational at Roger Williams Park in Providence on Saturday, Sept. 22 beginning at noon in English as well as Portuguese. He refers to the instructors he met as "high calibers."

Both Medeiros and Benros of 50 Cowden St., a few key players to injuries and had to play understudied in the second half. Eusebio Lopes scored two of the three goals. On one of Lopes' goals, Realejo made 13 saves before giving away to Royal Jones who came up with two saves.

The squad is now 3-5 for the season and 0-3 in the conference. They will host the fourth annual Ray Dwyer Invitational at Roger Williams Park in Providence on Saturday, Sept. 22 beginning at noon in English as well as Portuguese. He refers to the instructors he met as "high calibers."
They have your number

HARD AT WORK: Janice Ward (left) and grad student Debbie Werner keep the operation running smoothly at right, while Bertha Barron (left), and Jane O'Neill (below right) answer the phones on the college's Dimension 2000 system. A close look at the Dimension computer is offered (below), while Janice Ward presses a button, handling another call.

What's News Photos
by
Gordon E. Rowley

(continued from page 1)

Each change and its resultant move was made with an eye toward modernizing service.

The changes, perhaps, have been more perceptible to those in Telephone Services than to the college's "customers" what with equipment changing from the old-fashioned telephone cords and switchboard to the computer of Dimension 2000.

While the modern equipment may be easier to operate and more efficient, the operators lament: "You don't have as much contact with the faculty and staff...it's less personalized."

Janice adds, however, that they continue to get many calls from "outsiders" who call the main college number, 456-8000, when they're unsure of just exactly who or what they're looking for.

Consequently, Janice, Jane and Bertha as well as the student operators have to be knowledgeable about people, places and events at the college so they can either answer questions directly or know to whom or where to refer them.

The busiest time of year for them is easily now upon the resumption of classes when countless calls come in carrying seemingly endless questions.

And all, assuredly, receive the courteous, patient and informative response which has become the hallmark of RIC Telephone Services.
the Board of Governors Conference Room in Roberts Hall.

At noon in the South Dining Room of the college Faculty Center, Beverly R. Ledbetter, general counsel at Brown University, will discuss "legal issues" involved in sexual harassment.

After her luncheon address, Ledbetter will be available for "individual discussions" from 2 to 3 p.m.

"Support and Counseling Issues" will be offered primarily for those in the support group and noon to 1 p.m. by Dr. Lori H. Hackett at the University of Rhode Island Counseling and Career Service.

A wrap up and refreshments will be offered from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Faculty Center conversation pit.

The program will be sponsored by the College Lectures Committee, Student Affairs, the Counseling Center, the Faculty of Arts and Science, and the area of women's rights on a congressional committee.

Counseling and Career Service.

College Lectures Committee, Student Affairs and Human Development and Social Work, and the department of administration.

Her assignment was the preparation of the two-volume set of hearings conducted by U.S. Rep. Edith Green entitled Discrimination Against Women.

The hearings, conducted by Green, comprised the "first comprehensive hearings" on discrimination against women in education and employment and laid the groundwork for Title IX and other laws which prohibit sex discrimination against students and employees.

As former head of the Action Committee for Federal Contract Compliance of the Women's Equity Action League (WEAL), Sandler filed formal charges of sex discrimination against more than 250 universities and colleges. She planned the strategy and spearheaded WEAL's national campaign to have the existing executive order enforced with regard to sex discrimination by colleges and universities that hold federal contracts.

Sandler has testified before numerous congressional committees, and was the first person to testify specifically concerning sex discrimination against women in education.

She has written more than 50 articles on sex discrimination.

She holds a degree in counseling from the University of Rhode Island Counseling and Career Service.

Sandler has served on many boards and advisory committees. She holds six honorary doctorates, including one bestowed by RIC in 1980, and that of a doctor of laws.

She received the Athena Award of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students, the Elizabeth Boyer Award by the Women's Equity Action League (WEAL), and was co-winner of a Rockefeller Public Service Award from Princeton University. In 1982 the Washingtonian magazine named her as one of Washington's 100 most powerful women.

Sandler holds a bachelor's degree in chemistry from Howard University and a law degree from the University of Colorado. Prior to assuming her duties at Brown, she was legal counsel at the University of Oklahoma.

She has served as an adjunct professor in law, and a special instructor in the legal aspects of nursing, among other posts.

BEVERLY LEDBETTER

counsel and institutional technology.

She holds a number of national appointments, including to: the Joint HEW/Labor Federal Advisory Committee on Equal Opportunity in Higher Education. Ledbetter serves on the boards of several institutions and is a member of the National Association of College and University Attorneys, the American, Federal and Rhode Island Bar associations.

Ledbetter is president emerita of the board of directors of the Women's Equity Action League; (WEAL), a group which she founded. She was the first woman to chair the Rhode Island Board of Trustees of State Colleges.

A Republican, Sapinsley was first elected to the Rhode Island Senate in 1972. In 1975 she was elected minority leader, the first woman to hold this post in Rhode Island.

She is president emerita of the board of trustees of Butler Hospital and serves on the boards of Miriam Hospital, the Metropolitan Health and Nursing Services of Rhode Island, Temple Beth El Fox Point Senior Citizens, Hamilton House, Hope Settlement House, and a number of other public and private agencies, among them the Jewish Federation Women's Division Board, and she chairs the Rhode Scholarship selection committee.

Sapinsley has also been the recipient of many awards and honors. She has honorary doctorates from RIC and the University of Rhode Island.

Sapinsley was awarded the Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1974 and in 1975 she was named Woman of the Year in Politics by the Governor's Commission on Women.

Sapinsley's husband, John, retired president of Carol Cable Company, is an associate professor of economics at RIC.

Ticket discount

The Alumni Office is offering a special discount for the Providence Civic Center's Magic Kingdom on ice performance on Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are normally $9 - with discount they are $6.50.

To get the special discount order form, go to the Post Office and fill out the card. I did...and look what happened to me...

If you're turning 18, register with Selective Service. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.
ROBERT BOBERG

REHEARSING FOR ‘THE MISS FIRECRACKER CONTEST,’ the Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Beth Henely, which will be staged at RIC Oct. 10-13 by the RIC Theatre Company are Emily Moses (above), a sophomore from the East Side, who plays a pageant contestant, while Al Ducharme, a junior from Cranston, who plays the contestant’s brother, looks on with something less than total approval. Zany and Chaplinesque in style, the play offers a beguiling array of Southern characters who dream of changing their lives. (What’s News Photo by Gordon E. Rowley)

What’s News at Rhode Island College is a news and picture tabloid for the faculty, staff and families of students at Rhode Island College. The paper is published weekly during the academic year except for the semester break and the spring break. A special issue is scheduled each year to coincide with the opening of the summer session.

What’s News offers a variety of regular columns and features as well as up to the minute reporting of news related to the RIC community. A large percentage of the contents is staff written by the editors and columnists. However, What’s News also utilizes syndicated news relating to higher education distributed by outside sources such as College Press Service, The American Association of State Colleges and Universities and the Council for Advancement and Support of Education.

Regular columns and features appearing in the pages of What’s News include:

Bureau of Grants and Sponsored Projects a column reporting on grant opportunities and proposal deadlines.

Focus on the Faculty and Staff a section of brief news items reporting the professional activities of members of the faculty and staff.

Of Note a section listing births, deaths, hospitalizations and illness of faculty and staff, and items of interest about others.

Do You Need a free classified advertisement section for items related to the needs of the college community.

All in the Family a monthly column prepared by the director of new student programs to provide readers insight to the issues involved in student life at Rhode Island College.

Keeping Score a column reporting on RIC athletic activities.

Other Places a collection of brief news items from college campuses around the nation chosen to suggest the range and flavor of college activities and concerns in contemporary America.

Other Voices an “op-ed” section which allows faculty, staff and other contributors an opportunity to voice their views.

Other Interests a periodic series of short feature stories revealing the hobbies, leisure activities and non-work related endeavors of faculty and staff members.

Letters a section in which letters to the editor on a wide range of topics are invited from the readership.

Music Reviews a regular critical analysis of music offerings in the college recital series.

Calendar a weekly listing of activities across the entire campus community.

Contributions to What’s News by faculty, staff and other members of the college community are welcome and expressly invited. All submissions will be judged on their individual merits by the editors and, if suitable, will be published.

What’s News accepts no paid advertising and no display advertising other than of a public service nature.
Barbara Loescher Green to show watercolors

Barbara Loescher Green, who maintains a studio at 11 Ferry Lane, Barrington, will have an exhibition of her watercolors at Gallery in October.

Green, 45, a native of Germany, now a United States citizen, has numerous one-person shows over the last decade. She has exhibited her works in New England and New York, winning many awards. Her watercolors have also been entered in national and regional juried exhibitions.

Among these have been Watercolor USA at the Springfield Art Museum, Springfield, Mo.; the National Watercolor Society, Los Angeles, Calif.; and the Rocky Mountain National Watermedia Exhibition at Fonthills Art Center in Golden, Colo. Other juried shows in which her work has been hung have taken place in New York, San Diego, New Canaan, Conn., and Birmingham, Ala.

Green has received many awards and honors for her watercolors. In 1977 and again in 1981 she took first prize in the Bristol (R.I.) Art Museum's annual exhibition. In 1975 and 1978 she won awards at the Springfield National Exhibition at the George Walter Vincent Art Museum in Springfield, Mass. In the 1978 show she was awarded two prices, the Smith and Wesson Award and the Mixed Media Award. In 1982 her entry in the Antebellum (Mass.) Museum Annual Open Juried Competition was named best in show. A 1981 entry in the Watercolor Society of Alabama's National Competition at the Birmingham Museum of Art was the Purchase Award. Betty Parson was juror for that show.

Hours for the Bannister Gallery are Monday through Friday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m.

Chamber Music Series:

Chihiro Kudo to give violin recital

Chihiro Kudo, violinist, who was recently appointed to the adjunct faculty of Rhode Island College, will lead off this season's chamber music series at the college with a program on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 2 p.m. in the Roberts Hall recital room 138.

Chapin, a member of the International String Quartet which is currently in residence at Brown University, will be accompanied by Judith Lynn Stillman, RIC's artist-in-residence, on piano.

They will perform Tommaso Vitali's Chaconne, Franz Schubert's Sonata for Violin and Piano in A Major, Op. 162 "Duos," and Maurice Ravel's "Tzigane."

Members of the RIC community and the public are invited free of charge.

Born in Nagano, Japan, Kudo began his study of the violin at age six under Kyoski Suri in Japan. A prize-winning student at the Toho Gakuen School of Music, he studied chamber music and conducting under Hideo Sato.

In 1970 he won first prize in the Cultural Radio Music Competition, and is the recipient of the Performer's Certificate, Artist Diploma and the Rosanna M. Endow Young Artist Award from Indiana University where he studied violin with Josef Gingold and Franco Guitti. In 1974 when the International String Quartet was formed, Kudo and his wife, Mache Oguri-Kudo, performed as first and second violinists.

Calendar of Events

Sept. 23 - Sept. 30

MONDAY, SEPT. 23

11 am First Enrichment Event: Dr. Brian Sutton-Smith of the university of Pennsylvania will speak on "Making a Game of It: Life and Leisure." Gaige Auditorium. Followed by a New Games Activity on the campus mall from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

6 pm Women's Volleyball. RIC vs. WPI and Merrimack College. Home.

MONDAY-THURSDAY, SEPT. 23-29

Noon Matts. Student Union, Room 304.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 24

1 pm Mayor Eugene Newsport of Berkeley, Calif. to discuss his visit to El Salvador. Clarke Science, Room 125. Sponsored by LASO. Free and open to all.

3:30 pm Men's Soccer. RIC vs. Eastern Connecticut State University.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 25

2 to 3 pm AHESEC's Weekly Meeting. Alger, Room 216A.

2 to 3 pm Al-Amun Meeting. Craig Lee, Room 127. Sponsored by the Office of Health Promotion.

2 to 3 pm Anchor Christian Fellowship. Weekly meeting. Student Union, Room 306.

3:30 pm Women's Tennis. RIC vs. Assumption College. Away.

5 pm Auditions for "The Second." Gaige Auditorium.

7 pm Women's Volleyball. RIC at Eastern Connecticut State University with Bryant College.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 26

9 am to 4 pm Blood Drive. Faculty Center. Sponsored by the Office of Health Promotion and the Women's Center.

1 pm Dr. Said Al-Ashour, Chief Justice of the High Court of Egypt, to lecture on Islamic government. Gaige Auditorium. Free and open to all.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 27

Noon Dr. Kersti Yllo to Speak on "Sexual Violence in Marriage." Faculty Center. Free and open to all.

FRIDAY-SUNDAY, SEPT. 27-29

Women's Tennis. RIC at URI for the Rhode Island Association of Intercolligate Athletics for Women Tournament.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 28

7 am to 11 pm New York City Bus Trip. Leaves from Roberts Hall. Sponsored by the Women's Center.

Noon Women's Cross Country. RIC Invitational with Bryant College, Connecticut College, UMass-Boston, Salem State, Bridgewater State, SMU, Albertus Magnus, Southern Conn. State University, St. Anselm's, Simmons College, Salve Regina, Wellesley, Stonehill. Roger Williams Park, Providence.

2 pm Men's Soccer. RIC vs. Roger Williams College. Away.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 29

10 am Sunfest. Matts. Student Union, Room 304.

7 pm Sunset Evening Man. Brown's Hall, upper lounge.

MONDAY, SEPT. 30

Noon Matts. Student Union, Room 304.