BROAD STREET SISTERS

Holla Back! is Broad Street Sisters' celebration and presentation of the work we've done in the past year. This year we have been researching sexual harassment that happens on the streets because it's an important issue that affects us. We feel this issue should be brought to the forefront of public consciousness because it's at the forefront of ours.

Come and see what we're about, learn and talk about sexual harassment, participate in a radio show that will help educate the public and share some food with us.
